ALLIES ASSERT PRIORITY RIGHT TO FUNDS FOR GERMAN LOAN

PAY WAR INDEMNITY FIRST, FRENCH STAND

Problem Said to Hinge on Security Reich May Give; Poincare Hopes Germany May Yield in Ruhr by the End of May.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The statement of Germany's attitude toward the reparations problem recently laid before Secretary Hughes by the German Embassy here is understood to have indicated approval of the American plan for an international fact-finding commission as a first step toward a solution of the present Franco-German disagreement.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 28.—The Reparations Commission has decided unanimously that Germany had no right to issue its recent foreign currency loan without permission, says Le Matin today. As to whether the commission should require the Reich to pay over all or part of the proceeds, the French and Italian members answered "Yes" and the others "No," the newspaper says.

All the allies except France held that the Reichsbank, being a private institution, was entitled to give security for the loan.

The text of the note, prepared by Sir John Bradbury of England and M. de la Croix of Belgium, calls attention to article 248 of the Versailles treaty, defining priority rights in reparations, and continues:

"The commission makes express reserve, as against subscribers to the loan, of its right of priority against any funds which may be assigned by the German Government to the payment of interest or the repayment of capital of the loan in question, more particularly if the receipt itself is not applied to the discharge of reparation annuities."

Probable Effect of Note.

It is apparent that there was considerable discussion before the text of the note was drafted, and the discussion made it first necessary to obtain the interpretation placed upon article 248 by the legal section of the commission. The French contended this article applied virtually to any assets of Germany unless her reparation obligations were first satisfied.

It is affirmed that the original intention of the French was to prevent the launching of a loan with a guarantee by the Reichsbank, but now that the loan is said to be 60 per cent subscribed, the original French position has been temporarily modified.

As to the effect the note will have, it is contended that the whole reparation problem has been put in the melting pot by the presence of France and Belgium in the Ruhr, and that when the eventual settlement comes, such sweeping changes may be made that the present note may be lost sight of in the general rearrangement.

Interpretation of Note.

While various interpretations may be put upon the note, the correct one, according to some of the best-informed circles, is that it holds in substance that there is no question of the German Government's right to offer the loan, but that there does exist a question as to the security it may give.

Hope for Peace by End of May.

Premier Poincare, appearing before the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, said he had great hope that Germany would yield in the Ruhr "by the end of May."

M. Poincare said the great German manufacturers, who were the soul of German resistance, had tried on several occasions to open direct conversations with the French Government, but the latter would only

ESCAPED FEDERAL PRISONERS CAPTURED NEAR ATHENS, GA.

Scaled Walls of Federal Penitentiary Near Atlanta; One Wounded by Captors.

By the Associated Press.

ATHENS, Ga., March 28.—Gerald Chapman and Frank Gray, escaped prisoners from the Atlanta Federal prison, were captured eight miles from here today. In an exchange of shots preceding the capture, Chapman was seriously wounded. The men escaped yesterday. Both are from New York, and were serving sentences for robbery.

Chapman was serving 25 years for participation in a $1,000,000 mail robbery in New York, and Gray five years for forgery.

They gained their liberty by sawing through the bars of a hospital ward, after overpowering a nurse, and by scaling the prison's outer walls. Prison authorities had offered rewards for their capture.

Some time after they had scaled two high walls of the prison they kidnaped W. H. Edwards from his home and forced him to go with them on a street car to the city after he refused to aid them in their escape plan.

SHIP PASSENGERS PERMITTED TO LAND WITH QUART EACH

Explanation of Order Issued at New York March 19, Called for by Aid to Treasury Secretary.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Assistant Secretary Moss of the Treasury Department today called on Collector Stuart of the Customs House at New York for a full explanation of the order issued March 19 by Thomas W. Whittle, surveyor of that port, permitting passengers on incoming steamships to land with one quart of liquor for medicinal purposes. Moss indicated that the order probably would be materially altered.

Moss said the Treasury Department's information indicated the order was intended to permit passengers who were ill to bring alcoholic stimulants ashore with them when necessary, but that on its face it appeared to be in direct violation of the Volstead act and of customs regulations prohibiting the inclusion of liquor as a part of a passenger's baggage.

SANITY INVESTIGATION BILL

Measure Would Allow Anyone to Ask for Personal Inquiry.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 28.—You can determine whether you are a complete lunatic, a near-genius, a plain "bug" or a hard-boiled man of sense under a bill just introduced by Assemblyman Levy of Manhattan, which enables anyone to ask a Court for an investigation into his sanity. Levy says no one making a will ought to wait to have this question cleared up after he is dead.

To avoid another set of complications that usually arise after one is dead, Senator Levy offered a companion bill permitting a person to test in court the validity of a will while he is alive, so he may have a chance to patch up any flaws found by the Court.

REDS SENTENCE 84 TO DEATH

Convicted of Aiding Anti-Bolshevik Commander.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, March 28.—The revolutionary tribunal at Kamenetz-Podolsk, in the Volhynia district, has sentenced to death a group of 84 persons, chiefly tradesmen and members of the intelligentsia, convicted of assisting the anti-bolshevik commander, Petlura, by armed attacks on the red forces.

PRINCIPAL BUTLER OF YEATMAN DIES IN AUTO MISHAP

MACHINE HITS CURB AT GRAND AND HEBERT

Sudden Illness, Rather Than Shock of Accident, Believed to Have Caused Educator's Death.

William M. Butler, 67 years old, principal of Yeatman High School, died at 10:20 a. m. today at Grand boulevard and Hebert street, immediately after his Ford coupe, which he was driving, had run up on the sidewalk and struck a building at the northwest corner.

Principal Butler is believed to have fainted or to have suffered a paralytic stroke while driving the machine on his way to the school, at Garrison and Natural Bridge avenues. The machine, without guidance, struck the building violently, but death is believed to have been caused by the attack of illness, rather than by the shock of the collision.

Resided in University City.

Butler lived at 201 Westgate avenue, University City. He was married, and had four grown daughters, who do not live here.

Several persons at the corner saw the machine approach, apparently without a driver, and a policeman jumped out of the way as it bounded upon the walk and struck the building, sidewise, then ran a few feet along the sidewalk and struck the wall again. The machine stopped after one of the wheels came off.

It was then seen that a man, apparently unconscious, was crouched in the machine. The policeman and others took him out, and he was carried into the office of Dr. J. W. Shaw, where he was pronounced dead. Dr. Shaw said that the injuries, which included a severe cut under the left ear, were probably not the chief cause of death. The body was taken to an undertaking establishment.

Teacher Here for 45 Years.

Butler had been a teacher in the St. Louis public schools for 45 years, receiving his first appointment in 1878 as an instructor in what was known as Polytechnic High School, then at the southwest corner of Seventh and Chestnut streets. He later became assistant principal of Blow School and then was promoted to be assistant principal of the Polytechnic High School.

In 1892 he was appointed principal of Peabody School, was transferred to Normal High School in 1897, and in 1906 became assistant principal at Yeatman High School. He was appointed principal of Yeatman in 1913.

He was particularly interested in applied sciences, manual training and other shops courses, and gave special attention to development of these courses.

Ardent Amateur Cyclist.

Butler was an ardent amateur cyclist. He was a member of the St. Louis Cycling Club, and until recent years rode his bicycle from his home to Yeatman High School almost daily. About six years ago he toured from St. Louis to Yellowstone Park on a bicycle, and also pedaled over a large part of a tour of Europe. He was interested in mountain climbing and spent a portion of his vacations in this sport.

His father, the late William D. Butler, served in the St. Louis schools for 52 years, 26 years of that time as principal of Blow School. He entered the St. Louis schools in 1854 and was the first teacher of Latin and Greek in St. Louis High School. He retired in 1906, the year that W. M. Butler became assistant principal of Yeatman High School.

ON THE JAIL'S WAITING LIST

Bill Skinner Sent Home Until Ponca City Has a Vacant Cell.

By the Associated Press.

PONCA CITY, Ok., March 28.—There was no room in the county jail for him, so Bill Skinner, who was given a jail sentence after pleading guilty in the County Court to a charge of violating the prohibition law, was sent home today to wait until a prisoner's term expires. He will begin serving his sentence then.

NEW ATTEMPT BEING MADE TO PATCH UP TRUCE IN WAR OF EGAN AND HOGAN GANGS

Father Timothy Dempsey Announces Plan for Conference With Leaders of Opposing Factions.

POLICE APPARENTLY TRYING DIPLOMACY

Department Heads Talk With "Jelly Roll" Hogan — Hoagland and Justice Miles Also Confer.

Another effort is being made to patch up a truce in the Hogan-Egan intergang war, in which six men have been slain and at least 10 others have been marked for death, and which recently has become a public menace through the gangsters waging their pistol fights in the streets.

The Rev. Father Timothy Dempsey of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Sixth and Biddle streets, who on two former occasions exacted pledges from the enemy gunmen to cease hostilities, announced today that he would have another talk with them during the afternoon, to see if he could not induce them to disarm and put a final end to the feud.

Following a 2½ hour conference at Police Headquarters yesterday between President Brockman of the Police Board, Chief of Detectives Hoagland and Edward J. (Jelly Roll) Hogan, Deputy State Beverage Inspector and former member of the State Legislature, leader of the Hogan gang, President Brockman, when asked by newspaper reporters for details of the conference, replied: "I'm trying to end the gang war." He declined to discuss the matter further.

Hogan Found in Court.

Hogan had been escorted to Chief Hoagland's office by a detective who found him in the Court of Criminal Correction, where he had arranged bond for the six members of his gang against whom informations charging concealed weapons had been issued at the Circuit Attorney's office Monday.

"Hogan said he did not believe that any of his men figured in the Lindell boulevard shooting," said Chief Hoagland, after the conference, referring to the pistol fight between occupants of two automobiles along Lindell and Locust boulevards, between Grand boulevard and Jefferson avenue, at 3 a. m. yesterday.

"He also said he could not identify the two men in the coupe that ran down Leonard Bickel Jr., 13 years old, of 4144 Grove avenue, at Grand boulevard and St. Louis avenue last Saturday night, following an exchange of shots between himself and the men in the coupe."

As has been told, Hogan, after telling the police that the occupants of the coupe were Elmer Runge and Isadore Londe of the "Egan's Rats" gang, refused to face them after their arrest, telling detectives: "I'll identify them—with a shotgun."

Absent From Usual Haunts.

Although there is a standing order in the Police Deaprtment to arrest the gangsters on sight, which Chief of Police O'Brien has informed the Captains of the various districts must be rigidly enforced, no gangsters were arrested last night. The police reported that they made frequent trips to the usual haunts of the gunmen but that the latter were conspicuously absent.

William Longo of 823 Carr street and Charles Mercurio of 1104 North Tenth street, were arrested by members of the homicide squad this afternoon on Cass avenue, west of Garrison avenue, when Longo was seen to toss an automatic revolver over a fence on noting the squad's approach.

Having failed to drive the gangsters into the penitentiary or away from the city, the police evidently have resorted to diplomacy in their effort to stop the gang war. Justice of the Peace "Jimmie" Miles, who is known to exert considerable influence over members of both gangs, was in conference with Chief of Detectives Hoagland for more than two hours yesterday afternoon. Later Justice Miles declined to disclose the nature of his mission.

Chief Hoagland likewise was reticent concerning the incident. "We were just talking things over," he

DAUGHERTY STATEMENT WAS NOT IN GOOD FORM, THE PRESIDENT BELIEVES

By the Associated Press.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28. PRESIDENT HARDING, it has become known, did not consider necessary the recent statement by Attorney-General Daugherty predicting the chief executive would be a candidate for renomination or that the statement was opportune or in good form.

It is presumed the President will discuss the subject with the Attorney-General, who arrived here early today from Miami, where he has been recuperating from a recent illness. The President and Daugherty have not met since the latter issued his statement and there naturally is the keenest curiosity whether there will be further developments before the President returns to Washington.

The Attorney-General went to the Hotel Ponce de Leon, where the presidential party is staying. He spent the morning resting from the all-night train ride. The President went out to the St. Augustine links about 9 o'clock for a round of golf.

YALE KEY WITH TAG AND WIRE REMOVED FROM MAN'S THROAT

No Anesthetic Used by Surgeon—X-Ray Employed to Find Place of Lodgment.

A Yale key, 75 which was attached a metal tag and a piece of wire about six inches long, was removed from the throat of Frank Croeger, 47 years old, of Erie House, a laborer, at the city hospital yesterday afternoon without the use of an anesthetic.

The key was located by use of the X-ray, and with this picture to guide the skilled hand of the surgeon, the key and its fastenings were pushed down from their place of lodgment and then withdrawn without injury to the throat.

Croeger said he had been drinking and probably had swallowed the key, tag and wire when his supply of liquor was exhausted. This is only a presumption, he explained, as he was in a stupor when the key was mistaken for whisky.

FOR GUARDING WOMAN'S SECRET

Bill in Illinois Would Protect Voters From Inquisitive Poll Officials.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 28.—Woman's most jealously guarded secret should be kept secret and not exposed to the world, in the view of members of the House Election Committee of the State Legislature, and so they reported favorably a bill providing that a voter shall not be required to tell his or her age.

Representative Berry, Democrat, Chicago, is author of the bill, which prohibits judges of registration from requiring the applicant to give his exact age or period of residence in the nation, state, county or precinct if it appears from his answers that he is a qualified voter.

RAILWAY EXCHANGE RENTS TO RISE AS LEASE IS CANCELED

Tenants, With Agreements Running 15 to 40 Years More, Expect to Be Hit by Holding Concern's Action.

150 APPLICANTS ON WAITING LIST

Rentals in Other Buildings in Neighborhood Much Higher—Present Income Inadequate.

Tenants of the Railway Exchange Building who, as rents in office buildings about them have doubled and more in recent years, have chortled in their possession of long-term leases made in time of low rents, have ashes on their lips today.

Apparently the action yesterday of the Annuity Realty Co., which controls the lease upon which the 21-story building stands, in cancelling the lease of the Railway Exchange Building Co., which has operated the building, automatically cancels the leases of all tenants.

Three-fourths of the space in the building has been occupied under leases which had 15 to 40 years yet to run. The lease price averaged about $1 per square foot annually, while rentals in other downtown buildings not more desirable have been made in the years since the war at $2.75 to $3 a foot.

Receiver Blames Low Rents.

Recently the Railway Exchange Building Co. went broke. A receiver was appointed and he explained that the operating company's difficulties were born in these leases, the aggregate return in rentals falling by many thousands of dollars to keep pace with mounting operating expenses.

A clause in the building company lease from the Annuity Realty Co., provides that in case the operating company becomes bankrupt, its lease is automatically cancelled. In turn, it is reasoned, the leases granted by the operating company also are terminated.

When the Railway Exchange building was being promoted, it was thought necessary, if it was to be financially profitable, to gain tenants for large areas for long periods of time. Accordingly, the price was made low to attract what at that time seemed desirable leases. Famous & Barr took seven of the 21 floors at an annual rental of $365,000. The Missouri Pacific, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, and the Wabash railways were other tenants obtained. Three-fourths of the building has been occupied under long-term leases.

Renewed Leases Likely.

Little apprehension is felt that the tenants will renew leases at this time at much larger figures—any figure. Not only are rentals in other buildings in the neighborhood much higher, but the building has come to be one of the most desirable in the downtown. There are at present about 150 applicants for space on the waiting list. This situation is regarded by those in control as justifying whatever rents seem necessary to put the building on a paying basis.

When the promotion was begun, the Annuity Realty Co. was organized to obtain the leases on nine separate parcels of grounds comprising the site, which is the block bounded by Sixth, Seventh, Olive and Locust streets. This it did at an annual rental of $248,000, plus taxes. In turn it subleased the site to the Railway Exchange Building Co. at an annual rental of $430,000. This sum was reckoned in this fashion—$248,000 to cover the rental to owners, $150,000 to pay interest on $3,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness issued by the Annuity Realty Co., leaving a balance of $32,000 yearly as the return to the Annuity Realty Co., applicable, if it seemed desirable, to retiring the $3,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness. None of this sum has been applied to the certificates, however.

$1,000,000 Accrued Interest.

The Railway Exchange Building Co. has $2,500,000 of bonds outstanding upon which interest in excess of $1,000,000 is accrued. There also is common stock in the sum of $2,500,000 held by the Hargadine-McKittrick receivership. This stock long has been regarded as worthless.

The Railway Exchange Building

SALOON-MAN TELLS OF TRAPPING DRY AGENTS IN BRIBERY PLOT

BRENTWOOD WAR ON AUTO OWNERS TAKES NEW TURN

County Prosecutor Announces He Will Charge Five Trustees With Exacting Illegal Fees.

There was high jinks in the Brentwood Police Court, held in the Rock Hill School on North and South road, north of Manchester road, last night. The city fathers and nearly 100 citizens were on hand to see justice done to 25 motorists arrested in that suburb Sunday afternoon for failure to have State license plates for 1923 on their cars.

The mill of justice was just beginning to grind when Prosecuting Attorney Jones of St. Louis County made his presence known and advised the defendants not to heed the court, on the declaration that they were charged under an invalid town ordinance. The tables were turned: Jones was sworn as a witness and interrogated by a citizen as to what he was doing there, and to top it off the gathering was broken up by the appearance of two Deputy Sheriffs armed with riot guns and revolvers.

Prosecuting Attorney Jones announced today he intended to file informations in the Circuit Court charging the five members of the Town Board of Trustees with exacting illegal fees, a misdemeanor.

Police Court was called after a meeting of the trustees. The Judge is George W. Meyers, president of the trustees. Mayor, and a printer on former "Boss" Essen's weekly paper. Ten out of 25 persons arrested on the license charge Sunday were there. The first man called showed a cancelled check antedating his arrest, to prove he had ordered a license. The Judge told him he could be fined $100 anyway, but agreed to be lenient and let him off on payment of costs, $7.60, which is distributed as fees to officials and otherwise.

Jones Called to Stand.

That was the cue for Prosecuting Attorney Jones. He asked if he might say a few words, and, amid "boos" from the audience, he advised the defendants to refuse to pay costs or fines. "If they send you to jail," he said, "I'll have you out by midnight." There was a hullabaloo, and then the citizens called for Jones to take the stand. He was sworn by the Judge and questioned by Alfred W. Henry, representing the citizens, who was president of the former Rent Relief League of St. Louis.

The Prosecutor said he was there to represent the State, but also to see that the rights of the people were protected. It was intimated to him that he was meddling, and he replied that the ordinance was invalid, as it was designed to assume State jurisdiction. The examination was dropped eventually and the licenses cases called. Five of the defendants paid costs of $7.60 each and the other five cases were continued for various reasons.

Proceedings were about wound up when the Deputy Sheriffs came. Jones had informed the Sheriff's office he might need protection, so two deputies who were in Brentwood on other business were sent in. City Marshal George Moeller, who is a Deputy Constable, induced them to remove their hats and unload their riot guns, which, they explained later, they had been afraid to leave in their machine for fear of thieves. There was more excitement than ever. Jones, who said he had gone there of his own record, retired, followed by the deputies.

Meyers today expressed conviction that the ordinance was valid and related that there had been convictions under it during the several years it has been on the books.

Max Kannapell of 4703 Nebraska Avenue Says He Paid $250 to Special Policeman for Division Among Three Federal Enforcement Officers.

PLACE AND HOME ABOVE SEARCHED

Money Delivered in Marked Bills After Check Was Refused Taken From Policeman and an Investigation Is Under Way.

The Intelligence Unit of the Internal Revenue Department has begun an investigation of reports that three Federal prohibition enforcement agents and a special officer of the Police Department exacted $250 from Max Kannapell, a saloonkeeper at 4703 Nebraska avenue, under a threat to ruin his business unless he paid this tribute.

No one in the Government service or Police Department would discuss the situation, but certain Government officials admitted the investigation was under way.

The story under investigation was related today by Kannapell at his place of business to a Post-Dispatch reporter. He said he notified the United States District Attorney's office that a demand for money had been made upon him, and that, acting on instructions of Government officials to set a trap for the officers, paid $250 to the special police officer for division among the Federal enforcement officers.

Caught Accepting the Money.

It is known that the special officer named by Kannapell was caught in the act of accepting the money and that the money, marked so that it could be identified as coming from Kannapell, is in the hands of officers making the investigation.

"About 3 p. m. Monday I was in my home, upstairs over my saloon, dressing to go uptown," Kannapell related, "when four men, one of them a special officer in the Police Department and the other three Federal prohibition enforcement agents, entered the saloon, of which my wife was in charge. She called me downstairs and they served a search warrant on me. My wife then went upstairs, locking the door behind her.

"I observed that the warrant read to search No. 4701 Nebraska avenue, and I called the attention of the officers to the fact that my number is 4703. They waved me aside, remarking that they knew what they were doing.

Searched in Aimless Way.

"They went about the search in an aimless, reluctant manner, searching behind the bar and in the icebox. Then they went to the basement, and I followed. They found no liquor, and on the way up from the basement one of the Federal men, with whom I am acquainted, remarked that I ought to tell where the booze was concealed, pointing out that they could find it anyhow. I told them there was no liquor on the premises.

"Then they asked me to unlock the door leading to my home upstairs, which I refused to do. The police officer then fetched a crowbar from an automobile and went to work on the door. Although the door would not resist the efforts of any serious attempt to open it, they worked about 15 minutes with the bar, scratching the door considerably, but failing to open it.

"One of them appeared very much hurt at my obstinacy and inquired if I was going to stand there all day and watch them work at the door. I told them they had a warrant and to go as far as they liked.

Opened Door With Key.

"It became evident that they did not want to damage the door any further and the police officer said

DRAPER DAUGHERTY QUESTIONED ABOUT THE KEENAN CASE

Attorney-General's Son Tells of Attempt to Blackmail Him by Man Friend of Model.

SAYS THREAT WAS MADE OVER PHONE

Admits He Once Gave Check to Young Woman When She Told of Being Short of Funds.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Draper M. Daugherty, son of the Attorney-General of the United States, appeared at District Attorney Pecora's office today and was questioned at length concerning any information he might have about blackmail plots in which Dorothy Keenan, slain model, figured as decoy.

Daugherty was closeted with Pecora for about 45 minutes. He was accompanied by a friend whose name was not made public.

At the conclusion of the hearing, Pecora announced that Daugherty had corroborated newspaper reports of an attempt to blackmail him, made by a man close to Dorothy Keenan.

Admits He Gave Her Check.

Daugherty told Pecora he met Dorothy Keenan during the world's series of 1921 and that his acquaintance with her had been purely of a social nature. He admitted that he once gave her a check to pay bills, when she told him she was short of funds.

Daugherty recited in detail the story of the attempt to blackmail him. The man telephoned him the night of March 22, he said, and demanded that he obtain a position for him in Washington. He threatened to make public Daugherty's acquaintance with Dorothy Keenan unless Daugherty complied.

Pecora believed the information might link up with that he has of the projected $100,000 blackmail attempt on John Kearsley Mitchell, son-in-law of E. T. Stotesbury, who was the "Mr. Marshall" of the case.

"Of Great Importance."

"I do not say Maj. Daugherty's information will lead to the discovery of the murderer of Dorothy Keenan, but I do say it is of great importance," said Pecora, "and I want to compliment Maj. Daugherty in coming forward with greater frankness than most witnesses."

Pecora declined to discuss a report current at Criminal Court that Stotesbury was preparing to offer a substantial reward for the apprehension of the model's slayer.

Stotesbury May Come to New York.

Stotesbury, according to information said to have been received from Philadelphia, was preparing to come to New York to discuss the case with Pecora. He had been in constant wire communication with the District Attorney's office, it was said, since Mitchell's identity as "Marshall" had been made public.

He reiterated his belief that Miss Keenan had been slain by a person or persons involved in the plot to blackmail Mitchell. The robbery motive, he said, had not been entirely discarded.

The police, it was said, had turned their efforts to trace a negro who worked a short time at the apartment house and had left the day after the murder. Two detectives were sent to New Brunswick, N. J., in the search.

Whereabouts of Mitchell and Stotesbury Kept Mystery.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—Newspaper reporters, who had camped outside the city residence of E. T. Stotesbury nearly all night in the hope of obtaining a statement from him or his son-in-law, John Kearsley Mitchell, had all their trouble for nothing.

When they were relieved by other reporters early today they had not even learned whether the two men had spent the night there or at Stotesbury's country home at Whitemarsh. Servants at the town house said early in the night that the Stotesbury family, including Mitchell, were there, but later denied that they had left Whitemarsh.

Unusual precautions were taken to protect the Stotesburys from interviewers upon their arrival here from Palm Beach, and these were in no wise relaxed throughout the night.

Attorney-General Silent on Son's Connection With Keenan Case.

By the Associated Press.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—The announcement was made on behalf of Attorney-General Daugherty on his arrival here today to join President Harding's vacation party that he would have no statement of any kind to make in connection with the injection of the name of his son, Maj. Draper M. Daugherty, into the Keenan murder mystery.

listen to official propositions from the German Government. He added that the French and Belgian Governments fully agreed upon retaining guarantees until their credit was fully paid and that evacuation would be proportional to payment. The abandonment of Essen, for example, could be considered only when the entire settlement of reparations had been effected.

German Attitude Stated by Minister; Cuno Confined to Bed.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 28. — Foreign Minister von Rosenburg, addressing the Foreign Relations Committee of the Reichstag at a confidential sitting yesterday, said there would be no capitulations nor any relenting in the passive resistance of Germany along the Ruhr front and that unconditional evacuation of the occupied territory must constitute the basis for any discussion or negotiations looking to a solution of the present impasse. Speaking for Chancellor Cuno, who is still confined to his bed by an attack of pleurisy, Baron von Rosenburg said the Government's attitude and its program had not been changed in the face of the stubborn deadlock over the Ruhr and Rhineland situations.

Baron von Rosenburg told the committee that the Government's position on the reparations question was that an international commission of business men should determine at the earliest possible moment the extent to which Germany already had fulfilled her obligations, her ability to meet them in the future, and the manner in which they could be met.

The Socialists of England, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany will concentrate all their powers toward ending the "Ruhr adventure" as soon as possible and the settlement of the reparations question. This was decided upon at the conclusion of a three-day conference held here, attended by delegates of the Socialist party from various countries.

The reparations settlement aimed at, according to a joint statement issued by the Socialists, would be such as should lead to the restoration of the war devastated areas; serve to safeguard European peace and take into consideration Germany's ability to assume obligations.

Co. did not oppose a petition for appointment of a receiver last February and this acquiescence seemed to forecast an effort to rid the building of its long-term, low-rental leases. An inquiry whether there was a community of interest between the Annuity Realty Co. and the Railway Exchange Building Co. brought a response from former United States Senator Xenophon P. Wilfley, attorney for the Annuity Co., that there was no community interest. However, Claude B. Ricketts, former manager of the building, and since receiver operating it, said that the Annuity Realty Co. not only controlled the site, but controlled the building. In the Sheriff's notice for forfeiture of lease, George M. Pyle, an attorney for the St. Louis Union Trust Co., was named as president of the Annuity Co. Isaac H. Orr, president of the St. Louis Union Trust Co., formerly was president of the Annuity Co.

60-Day Stay for Man Who Was to Be Hanged Today

Execution of James Seward Halted by Supreme Court When Validity of Capital Punishment Law Is Attacked.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 28.—Hanging of James Seward of St. Louis at Hillsboro, Mo., today for the murder of Andrew Deck, volunteer prohibition informer, at Herculaneum, Mo., in 1921, was prevented by a 60-day stay of execution granted by the Supreme Court of Missouri last evening under a question as to the validity of the capital punishment law. It is possible that this attack may result in knocking out the law.

Word of this reprieve reached Seward, who had had two previous reprieves, and the Hillsboro authorities, less than 12 hours before he would have been hanged at daybreak today. It was obtained through the sympathy of State Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, who saw Mrs. Seward and her three children here seeking to stop the execution of the husband and father, in a Capitol corridor.

Interests Senator in Case.

They were with John S. Seibert of St. Louis, a representative of the Spanish-American War Veterans, of which Seward was a member, and which had endeavored to get a commutation of sentence from the Governor. The Governor, however, concluded there was nothing to justify him in preventing the execution. Seibert told McCawley about the case and the Senator, who has been a close observer of legislative activities for years, being experienced in technicalities of drafting bills, got busy looking up the record of the capital punishment law.

The old law had been repealed in 1917 and the present one enacted in a special session in 1919. Between 2 and 3:30 p. m., McCawley said, he learned the following facts:

The bill was submitted to the Governor for his approval four days after its introduction, although the Constitution provides that a bill must be read on three separate legislative days in each house; it was not engrossed and printed, as required by the Constitution; amendments by the House to the bill, which originated in the Senate, were not printed when it was returned to the Senate, as required by the Constitution, and records do not show that it was reported on by a committee and printed for legislators' use, as required by the Constitution.

Petition Prepared Hastily.

McCawley notified the Supreme Court that he would present a petition and then prepared it hastily. It was presented to the court en banc at 3 p. m. and half an hour later the stay of execution was granted, the court clerk telephoning Sheriff R. H. Brad yof Jefferson County to drop his plans for the hanging.

McCawley expects to file a more detailed brief soon and the Court will set a date for hearing the question. If the petition is sustained it will mean that the death penalty cannot be imposed in Missouri under the existing law and will affect several cases now pending on appeals to the Supreme Court.

Emil P. Rosenberger, a Montgomery City (Mo.) lawyer, recently took depositions here in an effort to show the capital punishment law was unconstitutional because of the failure to bring House amendments. He was acting in behalf of a client who is to be tried at St. Charles on a statutory charge. St. Louis attorneys representing two men convicted of killing two policemen in a robbery are interested also in this question.

Other Efforts Had Failed.

Gov. Hyde was away from the capital, but not out of the State, yesterday. Seibert spent the afternoon in a vain effort to reach the Governor by long-distance telephone in a last hope of obtaining executive clemency for Seward. Mrs. Seward returned to St. Louis with the children last evening without learning here of her husband's reprieve.

Counsel for Seward in St. Louis yesterday asked Federal Judge Faris to take some action to prevent the execution, but were told he was without jurisdiction.

Seward, who is 41 years old, formerly lived at 1621 South Third street, St. Louis. He was a laborer, a trainer of second-rate prizefighters and a carnival hypnotist at times. He made a confession, which he later repudiated, admitting he had been paid $20 to "beat up" Deck. Eugene Hayes of Herculaneum was convicted of hiring Seward for this job and sentenced to be hanged, but has appealed. Others charged with participation in the crime were: Hayes' father, Ernest, who has appealed a death sentence; his brother, William, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, but is to have a new trial, and Otto and Jesse Thomas, brothers, who were acquitted.

German Attitude Stated by Minister; Cuno Confined to Bed.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 28. — Foreign Minister von Rosenburg, addressing the Foreign Relations Committee of the Reichstag at a confidential sitting yesterday, said there would be no capitulations nor any relenting in the passive resistance of Germany along the Ruhr front and that unconditional evacuation of the occupied territory must constitute the basis for any discussion or negotiations looking to a solution of the present impasse. Speaking for Chancellor Cuno, who is still confined to his bed by an attack of pleurisy, Baron von Rosenburg said the Government's attitude and its program had not been changed in the face of the stubborn deadlock over the Ruhr and Rhineland situations.

Baron von Rosenburg told the committee that the Government's position on the reparations question was that an international commission of business men should determine at the earliest possible moment the extent to which Germany already had fulfilled her obligations, her ability to meet them in the future, and the manner in which they could be met.

The Socialists of England, France, Italy, Belgium and Germany will concentrate all their powers toward ending the "Ruhr adventure" as soon as possible and the settlement of the reparations question. This was decided upon at the conclusion of a three-day conference held here, attended by delegates of the Socialist party from various countries.

The reparations settlement aimed at, according to a joint statement issued by the Socialists, would be such as should lead to the restoration of the war devastated areas; serve to safeguard European peace and take into consideration Germany's ability to assume obligations.

MRS. WYLIE DIVORCES MAN WITH WHOM SHE ELOPED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Another episode in the noted Wylie-Hichborn domestic tangle was disclosed today when it became known that Mrs. Elinor Hoyt Hichborn Wylie has obtained a divorce from her second husband, Horace Wylie.

The divorce was granted at Providence, R. I., on the ground of non-support and ended a chapter begun 12 years ago when Mrs. Wylie, prominent in Washington society circles, departed for Europe with Wylie soon after her marriage to Philip S. Hichborn, son of Admiral Hichborn. Wylie left behind a wife and four children.

A sensation created in American and European society was heightened two years later when Hichborn killed himself after instituting divorce proceedings. Mrs. Wylie obtained a separation in 1916 and Wylie and Mrs. Hichborn were married.

In the divorce petition of the first Mrs. Wylie, she declared that when her husband disappeared from Washington in 1910, he left a note that he had eloped with Mrs. Hichborn. He returned twice to attempt a reconciliation, she said, on the last occasion declaring the separation was final. Wylie until recently has been connected with the shipping board here, but now lives in New Jersey.

POPE ASKS SOVIET GOVERNMENT TO FREE ARCHBISHOP

By the Associated Press.

ROME, March 28.—Pope Pius has asked the Soviet government of Russia to liberate Archbishop Zepliak and the other ecclesiastics convicted in Moscow on the ground that they are members of the Catholic hierarchy and the Pope's subjects.

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, March 28.—The Polish Government has been informed through the soviet minister in Warsaw that the death sentence against Archbishop Zepliak, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Russia, will not be carried out by the Russian government, "at least for the present," and that the affair will be taken up in diplomatic negotiations, Premier Sikorski made this announcement to the Polish Senate this morning.

(Copyright, 1923.)

MOSCOW, March 28.—While much sympathy is expressed for the Roman Catholics convicted of conspiring against the soviet government, two being sentenced to death, many persons are openly rejoicing because these "enemies of Russia," who are all Poles, except one, are about to suffer.

One woman sat in the courtroom waiting patiently for the sentence which she hoped would be as severe as it was. She said she had been imprisoned by the Poles in Vilna and had been kept nine days without water. She had been given a little salt herring to increase her thirst until she was nearly mad. "Look at my white hairs," she said. Thus are racial hatreds bred.

Young Priest's Statement.

One of the most picturesque figures at the trial was Khvezko, a straight-eyed, simple-looking young priest, who did not deny that he had taught religion to children.

"Did you not know it was forbidden?" asked Prosecutor Krylenko.

"Yes, but I did it because the principles of my church required me to. I have done it and I shall do it again. I am from a simple peasant family and I am very strong in my faith."

When the verdict was brought in, sentencing him to 10 years' imprisonment, Khvezko wept openly like a child.

"Religions," said Krylenko, "is the strong chain by which the church binds youth to it. That is why, in the interest of thought, conscience and logic we forbid religious teaching to persons under 18."

Another priest to receive the maximum 10 years was Feodorov Exar, described by Krylenko as a fanatic of exceptional ability and of strong convictions. His story as he told it moved all the audience. Sent into exile by the Czarist regime, he returned to Russia during the war to fight for his fatherland. He was sent immediately to Siberia. Kerensky's revolution released him and he worked for the co-ordination of the church and for a plan to separate church and state.

All the defendants denied that they had any revolutionary aims. Archbishop Zepliak, who with his chief assistant Buktavich was sentenced to death, said:

"I speak as a man on the eve of his death. This alone must force you to believe what I say. We have never been members of any counter revolutionary organization and we never attacked the soviet power. We acted not against but for the Russian Government and we stand as representatives of a supreme truth that has been followed by the greatest virtues for 3000 years and has always led toward the heights of goodness and justice."

SALE OF INDIANA CONCERN TO MISSOURI STATE LIFE FAVORED

Absorption Plan Approved by a Board of State Insurance Superintendents.

A plan for the purchase and absorption of the Indiana National Life Insurance Co. of Indianapolis, by the Missouri State Life Insurance Co. here, was approved by a board of State insurance superintendents meeting here today with officials of both companies involved.

Under the contract approved, the Missouri company is to pay $243,912.59, and will take over policies in the Indiana National totaling approximately $15,000,000. It is now to be referred to a receiver, who will take it up with the Marion County (Ind.) Superior Court for final action. The Missouri company does not assume the assets and liabilities of the Indiana National, which will go out of business.

KING'S THEATER SUIT DROPPED, GOLDMAN TAKES POSSESSION

Remodeling Is Under Way and King's Highway Movie House Will Be Reopened May 1.

William Goldman, former manager of the Missouri Theater, announced today he had dropped his suit against the Famous Players Lasky Co. to compel delivery of the King's Theater to him, the Famous Players having made delivery.

Goldman has begun to remodel the Kings, which is on King's highway, north of Delmar boulevard, and will reopen it as a 20 and 30 cent motion picture house on May 1. He also is completing plans for a theater and office building at Grand boulevard and Morgan street.

Contract for purchase of the Kings was made by Goldman last February. He alleged in his suit that the Famous Players Lasky Co. subsequently received a larger offer from a combination of motion picture theater owners in St. Louis and sought to be relieved of the contract with him.

PRIEST SOUGHT ON LIQUOR CHARGES SENDS MESSAGE

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Col., March 28.—The Rev. Father Walter Grace telegraphed the United States District Attorney here today that he was in Harrisburg, Pa., and asked for time to complete personal business before returning to Denver to answer Federal charges of forging liquor permits.

Granby Hillyer, United States District Attorney, turned the telegram over to the Department of Justice and a message was dispatched to Harrisburg authorities asking that Father Grace be taken into custody. The telegram from the priest gave no address in Harrisburg.

HONORS EVEN IN BATTLE OF WITS OVER BARGE FLEET

Col. Ashburn, in Flight Down River, and Deputy in Pursuit With Injunction Play Game of "Tag."

The battle of wits between Col. T. Q. Ashburn, director of inland and coastwise waterways of the War Department, in flight down the Mississippi River with the Goltra fleet, and Deputy United States Marshals in pursuit seeking to serve him with an injunction forbidding the seizure, seems "horse and horse" today.

Special Deputy United States Marshal Oscar A. Knehans of Cape Girardeau caught Col. Ashburn off guard yesterday and obtained what he considers legal service. On Monday the Colonel balked another deputy by tying the fleet to the Illinois bank and refusing service on the ground that he was beyond jurisdiction of the United States District Court for Eastern Missouri. It now lies with Judge Faris to decide next Tuesday who laughs best.

Knehans' Story of the Chase.

Knehans related to the Post-Dispatch today over telephone the incidents of his meeting with Col. Ashburn. "With four men accompanying me in a motorboat as witnesses," he said, "I met the fleet 14 miles north of Cape Girardeau. It was in two sections. I boarded the first and found that Col. Ashburn apparently was on the second. I passed the second section and then turned so as to board with the current. As soon as we turned, the Vicksburg, which was the power of the section, went full steam ahead and gave us a merry chase. It took everything the motor boat had to catch up. I pulled myself onto the deck of one of the barges and made my way to the pilot house.

"Col. Ashburn demanded to know who I was and what I wanted. I told him.

"'Have you got any jurisdiction in Illinois?' he asked. I replied that I had not.

"'Well, I'm in Illinois,' he said Sure enough. While I was making my way to the pilot house, the Vicksburg had been steered to the Illinois side and had come to a stop.

"'I tell you what to do,' Col. Ashburn said. 'You take those papers and put them in my stateroom and I'll be sure to find them.' 'You think I am a damned fool,' I said to myself, but appeared to acquiesce and left the pilot house. I had made up my mind to stay with it. I knew the channel and knew that it would bring him to the Missouri bank before very long.

Caught Him Napping.

"After a bit, the Vicksburg got under way again. Maybe Col. Ashburn thought I had left, but I hadn't. I was hiding below. I waited half an hour until the channel brought the boat to within 100 feet of the Missouri shore and then I showed up at the pilot house again.

"The pilot told me I couldn't come in—that it was against the law. So I stuck my head in the door and said:

"'Col. Ashburn, won't you please take these papers. This is service now; you're on the Missouri side.'

"He didn't even grunt. He wouldn't recognize me or talk. I repeated my request three times with no answer, so I tossed the papers on the floor of the pilot house and left. I called the attention of my four witnesses to the position of the boat—three times nearer to the Missouri shore than to the Illinois. That, in my opinion, was service."

Knehans is a graduate lawyer, was Referee in Bankruptcy in Cape Girardeau for three terms and has been acting as a special marshal for about three months in an emergency.

During the trip down the river the Goltra boat, the Illinois, has been steamed up and is carrying the larger part of the tow while the Vicksburg steamed ahead to pick up the remaining eight barges of the fleet tied up at Fayville, Ill., south of Cape Girardeau. Col. Ashburn now is in possession of the entire Goltra fleet of four towboats and 19 barges.

Secretary of War Weeks in Washington today corrected a misinterpretation of a statement he gave out yesterday. He was quoted as saying that the ultimate intention of the Government was to establish a barge line upon the Ohio and connect it up with the Mississippi operation. He said today that in discussing the Ohio he was referring to the necessity of completing the channel work there so as to provide an outlet for a large volume of traffic originating on the Monongahela. He said that this would be profitable business but he did not contemplate putting the Government into it.

WAVE OF OPPOSITION TO JAPAN THROUGHOUT CHINA

Feeling Due to Refusal of Japan to Release the Ports of Dalny and Port Arthur.

By the Associated Press.

FINDS MISSING HUSBAND WITH ANOTHER WOMAN

Wife to Take Him Back to California and He Declares He Is Delighted to Go.

Mrs. Lola Anderson, 28 years old, found her husband last night at the end of a journey from Lompoc, Cal., in a rooming house at 4257 Washington boulevard with another woman known there as his wife.

Today she announced herself as gratified at finding him, and forgiving of his transgression. The husband, Lonna Anderson, 31, an accountant, said he was delighted to see his wife and his two children, 7 and 3, whom she brought along, and that he would gladly accompany his family back to California.

The other woman, Mrs. Addie Sikes, 19, said she had a job and would go to work. She, too, was glad it was all over.

Anderson disappeared from his home last October in his automobile. The automobile later was found in Los Angeles. After several months, a letter came from Anderson at Ironton, Mo. Later, another came from St. Louis. Mrs. Anderson arrived in St. Louis yesterday. She went to an Olive street address from which her husband had written. She was told her husband only got his mail there. That is, "Mrs. Anderson" usually got it. That was her first inkling that there was another woman. The telephone bell rang. It was "Mrs. Anderson" inquiring for mail.

The real Mrs. Anderson replied to the call: "The other woman hung up. The real Mrs. Anderson traced the call to the Washington boulevard address and went there last night with a policeman. Her husband was arrested. The woman was arrested later in a downtown hotel.

GIBBS MADE LOANS WITHOUT SECURITY

Kirksville Savings Deposits Said to Have Been Diverted to His Friends.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., March 28.—With the disclosure yesterday of a shortage of more than $460,000 in the accounts of Lonnie Gibbs, cashier of the Kirksville Trust Co., who was found dead March 19 in the vault of the bank with a revolver by his side, questionings are persistent as to what he did with the money, but there is no answer.

It is known that nothing has been found in the course of the examination thus far to show what became of it. Prompted by the friendliness which was his marked characteristic, he made loans on little or no security, but mostly in small amounts, the aggregate of which would not come anywhere near explaining the shortage. There is nothing to indicate that he speculated. The most plausible presumption is that he was persuaded to turn over to friends large sums of which no record was made out of the savings deposits which Gibbs diverted.

Finding himself in a situation from which there seemed to be no other escape, he is thought to have insured himself for sufficient to cover his shortage and then killed himself to enable the collection of this restitution fund.

Hope for Reorganization.

Frank C. Millspaugh, Missouri Commissioner of Finance, after spending 24 hours in Kirksville making a personal inquiry into the situation, supplemental to the examination being conducted by men of his department, authorized the statement that the department recognized the magnanimity of Frank W. Gibbs, the father of Lonnie Gibbs, in pledging the latter's life insurance to the full payment of the creditors of the trust company. It was hoped, he said, that the proceeds of the insurance policies would enable the interested parties to speedily reorganize the trust company.

Pending the completion of the examination, he said, he had requested the officers and directors to refrain from making any statement. He promised that as soon as the examination was completed he would make a statement.

The last statement of the Kirksville Trust Co. was filed with Commissioner of Finance Dec. 6, last. It showed resources as follows: Loans on collateral, $228,590.26; loans on real estate, $81,533.15; overdrafts by customers, $4,626.12; bonds, $548; stocks, $5000; real estate, $14,336.30; furniture and fixtures, $5400; due from other banking institutions, $46,765.29; checks and other cash items, $7308.49; cash on hand, $7143.98; other resources, $2300; total resources, $403,551.59.

Deposits Exceeded $200,000.

Liabilities listed in the statement follow: Capital stock, $50,000; surplus, $7500; undivided profits, $4,307.42; deposits subject to draft of banking institutions, $6493.99; deposits subject to draft of individuals, $203,148.63; time certificates of deposit, $20,490.66; demand certificates of deposit, $1187.90; savings deposits, $23,922.99; bills payable, $86,500. The statement was signed by B. F. Heiny as president, L. F. Gibbs as secretary and Frank W. Gibbs and J. A. Cooley as directors.

HARRIS' MEMORY AGAIN GOES BACK ON HIM AT HEARING

Bankrupt Diamond Dealer Can't Recall Where He Got Information for Firm's Financial Statement.

BOOKS SHOW IT WAS FAR FROM CORRECT

Figures for It Placing Both Assets and Liabilities at $201,122 Were "Just Handed" to Him, He Says.

At another hearing yesterday before Referee Coles in the bankruptcy proceeding against the Harris & Kober Diamond Importing Co., 704 Olive street, which failed recently with liabilities said to be in excess of $1,000,000, Louis K. Harris, president of the concern, was questioned at length on the factors considered in a statement Dec. 31, 1921, to the Boatmen's Bank, on which the firm negotiated loans and discounted paper.

Although Harris admitted having prepared the statement, his memory, which has been fickle in recounting some of the firm's financial history, utterly failed him in a cross fire of questions from Referee Coles and M. G. Levinson, counsel for the receiver.

This is the statement made to the bank at a time when the firm was insolvent:

Assets:
Cash on hand or in bank	$25,631.32
Insurance paid	4,610.46
Furniture and fixtures	8,713.81
Accounts receivable	65,876.28
Merchandise inventory	96,290.75
Total	$201,122.62
Liabilities:
Capital stock	$ 12,000.00
Bills payable, not due	115,619.90
Surplus	73,502.72
Total	$201,122.62

Harris testified he believed the foregoing statement was a truthful account of the firm's affairs, but a recent examination of the books has disclosed that it was anything but that.

Information "Just Handed" to Him.

In response to questions as to what factors were considered in making the statement, Harris could not remember. The information for compiling the statement was "just handed" to him by someone, he could not recall who.

"The janitor?" inquired Referee Coles.

"No," Harris answered.

"The office boy?"

"No."

Well, who made the inventory showing $96,290.75 of merchandise? Harris made the inventory. How did he arrive at that figure? He could not remember. Well, was the statement a true one? How should Harris know? He isn't a bookkeeper?

"But you made the statement and signed it and presented it at the bank," persisted the Referee. "Now where did you get the information therein?"

How should Harris know, when his mind is all upset by bankruptcy, by lawyers, by reclamation proceedings and everything.

"Cannot you shed any light at all on this statement?" inquired the Referee.

"No, sir," Harris was sorry to say.

"How about bills payable."

About the item "bills payable" in the statement, who did Mr. Harris owe about those figures. He couldn't remember that either. How did he figure the cash in bank, who gave him that information? He couldn't remember. He asked for the information and someone handed it to him.

"Were the bills and accounts receivable figured in the same manner?

"Yes, in the same way," Harris answered.

"In what way?" demanded the Referee.

"I don't remember."

And so the examination proceeded with Harris a prey to forgetfulness in matters of extreme importance, his uncertain memory constituting an impenetrable defense.

Toward the end of the hearing Bernard Greensfelder, counsel for the Harris & Kober Co., had Harris read the following statement of purchases, sales and operating expenses in the last four years:

Losses of $177,644 in 3 Years.

The firm suffered losses of $177,644.67 in bad accounts in the last three years, and paid to creditors and in operating expenses this year a total of $220,114.42.

It was shown during the course of the hearing that, in the stress of raising ready money, the firm was compelled on numerous occasions to sell diamonds at or below cost.

Simon Van Raalte, real estate operator and money lender, who holds considerable of the firm's collateral for loans and who claims to be one of the largest individual creditors, was present for examination on an order from the Federal Court. Referee Coles set 2 p. m. tomorrow for his examination.

Resolution Adopted by the Board of Directors of the Jefferson-Gravois Bank, March 26th, 1923, at a Special Meeting Called Upon the Death of Its President, Michael C. H. Arendes:

It is with the deepest sorrow and regret that we record the death of Michael C. H. Arendes, the President of this institution and our fellow member of the Board of Directors, who was suddenly called to rest on March 25th, 1923.

Mr. Arendes was the chief organizer of this bank and has ever been its devoted servant and stanch and loyal friend. We shall go on as best we may, with the great plans and high purposes which we know to have been his ambition for the bank, but we shall so with a deep consciousness of loss of the clear vision and sturdy character of our President and friend.

His taking deprives us of a leadership of courage and power, but his example of industry, integrity and unwavering faith in our institution is our inheritance from him.

HARRIS' MEMORY AGAIN GOES BACK ON HIM AT HEARING

Bankrupt Diamond Dealer Can't Recall Where He Got Information for Firm's Financial Statement.

BOOKS SHOW IT WAS FAR FROM CORRECT

Figures for It Placing Both Assets and Liabilities at $201,122 Were "Just Handed" to Him, He Says.

At another hearing yesterday before Referee Coles in the bankruptcy proceeding against the Harris & Kober Diamond Importing Co., 704 Olive street, which failed recently with liabilities said to be in excess of $1,000,000, Louis K. Harris, president of the concern, was questioned at length on the factors considered in a statement Dec. 31, 1921, to the Boatmen's Bank, on which the firm negotiated loans and discounted paper.

Although Harris admitted having prepared the statement, his memory, which has been fickle in recounting some of the firm's financial history, utterly failed him in a cross fire of questions from Referee Coles and M. G. Levinson, counsel for the receiver.

This is the statement made to the bank at a time when the firm was insolvent:

Assets:
Cash on hand or in bank	$25,681.32
Insurance paid	4,610.46
Furniture and fixtures	8,715.81
Accounts receivable	65,876.28
Merchandise inventory	96,290.75
Total	$201,122.62
Liabilities:
Capital stock	$ 12,000.00
Bills payable, not due	115,619.90
Surplus	73,502.72
Total	$201,122.62

Harris testified he believed the foregoing statement was a truthful account of the firm's affairs, but a recent examination of the books has disclosed that it was anything but that.

Information "Just Handed" to Him.

In response to questions as to what factors were considered in making the statement, Harris could not remember. The information for compiling the statement was "just handed" to him by someone, he could not recall who.

"The janitor?" inquired Referee Coles.

"No," Harris answered.

"The office boy?"

"No."

Well, who made the inventory showing $96,290.75 of merchandise? Harris made the inventory. How did he arrive at that figure? He could not remember. Well, was the statement a true one? How should Harris know? He isn't a bookkeeper?

"But you made the statement and signed it and presented it at the bank," persisted the Referee. "Now where did you get the information therein?"

How should Harris know, when his mind is all upset by bankruptcy, by lawyers, by reclamation proceedings and everything.

"Cannot you shed any light at all on this statement?" inquired the Referee.

"No, sir," Harris was sorry to say.

"How about bills payable."

About the item "bills payable" in the statement, who did Mr. Harris see about those figures. He couldn't remember that either. How did he figure the cash in bank, who gave him that information? He couldn't remember. He asked for the information and someone handed it to him.

"Were the bills and accounts receivable figured in the same manner?

"Yes, in the same way," Harris answered.

"In what way?" demanded the Referee.

"I don't remember."

And so the examination proceeded, with Harris a prey to forgetfulness in matters of extreme importance, his uncertain memory constituting an impenetrable defense.

Toward the end of the hearing Bernard Greensfelder, counsel for the Harris & Kober Co., had Harris read the following statement of purchases, sales and operating expenses in the last four years:

Losses of $177,644 in 3 Years.

The firm suffered losses of $177,644.67 in bad accounts in the last three years, and paid to creditors and in operating expenses this year a total of $220,114.42.

It was shown during the course of the hearing that, in the stress of raising ready money, the firm was compelled on numerous occasions to sell diamonds at or below cost.

Simon Van Raalte, real estate operator and money lender, who holds considerable of the firm's collateral for loans and who claims to be one of the largest individual creditors, was present for examination on an order from the Federal Court. Referee Coles set 2 p. m. tomorrow for his examination.

In the application for order on which the examination of Harris was asked for, counsel for the receiver alleged that Van Raalte had charged Harris & Kober usurious interest. Van Raalte denies this, explaining that he merely discounted notes and charged not in excess of 8 per cent interest per annum.

Locust Boulevard Window "Shot Up" in Gangsters' War

Plate glass show windows in the salesroom of the Hudson-Frampton Motor Car Co., 3301 Locust boulevard, were shattered by bullets fired by warring gangsters who shot at each other as they sped east in two automobiles early yesterday.

Policemen who chased the cars were unable to see the occupants, as the curtains were drawn, but the police believe they were members of the Hogan and Egan gangs, who have carried their warfare into the public thoroughfares, thus endangering life and property of citizens.

SALOON MAN TELLS OF TRAPPING DRY AGENT IN BRIBERY PLOT

he would get his keys. He returned from the automobile with a bunch of keys and opened the door with one of them. I followed them upstairs and they searched everything in our living rooms.

"In the kitchen they found a bottle of vinegar and asked me what it was. I told them to taste it and see. They guessed that it was vinegar. Then they found a bottle of lysol and asked what it was. I told them to taste it, that it would do them good. But they put it back.

"At that moment Bernard Kwiatkowski, a former prohibition enforcement agent and friend of ours, called on us. When I explained the situation to him he protested to the officers that they could not make a case; that the warrant was for another address. I heard one of the Federal agents call me a profane name and tell Kwiatkowski that I wouldn't know the difference. We were all upstairs at the time.

"Finding no liquor upstairs, they returned to the saloon and I followed. Then they called me to the front of the bar, gathered around me and the police officer said, 'Now I am going to make the buy or my friends here will make the pinch.'

"I asked them what they meant, and they told me I knew what they were hinting at. I then asked them how much they wanted, and the police officer told me $250. I asked them if they would take a check, and one of the Federal officers said they would have nothing but cash. I said I didn't have the money, but would get it for them, and the three Government officers then left, one of them instructing me, as he turned to go, to 'fix it' with the police officer and that any 'terms' he suggested would be satisfactory to them.

"The police officer lingered to assure me that the Government officers were fine fellows and to request that I treat them right. I promised to do so. This officer then left, but returned in about 10 minutes and again began telling me what fine fellows the Government officers were. I arranged to meet him next day, take him to the South Side Trust Co., Broadway and Pestalozzi, and give him the $250, which appeared to please him.

"'Then you will be a full-fledged member of our gang,' he informed me, and left.

"After his departure I telephoned an account of the situation to the United States District Attorney's office and they told me to go on with the deal and they would watch developments. I told them the bank we were going to and about the time we would arrive there.

Boasted of Liquor Gang.

"In accordance with this arrangement the police officer called at my saloon at 9 a. m. yesterday and we started for the bank in my automobile. On the way he told me that, being a member of the gang, I could sell what I liked without interference from anyone. He said that he and the Government officers had a lot of saloonkeepers in their gang who were selling liquor without trouble and that he was glad that I soon was to become a member of the gang. He also informed me that one member of the gang, a man who owned four restaurants, was put out of business because he squealed and added that the same thing would happen to me if I squealed.

"Arriving at the bank I observed a Government secret service man inside. The police officer waited outside, conversing with a watchman for Anheuser-Busch. The secret service man stood near me when I drew the money on my personal check, and he took the bills from me and made note of their numbers in a memorandum book. Then he handed the money back to me and told me to go ahead with the transaction and that he would keep watch.

"Outside I approached the police officer and he remarked, 'There sits the District Attorney in an automobile. That's funny. Do you know him?' I answered that I did not and walked towards my automobile, the officer following. I then removed the money from my pocket and raised my hand kind of high so that the District Attorney and the secret service men in the bank, both of whom were watching, could see the transaction. The officer took the money and said he was going north on a street car. I said I was going south and got in my automobile.

Saw Man Taken Into Custody.

"I drove around the block to see what would happen to the officer who took the money, and observed that the secret service man and District Attorney had taken him into custody at Seventh and Pestalozzi streets.

"I then returned to my saloon and haven't heard from either side since then."

Kannapell has been in the saloon business in St. Louis 23 years, 17 years at the present location. He named the police officer, and also two of the Federal agents. He is not acquainted with the third Federal agent. He declared that he positively is certain of the identity of three of the men, stating that the police officer had been a patron of his place.

Denied by Federal Agents.

The police officer referred to is said to have been taken to Police Headquarters, where he at first denied having taken any money. When pressed and shown the serial numbers of the bills, it is said, he then admitted having taken the money, remarking, "That's what I get for making a damned fool of myself." This officer could not be reached for a statement today.

Steel Manufacturer Found Dead.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, March 28.—William H. Schoen Sr., one of the most prominent steel manufacturers of the Pittsburg district, was found dead in the lavatory at his office in a downtown building yesterday afternoon. There was a bullet hole in his temple. Schoen had been in ill health.

said. "There was nothing about it that is of any public interest."

Father Dempsey said he was going to keep on trying to bring about an armistice in the gang war until he accomplishes something.

"I'm trying to get in touch with Willie Colbeck," he said, "and I'll talk to him and Hogan this afternoon."

William T. (Dinty) Colbeck, proprietor of a plumbing shop at 2215 Washington avenue, and a member of the Democratic City Committee, assumed leadership of the Egan gang following the death of the original leader, Constable William T. Egan, who was shot down by enemy gangsters, Oct. 31, 1921.

Two of the Egan gangsters, Isadore Londe and Elmer Runge, who have been arrested numerous times in connection with police investigation of holdups and burglaries, were taken into custody at 12:30 a. m. today at Lackland and Link roads, St. Louis County. They were examining the engine of Londe's Dodge coupe. A Deputy Sheriff found two loaded pistols on the seat of the car.

The Bickel boy, who was run down by the automobile of gangsters Saturday night, is still in a serious condition at the city hospital. His right leg is fractured and his head and face cut. He was returning home from a violin lesson, and was transferring from one street car to another when the gangsters' automobile, zig-zagging its way from the scene of the shooting affray, knocked him down.

FRAMPTON WIRES PROTEST TO HYDE

R. C. Frampton, president of the Hudson-Frampton Motor Car Co., 3301 Locust boulevard, the show windows of which were "shot up" in the running pistol fight between he two automobile loads of gangsters yesterday morning, has sent the following telegram to Gov. Hyde:

"At 2:45 a. m. Tuesday our place of business was shot up by gangsters who were engaged in a running fight in racing automobiles. Our two main plate glass windows were shattered, greatly hampering our facilities for displaying motor cars, with a resultant loss to our firm.

"We protest against this condition, which not only permits gangsters to run down children on the streets and shoot up places of business, but which permits murders, bank and payroll robberies and other crime to flourish.

"The crime wave and the war of gangsters certainly demands that stronger action be taken both by the State and City officials if St. Louis ans are to have the police protection to which they are entitled."

Frampton also suggested that if the police are unable to cope with the gang situation that citizens raise a fund of $100,000 to hire lawyers and private detectives to aid the police in ridding the community of the undesirable gangsters, and said he would subscribe $1000 to such a fund.

He said that it was an outrage that the gang war had reached a stage where gangsters, in addition to holding up banks and paymasters, can carry on their murder feud in the public thoroughfares without fear of punishment.

Shots Fired by Detectives in Washington Avenue Chase.

Several shots were fired by night riding detectives in a chase west along Washington avenue between Eighth and Sixteenth streets at 1 a. m. today. A Ford touring car sped past the automobile in which the detectives were riding eastward at Eighth street. There were no lights on the machine passing, and the detectives turned in pursuit.

One shot was fired into the air as they turned, but the dark machine did not stop. Two more shots were fired as the detectives gave chase between Ninth and Tenth streets. The lightless speeder was overtaken at Sixteenth street and four men in it were arrested on suspicion of being gangsters. They were released today.

SALOON MAN MUST PAY CUSTOMER'S WIFE $1000

Default Judgment for Woman Who Charges Liquor Sales Cost Her Support.

A default judgment of $1000 was awarded to Mrs. Frances Armstrong, 2001 Cleveland avenue, East St. Louis, by a jury yesterday in City Judge Border's court against Samuel Pasha, proprietor of a saloon at 2101 East Broadway, in her damage suit for $10,000, in which she charged that Pasha sold her husband intoxicating liquors, causing him to become unable to support her.

Action was brought under the Federal statutes in connection with the Volstead act and similar statutes of Illinois, which provide that persons injured in person, property or means of support by an intoxicated person shall have a right of action against persons guilty of unlawfully selling or assisting in procuring liquor for the persons intoxicated. In such cases the law provides that the injured persons may recover actual and exemplary damages.

Mrs. Armstrong testified her husband, Ira, began to drink to excess April 1 last, and that as a result lost his job in a planing mill and also a second job. She alleged her husband bought the liquor at Pasha's saloon. She testified they had been married 20 years and said her husband had supported her until he began to drink last April.

The jury was instructed by Judge Borders that every man who has a wife owes her maintenance and support, and if his only means of support is out of his daily labor, then, if a person sells him intoxicating liquor and renders him unfit for labor, preventing him from pursuing his only means of support of his wife, the person guilty is liable to the wife for the loss sustained by her.

AUTO USED IN $2942 ROBBERY ABANDONED

Police Looking for Three Men Seen Riding in Machine, Which Had Been Borrowed.

Police are looking for three men who were seen riding in the Studebaker automobile used in the payroll robbery in front of the Samuels Shoe Manufacturing Co., 915 Switzer avenue, yesterday, in which $2942 was taken from Herbert E. Buckland, superintendent of the company.

The car was found abandoned near Davison and Prange avenues, in the northwest part of the city, last evening. As at the time of the robbery, it bore in place of license tags a cardboard tag marked "In Transit."

An old overcoat which had been left in the car enabled the police to trace its ownership to a mechanic living in Baden. He was taken to headquarters and questioned, and told a story which satisfied the police that he had no connection with the robbery.

The owner of the car said an acquaintance asked him for its use Monday afternoon, and that he granted the request, on condition that it should be back by 6 o'clock. When it was not returned, he began an inquiry, and he learned from a garage proprietor that the borrower and two other men, whose names were known to the garage man, had been riding in it. The police verified this statement, and got the names of the men, from the garage man.

MAN WHO SHOT SELF HERE KILLED IN BIRMINGHAM, ALA,

Louis Staudinger, Fatally Wounded Said Shooting in Tower Grove Park Was "Mistake."

Louis Staudinger, 38 years old, a traveling salesman, of 3543 Crittenden street, who shot himself over the heart in Tower Grove Park Feb. 5, but recovered, was shot and wounded fatally in Birmingham, Ala., today, acording to a brief dispatch rfom that city, which gave no details of the occurence.

When Staudinger shot himself in Tower Grove Park it was 10:30 a. m., and was directly opposite the Magnolia Avenue Police Station. He walked over to the station and said he "guessed he had made an awful mistake, 'adding that he had been nervous and worried over minor matters recently.

His wife and two young daughters live at the Crittenden street address.

BUSCH DOG WINNER IN FIELD TRIAL CONTEST

Selection of Best Trained Police Dog Will Be Made Tonight, When Kennel Show Closes.

The field trials for police dogs in connection with the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club show at the Coliseum last night attracted what officers said was one of the largest crowds that have attended a St. Louis dog show.

Long before 8 p. m., the time for the contests to begin, spectators had filled the seats affording a view of the ring at the south end of the arena, and many waited about the barrier separating the ring from the main floor.

The winner last night was Funk Vom Alt Muhltal, belonging to August A. Busch Jr. This dog jumps a 10-foot "hedge," and was second in the Monday night trials, which included guarding and facing a club and a gun. Tonight, when the show closes, the best-trained police dog of the show will be chosen from all that have been in the contests.

This breed was judged yesterday afternoon instead of last night, as scheduled, to avoid conflict with the field trials and also to avoid any possibility of the dogs getting loose from their agents and going on a "tear" through the heavy night crowd. As implied, some of them are not so well trained.

Giralda Kennels of Princeton, N. J., with only three dogs entered, took a lion's share of the blue ribbons. Dolf of Joselle and Frigga Berggeist were judged, respectively, best dog and best female of the breed, and Schatz, alias Champion Schultzo Hohentan, reserve winner at the Westminster show in New York, won several specials. He was not entered in the regular classes.

St. Louisans led in the poms and Boston terriers. Miss Mabel Thorpe's Rattler King II was counted best of the 70 Bostons entered, and firsts were won by Lauralee Kennels and by Lola Shea.

Among the poms, Mrs. T. W. Sessinghaus, known for her success with this breed, and Mrs. Nat Goldstein, who has achieved distinction with her collies but this year took up the Pomeranian, won a majority of the firsts. These exquisites of the dog kingdom were usually shown by women, who aptly set off the dogs' fineness with their own finery. For instance, it was inherent in the order of things that a blue ribbon should go to a chocolate pom shown by a woman in a slightly darker velvet dress, with hose and tongue slippers to match, and a brown cat with light blue figuring.

METHODIST CONFEREES DRAFT UNION PLANS

Subcommission Agrees on Powers of General Body to Govern Coalition.

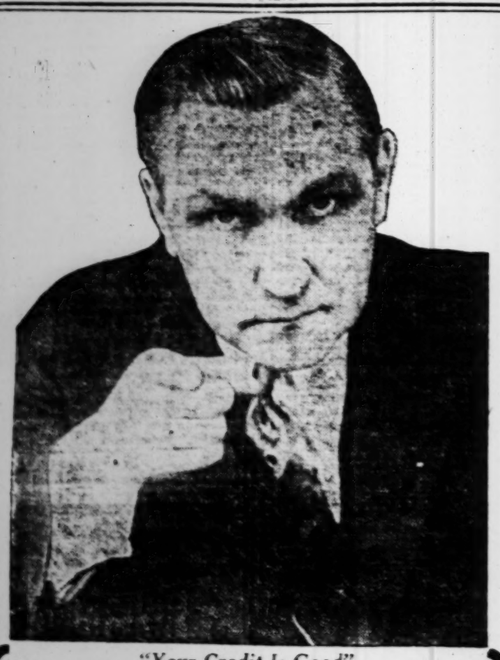

From numerous plans submitted by various members of the subcommittee of the Joint Commission on Unification of the M. E. Church and the M. E. Church (South), which began its conversations here yesterday, an agreement was reached last night concerning the powers of a general conference to govern the new coalition.

"This body will take the relation to the two churches now that Congress takes to our State Legislatures," Dr. A. W. Harris, secretary of the subcommitte, said. "The general conferences of both churches now will no longer exist as such."

With the approval of this action, the subcommittee agreed tentatively on powers of the new general conference, concerning such affairs of church government as conditions of membership, duties of the ministry, and powers and privileges of the episcopacy.

In place of the present general conference, two bodies to be known as Jurisdictional or Provincial Conferences, one for each branch in the consolidation, are provided. "These will be the 'State Legislatures,'" Dr. Harris explained. "They will have some direct jurisdiction, but all major matters pertaining to the united church will come to the general conference for disposition."

The matter of foreign field work also was discussed, and it was decided to leave this matter up to the new general conference body. The plan evolved by this subcommittee is to be submitted to the Joint Commission for approval, and then to the two present general conferences. It is not expected the amalgamation can be completed in less than four years.

TOM FURNESS OF SHIPPING FIRM IS GRANTED DIVORCE

(Copyright, 1923.)

LONDON, March 28.—Tom Furness of the shipping firm of that name yesterday was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Fae Furness, a former movie actress of New York, where they were married.

Maurice Mouvet, better known as Maurice, the dancer, was adjudged the co-respondent. Both he and Mrs. Furness denied the charge during the trial. Justice Hill, delivering judgment, said Maurice was "either guilty and lying or, being innocent, took at first no part to defend his friend." The Justice added that Maurice, according to his own evidence, had no moral character. He said misconduct was proved in London and Deauville. The Justice also dealt severely with the morals of Mrs. Furness, declaring it had been established she had drunk to excess, had been in the habit of taking cocaine and had twice assaulted her husband.

TO STOP DRINKING ON TRAINS

Orders for Arrests Issued by Prohibition Commissioner.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—"In an effort to curtail promiscuous drinking of intoxicating liquors on railway trains throughout the country," orders have been issued by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes for the arrest of all persons traveling on trains who are caught drinking by Federal agents.

Chief Yellowley of the enforcement staff has been given instructions, it was announced, to pass the word to all agents.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for Washing Hair
Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.
The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.
Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified cocoanut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

MAN KILLED, WIFE INJURED BY AUTO

Couple and Son Struck by Machine at Florissant and Bremen Avenues.

Henry Fritz, 42 years old, 1117 Mallinckrodt street, is dead, and his wife, Mary, 37, is at city hospital in a serious condition as the result of injuries suffered at 9:30 o'clock last evening, when they were struck by an automobile while crossing Florissant avenue at Bremen avenue.

Fritz died shortly after the accident of a fracture of the skull. Mrs. Fritz suffered a fractured left leg and internal injuries. Their son, Fred, 6 years old, who was with them at the time, escaped with bruises.

The driver of the car, Philip Stremmel, 46, of 2918A Dodier street, is held under $5000 bond on a charge of felonious wounding. He told the police he was driving east in Bremen avenue and turned north into Florissant avenue. The Fritzes were crossing from the east to the west side of Florissant.

According to Stremmel, they became confused and walked into the path of his machine. The automobile knocked all three to the pavement, hitting Fritz first. Stremmel's story was corroborated by his wife, his daughters, Ruth and Louise, his father-in-law, Michael Sutter and a friend of the Misses Stremmel, all of whom were in the car.

Mrs. Fritz was unable to give a detailed account of the happening. She remembers only that she was crossing the street with her husband and son and that an automobile came "from nowhere" and ran into them.

Stremmel is assistant genral superintendent of the National Enameling and Stamping Co., Granite City. Fritz was part owner of the Fritz and Garger Bottling Co., 3430 Klein avenue.

How about a brown suit now?

A custom-tailored suit of fine worsted in brown or drab

Simply in the way of suggestion; for in choosing among the fine woolens of America, England, Scotland and Ireland, there is no more limitation to color than there is to material.

But a brown to look well must be a brown that can be found only in the finest of woolens. And then if it is hand tailored from individual measurements — well, then you will have the kind of brown suit we mean.

NEW PROSECUTOR ALLOWED TO ACT IN FOSTER TRIAL

Walsh Fights Unsuccessfully Against Cross-Examination of Ruthenberg by State Official.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., March 28.—The right of the State Attorney General's office to direct the prosecution of William Z. Foster, charged with criminal syndicalism, was sustained by Judge White today.

Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Foster, objected to O. L. Smith, assistant Attorney-General, taking over the re-cross-examination of Charles E. Ruthenberg. Charles Gore, Prosecutor of Berrien County, had conducted the cross-examination, supplanting Smith, who was in charge of the earlier phases of the trial. Walsh maintained Gore was required to finish with the witness, but the court held the matter was within the discretion of the Judge and he ruled that Smith could take the Prosecutor's place.

While none of the attorneys involved would comment on published reports of friction between the Attorney-General's representatives and the Prosecutor's office, it was understood today that Smith would have charge of the rest of the case.

Walsh Objects Repeatedly.

Walsh objected repeatedly to Smith's recross-examination as being an entirely new cross-examination, but the court permitted the Attorney-General to proceed with an examination into Ruthenberg's views on Michigan as a capitalist Government, revolution, the soviet government of Russia and the theory of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

Smith questioned the witness about a book by N. Bukharin, of the central executive committee of the Moscow internationale, and E. Preobrazhensky on the principles of the soviet system.

"The dictatorship of the proletariat in Russia is a power of iron, a power that shows no mercy to its foes," he read from the book.

"Is that right?" "It is not," Ruthenberg said.

The attorneys clashed again when Smith produced Nikolai Lenine's "Imperialism—the Final Stage of Capitalism," and Bukharin's "Program of the World Revolution," to the introduction of which Walsh objected unsuccessfully. Ruthenberg said he had never read the Bukharin article and Walsh objected to the reading of quotations from it.

The state, during cross-examination of Ruthenberg yesterday, introduced minutes of an Executive Committee meeting of the communist party held July 26 to 27, 1922, to show that Moscow's influence over the communist party of America brought about a postponement of the party's convention near here. It offered in evidence a cablegram directing that the gathering be delayed until two representatives of the Executive Committee of the communist internationale should arrive.

Just A Touch Of Ice-Mint. PRESTO'

Corns Wither and Lift Out With Fingers. No Pain.

Corn sufferers rather round; get right up close and listen: here's good news for you.

The real genuine "Corn Killer" is here at last. No humbug. Ice-Mint, the new discovery made from a Japanese product, is said to surely and quickly end all foot misery. Think of it; only a touch or two of that cooling, soothing Ice-Mint and real foot joy is yours. No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying it or afterwards and it doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened callouses just shrivel right up and lift off so easy. It's wonderful.

Every foot sufferer can appreciate a treatment like this, especially women who wear high-heel shoes and men who are obliged to stand on their feet all day.

Try it. Just ask in any drug store for a few cents' worth of Ice-Mint and learn for yourself what solid foot comfort really is. There is nothing like it.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—dizziness—constipation—you'll find Quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

$2,917,923 ROAD WORK CONTRACTS APPROVED

Construction of 198.9 Miles Called for on 58 Sections of Highway.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 28.—Contracts for construction of 1989 miles of hard surfaced roads in the state highway system at a cost of $2,917,923.62 were approved yesterday by the State Highway Commission.

Of the total mileage, 134.04 is work on primary roads and 64.85 work on secondary roads. The primary road contracts call for construction of 10.22 miles of concrete roads and for grading and bridge work on 123.82 miles. The work on secondary roads includes 1.89 of concrete roads, 25.57 miles of gravel surface roads and grading and bridge work on 37.85 miles.

As no contractor was the successful bidder on more than three or four of the 58 sections of roads considered in the letting of contracts, it is the expectation of the Highway Department that work will begin shortly on each of the projects:

Contracts for concrete primary roads were awarded as follows:

Clay County, 2.25 miles, to cost a total of $88,000; Pemiscot County, 4.16 miles, $134,856, and 4.06 miles, $169,640.

The contracts for grading and bridging primary roads include those for work on four sections in Bollinger County, one in Callaway, two in Cape Girardeau, three in Greene, three in Jefferson, two in Laclede, two in Lawrence, three in Madison, four in Phelps, three in Pulaski and five in Saline.

Contracts for construction of concrete roads in the secondary system include those calling for 1.39 miles in Greene County, at a cost of $41,027. Gravel roads to be constructed are:

Dent County, 4.26 miles for $11,928, and 4.85 miles for $24,427; Franklin County, 4.80 miles for $30,946; Texas County, 7 miles for $13,731 and 5 miles for $14,697; Oregon County, 1.63 miles for $7795.

Contracts for bridging and grading secondary roads include those for work on sections in Andrew, Barton, Carroll, Gentry, Greene, Holt, McDonald, Mercer—Newton, Nodaway, Schuyler and Washington counties.

MAPLEWOOD ASKS FOR $25,000 IN SUIT AGAINST CANDIDATE

Frank P. Kasper, Council Nominee, Charged With Circulating Slanderous Handbill.

A libel suit, asking for $25,000 damages, was filed in behalf of the city of Maplewood against Frank P. Kasper, 3550 Oxford avenue, Maplewood, who was nominated for the City Council last Thursday, in the Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday.

The suit charges that Kasper caused to be circulated during his campaign a slanderous handbill. Mayor John D. Schuster said the handbill charged there was a deficit in the city treasury, whereas there is a surplus.

Kasper was one of seven candidates for the Council, four of whom were nominated, Kasper receiving the highest vote. The day of the primary Mayor Schuster and Councilman Otto L. Riek, who was renominated, filed a similar $25,000 libel suit against Kasper.

DELLORA F. ANGELL, HEIRESS, WEDS NEWSPAPER CARTOONIST

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PASADENA, Cal., March 28.—Bringing to a happy climax the childhood romance of an undertaker's son in St. Charles, Ill., and one of America's richest heiresses, Lester J. Norris, 22 years old, newspaper cartoonist, and Miss Dellora F. Angell, 20, who inherited the $40,000,000 estate of John W. Gates, were married at noon today at the bride's home here. Dr. Robert Freeman of the First Presbuterian Church officiated, with only a few close friends present.

The bride wore a simple white dress and carried a bridal bouquet of roses, lilies of the valley and orange blossoms. Her lone attendant was her sister, Roberta Angell, who served as flower girl. The bride's father, R. F. Angell, gave the bride away.

Simplicity marked the ceremony which took place in the living room.

5 U. S. ARMY PLANES AT HAVANA

Flight of 572 Miles From Guantanamo Made Without Stop.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, March 28.—Five of the six American army aeroplanes which recently made a test flight from San Antonio, Texas, to San Juan, Porto Rico, and now returning to the United States, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Guantanamo, the American naval base in southern Cuba. The sixth plane, carrying the official photographer of the party, stopped either at Camaguay or Santa Clara for fuel and oil. This plane is expected to arrive here today.

Leaving Guantanamo about 9 a. m. the aviators headed directly for Havana. Near Santa Clara they lost sight of the photographer's plane, which does not usually fly in formation with the others. The five planes made the 572 miles from Guantanamo without a stop. The planes are expected to make a start from Havana Thursday morning for Miami and from there will proceed by comparatively short flights to Langley Field and thence to Washington.

Now a QUICK Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Women Wanted

Quick cooking—here it is

Countless women have asked for an oat dish that cooks quickly. Now our experts have perfected it.

Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest cooking oats in the world.

Now your grocer has Quick Quaker as well as the regular.

Just smaller, thinner flakes

No change whatever in quality or flavor.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

In both you get that matchless flavor which has won the world to Quaker.

Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get only ten pounds of these premier flakes from a bushel.

You want your children to love oats. It is their food of foods. Then always get this super-flavor.

Regular Quaker Oats

Come in package at left—the style you have always known.

Quick* Quaker Oats

Your grocer has both. Be sure to get the style you want.

SAYS GOVERNMENT GETS $2 FOR $1 IN DRY ENFORCEMENT

SAYS MONEY COMES FROM THE CONSUMERS

Declares Co-operation of Other Nations Is Necessary to Clamp Down Lid Tight and Complete.

Although prohibition enforcement is being carried on in a manner as thorough as "could be expected," prohibition being a thing which must come about "by evolution rather than revolution, and that gradually," the Volstead law is subject to many violations, and prohibition enforcement is becoming a rather intricate international problem, in the opinion of E. H. Cherrington of Westerville, O., chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Anti-Saloon League.

"The perhaps general opinion that prohibition is costing the taxpayers enormous sums of money is erroneous," Cherrington said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, who interviewed him yesterday at the Missouri Athletic Association, where Cherrington is a delegate to a meeting of M. E. Church delegates discussing plans for uniting with the M. E. Church (South). "It is interesting, for example, to note that last year prohibition enforcement cost the Federal Government about $10,000,000.

Violators of Law Paying.

"Now, in fines and taxes on persons engaged in the illicit liquor traffic, including manufacture and dispensing, the Government obtained many times that expenditure, and in actual moneys collected, got $2 for every $1 spent. In other words, the violators of the law are paying for their own prosecution. That means, to be sure, as usual, that the consumer pays this price. But if it were not for the consumer, who is abetting bootleggers, there would be no violation, for lack of violators."

Cherrington said the work of the Anti-Saloon League at present is particularly divided into two fields, namely, to make prohibition complete in the United States and to extend the benefits of prohibition to other countries.

"This desire to extend prohibition is not entirely unselfish," Cherrington continued. "Prohibition enforcement here is becoming a great international problem. The notorious rum fleet off our Atlantic coast and the innumerable high-powered automobiles on our inland national boundaries show the need of co-operation among nations if we are to succeed."

Airplane Also Vital Problem.

"The development of the airplane, also, is a vital problem in this work. It is now possible for a plane at any point whatever in the interior of America to depart for the border at dark and be out of the country before sunrise. And it can return the next night the same way. We have an international boundary of some 17,500 miles, and 22 of our 48 states are on that boundary. So, we must seek co-operation by extension of prohibition to our neighbors, and to other countries if the ideal is to succeed."

Cherrington again referred to the success of prohibition financially, characterizing it as a going concern which is paying the Federal Treasury dividends and also giving the people generally greater prosperity.

"Do you know," he said, "that in the United States today there are more than 10,000,000 automobiles in use? That is five times the total number in all the rest of the world. That indicates, in a way, our prosperity here. The automobile industry has developed, coincidentally, with the advent of prohibition.

Another Thing to Be Thankful For.

"And that leads to another situation. Imagine, for example, the serious condition in our large cities were the open saloon to return, and those 10,000,000 automobile drivers be allowed free access to intoxicants. Why, no street nor sidewalk anywhere would be safe! That is something to think about and to be, in a measure, thankful for, I believe."

Cherrington made no reference to the local situation other than to say he did not know who would succeed the Rev. Mr. W. C. Shupp, who recently resigned as State superintendent for Missouri of the Anti-Saloon League. "The matter is up to the Missouri board," he commented.

Crime Situation Discussed.

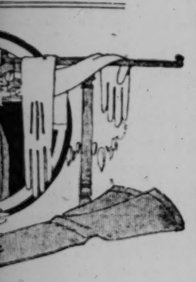

Prohibition and its reference to crime were inquired about, and Cherrington replied that in communities where prohibition is a success crime has actually decreased. "The crime wave following the war, over here, has reached our people in all communities generally," he said.

SOVIET ORGAN SAYS HUGHES SPEAKS IN DIPLOMATIC PAST

Moscow Newspaper Declares Secretary Believes When "One Falls Down, Push Him Farther."

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, March 28.—While no soviet statesman has yet expressed a view on Secretary Hughes' pronouncement of last week in regard to the relations between the United States and Russia, the official newspaper, Izvestia, declares the American Secretary of State has returned "to the position of America in the days of the Vladivostok and Archangel intervention."

The pronouncement was delayed in transmission, but upon its receipt was given first-page position by the Izvestia, which prints the full text. Assuming to state the view of official circles, the newspaper says:

"If delivered in 1918 it would not surprise, but in 1923 it sounds like a sharp dissonance—an anachronism. In effect, Mr. Hughes returns to the position of America in the days of the Vladivostok and Archangel intervention, the only difference being that he now declares he does not want to intervene in the internal affairs of Russia, but with reference to nonrecognition, boycotting and blockade, and the misrepresentation of the real state of affairs, it is just the same."

"Push Him Farther."

The newspaper is unable to attach importance to "Hughes' lofty words of humanitarianism toward the Russians," as, it declares, he himself says recognition is a question of economics in which humanitarianism has little part and Russia does not conceal her economic difficulties.

"We must conclude," it adds, "that Mr. Hughes, instead of wanting to help in the re-establishment, holds to the principle: When one falls down, push him farther. He proposes conditions of health forestalling the possibility of agreement. Despite his verbal refusal to intervene in our internal affairs, he in reality demands radical reconstruction of the inner regime so as to duplicate the bourgeois states.

"It is evident that Mr. Hughes is seeking causes to prevent possible agreement. His whole pronouncement is especially designed as a campaign against the tendencies toward recognition of Russia which are progressing among the rank and file of the Americans."

Secretary Hughes' quotation of Lenine and Trotzky at communist international congresses as evidences of Russian interference in the affairs of other countries is termed "ridiculous" by Izvestia, which adds:

"We cannot think that Mr. Hughes in the depths of his heart attaches serious importance to these quotations. Lenine and Trotzky are communists and at party meetings express themselves like communists. What is the wonder about this? Even statesmen like Senator Borah, though insisting upon the recognition of Russia, have never asked for recognition of the Executive Committee of the Communist Internationale."

"Position as to Obligations."

The Izvestia's editor insists that Russia has met and will meet the obligations which she recognizes, but her position on the war and pre-war debts was thoroughly set forth at the Genoa and The Hague conferences.

He declares that Secretary Hughes expresses "the yesterday of American diplomacy, while Senator Borah and his followers will express the tomorrow," and concludes:

"Russia does not think that Hughes and his group will succeed long in retarding the progress of the economic rapprochement of America and the soviet federation."

"PAYROLL BOYS" THROUGHOUT CITY BUSY, CURRIE SAYS

ASSERTS HE HAS GANG "FROTHING AT MOUTH"

Head of Democratic City Ticket Predicts G. O. P. Slate Will Be Broken With Representative Vote.

Confidence that the Republican "machine" slate will be overthrown in the aldermanic election next Tuesday "if the citizens with the interest of the city at heart get out and vote," was expressed last night by Dwight D. Currie, Democratic nominee for the presidency of the Board of Aldermen, in speeches at the Hamilton Hotel and St. Margaret's Church Hall, Thirty-ninth street and Flad avenue.

"We are not deluded as to what we are going up against," Currie said. "The jobholders will be out in force and working hard. But, with a representative vote, we will win."

He said the "machine" had been stirred to activity by the fight made by Democratic candidates for minority representation in city government. "Three weeks ago the 'machine' leaders considered this election a mere formality," Currie said. "They expected to have the polls open for the required number of hours, to conform to the law, and the payroll boys would do the work, while the public slept on. Now they are frothing at the mouth, holding meetings every night and urging the boys to go down the line and to keep the 'machine' in control."

Neun's Doctrine Criticised.

Denouncing a stand he said Walter J. G. Neun, his Republican opponent, had taken against minority representation, Currie said, "Brother Neun can see nothing but a 100 per cent partisan control, and that control a Republican one. This doctrine is contradictory to the Constitution of the United States. I hold no animosity for Brother Neun, or anyone at the city hall, but I feel sorry for any man who will preach the doctrine of partisan domination of municipal affairs."

Answering a statement by Neun that Currie was favoring a return to the old House of Delegates condition by urging minority representation, Currie said he had condemned the House of Delegates system in a speech March 2, before the primary election, "and have continuously denounced that body for its deeds and rottenness."

Partisan, peanut politics has fallen very low, he asserted, to preach against minority representation in government. "I am not indicting the Republican party as a whole," he said, "for there are thousands of good Republicans in the city. But the 'machine' is in absolute control, and brooks no interference from anyone, even Republicans, who are not in the sacred inner circle.

Without Campaign Fund.

He declared no campaign fund was being spent for the Democratic ticket, and summed up his own expenditures as a $60 filing fee, and a small sum for a few campaign cards and mailing out 500 letters.

"Against us is the $10,000,000 payroll of the Republican 'machine,'" he said, "a payroll that eats up about 64 per cent of the money the taxpayers pay in. When the 'machine' assesses the jobholders 1 per cent a year, it gives a $100,000 fund for campaigns. And in the wards they are telling some of 'the boys' not to be impatient—that after the election they can get back on the payroll."

Currie said his plea for minority representation was to assure a business administration for the city, and not to wreck the city affairs, as has been charged. "I am willing to co-operate with any move for the city's good, but will fight anything not to the best interest of the city." He declared there was never any difference of opinion in the Board of Aldermen. "They agree so beautifully,' he said, "that one is forced to believe that a 'higher up'—or 'lower down'—is telling them when to jump, lie down, and play dead."

Against All "Machines."

"I hold no brief for any machine, Republican or Democrat," he continued, "for partisan domination should have no part in municipal affairs. I leave it to Brother Neun to defend his 'machine,' if he can."

Neun addressed one meeting last night in the Sixth Ward, at Douglas Hall, 2645 Lawton avenue, commending the Republican organization and achievements of the Republican administration. He declared the Republican record had been a constructive one and he was running as a Republican on that record. "If I can't win as a Republican, and on

Where Olive Street Will Widen 40 Feet

WHERE a main traffic artery will be provided from bond issue funds. This picture of Olive street, east from Seventeenth, shows how little space is available for vehicular traffic. The street will be widened to 100 feet, from Twelfth boulevard to Channing avenue, 40 feet to be taken off property on the south side. The cost is estimated at $2,000,000 and the bond issue voted Feb. 9 provides $600,000 as the city's share. The street is now 60 feet wide, from building line to building line. The additional 40 feet will be added to the roadway itself.

PRESIDENT ORDERS SUGAR INQUIRY BY THE TARIFF BOARD

Calls for an Investigation as to Relation of Present Prices to Duty on Commodity.

READY TO PROCLAIM CUT IF NECESSARY

Harding Said to Be Unconvinced Tariff Is to Blame for Skyrocketing of Cost to Consumers.

By the Associated Press.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—President Harding, by his telegraphic order to the Tariff Commission yesterday to investigate the relation of the tariff rates on sugar to the recently increased sugar prices, indicated that the Administration is going to do as much as it could to fix the responsibility for the skyrocketing of the cost of sugar to consumers. The Department of Justice has an investigation under way.

The inquiry was requested by the President in the following telegram to Thomas O. Marvin, chairman of the Tariff Commission:

"Make an immediate inquiry into the relation of the sugar tariff to the current prices of that commodity. It is difficult to believe that the duty on sugar can have any part in making the abnormal prices which prevail, but if the Commission finds there is any ground for believing the duty to be even partially responsible, I shall be ready to proclaim a reduction in sugar as provided by law."

In February sugar was selling at 5 and 6 cents a pound retail, as compared with present quotations running as high as 12 cents.

The President was represented as unconvinced that the present Fordney-McCumber tariff rates of 1.76 cents a pound on Cuban raw and 2.20 cents on other sugars was to blame for the increased prices which Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, in a statement issued a few days ago, said were costing the American people at the rate of $90,000,000 annually for every cent advanced.

Republican Congressman Wants Extra Session of Congress.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28. — An extra session of Congress to enact laws to prevent gambling in sugar and other staple products, should the Attorney-General find present statutes insufficient, was proposed yesterday by Representative Cole, Republican of Iowa.

"The cost of an extra session of Congress," he declared, in a statement, "to provide laws which will protect the public would be nothing compared to the $110,000,000 taken from the sugar consumers with every cent increase in price. I am urging the United States Chamber of Commerce to take cognizance of the grave national issue. The big business interests of the country ought to be powerful enough to stop such manipulations in the price of food products."

Cole made public a letter he had written to Attorney-General Daugherty urging speedy action by the Department of Justice, suggesting an extra session if present laws are not adequate and proposing that the present act to prevent gambling in grain be extended to other food products.

Tariff Body to Require at Least Six Months for Sugar Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28. — Although the machinery of the Tariff Commission already had been set in motion today to clear up one feature of the much debated sugar situation, it was indicated that at least six months would elapse before the results of its inquiry could be made known.

CITY EMPLOYES ASK FOR HIGHER WAGES

Increase, if Granted, Would Add $700,000 to Payroll Annually.

City employes have submitted to the Efficiency Board requests for increases in wages and salaries which, if granted according to schedule, will cost the city $700,000 more annually.

The rate of increase most generally requested is $25 a month, and more than 1600 workers have asked to share in the expected advances. In all cases higher wage levels are asked on the ground that the prevailing rates of pay for corresponding work in private enterprises or in other city governments are more generous than those in effect here. Under the city charter the Efficiency Board is required to maintain "the prevailing wage scale."

Firemen want an increase from $140 a month to $165, claiming other cities pay more than the present rate here. Their salary increase, if acquiesced in by the board, would amount to $300,000 annually.

Employes at the city waterworks, numbering more than 200, have asked for increases totaling $100,000. Meter readers, who now get $140 a month, want $175. Garbage collectors now receiving $100 a month, are asking $125. Chauffeurs making $115 a month want $140.

The St. Louis Medical Society has asked that doctors working for the city be raised $25 a month. The society's schedule also provides the salaries of Health Commissioner Starkloff and Hospital Commissioner Jordan be increased from $5000 to $6000 annually.

The Efficiency Board will collect data as to comparative wage levels and draft its standardization bill for submission to the Board of Aldermen April 16. It is thought most of the increases asked will be greatly reduced and some will not be granted.

BUYING POWER OF FARMERS CONTINUES UPWARD CLIMB

Prices of Crops in February Went Up 4 Points and Livestock 1 Point.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The slow upward climb of farmers' purchasing power, the Department of Agriculture announced today, continued during February, with the index figure for the month 69, compared with 68 in January. Prices of crops went up 4 points and of livestock 1 point during the month, while prices of commodities other than food that farmers buy jumped 2 points.

Compared with 126 in January, the average farm price of 10 leading crops was placed at 130 as an index number, the highest figure reached since December, 1920, when the index number was 131. Higher cotton, corn, wheat and oats prices, the department said, were mainly responsible for the advances.

The index figure of farm prices for livestock was given as 107 for February, compared with 106 in January, the average for 1922 having been 111 as against 107 in 1921.

The index of commodity prices was placed at 172 for February, as compared with 170 in January, an average of 162 for 1922 and 161 in 1921.

CECIL WANTS U. S. AND GERMANY IN LEAGUE

British Peer Arrives for Score of Lectures in This Country and Canada.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The cause of the League of Nations is the cause of world peace, declared Lord Robert Cecil, foremost British exponent of the league, who arrived yesterday on the Majestic for a month's visit to the United States and Canada.

Lord Robert, who will deliver a score of lectures, said he came to popularize and promote the cause of the league and to smooth out misunderstandings of its functions and work held by the greatest nation which has not joined the international body.

"I should like to see America join the league," he said, "but I am just as strong an advocate of Germany's entrance. In my opinion, Germany would be admitted if she applied. I also would be glad to see Russia come in. It is my impression she would also be admitted if she applied properly, and it would be better for her and for the rest of the world if she were a member."

Displays Enthusiasm.

Lord Robert, tall, thin, with massive rounded shoulders, from which hung loosely a great coat which flapped about his long legs, displayed great enthusiasm in discussing his views with newspaper men.

Lord Robert said he would begin his lecture tour in New York today, speaking first at a private luncheon and later at a dinner at which he will meet owners and editors of national weekly and monthly publications. Later he will speak in Philadelphia, Buffalo, Ottawa, Montreal, Des Moines, Chicago, Louisville, Richmond, Va., Washington and Boston, returning to England on April 27.

"The movement in favor of the league," Lord Robert asserted, "is growing rapidly abroad. The league has functioned without America and can function without her, but it would be a great thing for America and for the rest of the world to have America a member."

Making First Visit.

The British statesman, who is making his first visit here, said he came at the invitation of the Foreign Policy Association, and that he would attempt to study America's attitude toward the league.

He declared he was in favor of America's entrance into the world court, as advised by President Harding recently, and said such a step would be of great advantage to the league, of which the court is a subsidiary organization, and to the cause of world peace.

CITY WILL PAY FOR BERNHARDT FUNERAL

Poverty Assigned as Reason Actress Will Not Be Buried in Belle Isle.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 28.—Throngs of mourners again besieged Sarah Bernhardt's home in the Boulevard Pereire today to gaze for the last time upon the features of the great actress, whose funeral will be held tomorrow noon from the church of St. Francois de Sales, nearby. The death chamber now is a great mass of flowers, the tokens sent by her many friends.

Bernhardt's desire for an extremely simple funeral without the customary orations, which was made known yesterday, is causing some embarrassment to the city authorities, who must modify their plans for a significant and imposing ceremonial program.

Letters and telegrams of condolence continue to arrive at Sarah Bernhardt's home. Among the latest, says Figarto, is the following message from Queen Mother Alexandr aof England to the actress' son, Maurice.

"My heart goes out to you and to your family in the cruel loss you have suffered in the death of your dear and revered mother. I send you my sincere condolence for the great loss which throws into mourning not only yourself but the French nation and the numerous admirers Madame Sarah Bernhardt had in England.

(Signed) "ALEXANDRA."

Another telegram came from the Latin Press Bureau, representing 50 newspapers in the Old and New Worlds.

Poverty is given as the reason that Bernhardt will not be buried in Belle Isle, where many years ago she had a tomb dug in the solid rock. It is explained that shortly before her death, pressed as always for ready money, the actress was obliged to sell the house with the land at Belle Isle and it is suggested now that at some future time permission may be obtained from the new owner to have the body transferred there.

A rented villa in a Paris suburb, which was to have been her summer home, replacing Belle Isle, is bright with fresh paint. On the gate is inscribed as the villa's name, Bernhardt's motto: "Quand Meme" (Never Say Die).

Notwithstanding the fame of Sarah Bernhardt, her family history is more a matter of conjecture than actual knowledge. She herself had said that her father was Dutch and her mother French, which is borne out by her birth certificate, produced when she entered the Conservatoire. Louis Schneider, an authority on French stage history, writing in La Gaulois, says that Sarah Bernhardt was one of eleven sisters, and that her father was a Dutch Jew. He was an export broker and died at an early age. None of Bernhardt's biographies identify her father further. There is no mention made of his having been married more than once and no reference to Sarah's sisters or brothers.

St. Louisan, Once Manager for Bernhardt, Reveals Sidelights of U. S. Tours

Among Edward J. Sullivan's Collection of Souvenirs Is Cablegram From Late Actress Denying Betrothal to Lou Tellegen.

A cablegram from Sarah Bernhardt, denying reports that she was engaged to her leading man, Lou Tellegen, is one of a collection of messages and mementoes which Edward J. Sullivan, manager of the Orpheum Theater, treasures as souvenirs of his acquaintance with the great French actress, which began in 1905. He was her manager on three of her American tours.

The report of the engagement to Tellegen was widely published in 1911. The message to Sullivan, who was then manager of a theater in Chicago, read, in translation:

Good morning, friend. One must not believe all the bad things one hears. After all they are lies. I kiss you. SARAH BERNHARDT.

This report followed Bernhardt's return from her American tour of 1910-11, in which Tellegen had first played in her support.

"She engaged him just as she was leaving France," Sullivan related yesterday. The leading man on whom she was depending struck for more pay, and she would not grant it, so advanced another man and filled his place with Tellegen, who soon became her leading man, and was, in her judgment, the finest Armand who ever played to her Camille. On the steamer, coming over, he learned 11 parts in seven days, and that advanced him rapidly in her favor. Probably the reports of a betrothal resulted from the outings they took together," and Sullivan turned, in his scrapbook, to a picture clipped from a Chicago paper, showing Bernhardt, then 67 years old, and the young leading man, posed on Lookout Mountain, Tenn.

Eager for Adventure.

"Madame was always ready for an outing or an adventure," Sullivan continued. 'I have twice known her, leaving the theater at night, to order her conveyance to follow the engines going to a fire. At one of the Pacific ports she tried to get a ride in a submarine, but was too late to get aboard. She made a balloon flight in France at a time when few persons had enjoyed such an adventure.

"At Coney Island, she led a party of us through all the shows and down the slides and chutes, a crowd following us everywhere.

"While she had little idea of the value of money, and little of the traditional French thrift, she had the practice, common at that time with French actors, of demanding her pay before each performance. About 9 o'clock every night that she played, $1000 had to be placed in her hands. She would pay her company during the evening. After I had gained her confidence, she was persuaded to adopt the American plan of payment every week, but she still paid her company by the day. This plan had its advantages. She did not have to keep books, for she knew who was playing that day, and an actor who did not play was not paid.

"Because of Bernhardt's fame, it was not usually difficult to get newspaper publicity for her; still, it took some effort to get the best and most effective publicity, and on my first tour with her, before I had gained her confidence to the extent that I did later, I insisted that she should give more attention to the requests of newspaper writers for interviews. After she once tried this plan, she was quite ready to continue it.

Trouble Over Interview.

"Some interviewers, fluent enough in soliciting an interview, would become dumb in Madame's presence. I can remember one young woman who could only stammer, 'Madame, may I kiss you?' Also a man from a paper in Worcester, Mass., who could think of nothing to ask but, 'Madame, do you see many Worcester people in Paris?' In such cases, or whenever the interview was not a success because of interruptions, we would furnish the writer enough matter to make a readable interview. This never caused any trouble, but once in Quebec, where Madame saw no one, one paper simply faked a statement reflecting unfavorably on the French Canadian people. Madame got out of the theater that night under a police guard, but as the rest of us drove to the depot we were pelted with fragments of ice, and one woman of the company suffered a cut on the face."

On the tour of 1905, made under Shubert auspices at the time of the warfare between the Klaw & Erlanger and Shubert interests, the opposition undertook to keep Mme. Bernhardt out of the theaters of this country.

"On that tour," Sullivan said, "we played in tents in Dallas, Duluth and Springfield, Mass., and elsewhere in synagogues, skating rinks, boat houses, and at one city over a meat shop. The gross receipts for 31 weeks were more than $1,000,000, the largest of any of her American tours.

Entertained Doomed Men.

"At places where there were practically no stage facilities, we would bill 'Camille,' and play it with a single set, merely moving the furniture about between the acts. In one boathouse where we played, boats and oars were piled about the scene while Armand and Camille made love.

"Madame entered thoroughly into the spirit of the fight, and took the crudities and inconveniences as a joke. The tent at Dallas, where we played first under canvas, pleased her as a new toy pleases a child.

"One of Madame's most cherished American memories was her appearance before 1900 prisoners in San Quentin prison, near San Francisco, on Washington's birthday, 1913. Seven men condemned to death were in the front row. A Frenchman, in for forgery, read an address of greeting. She played a one-act sketch, 'One Christmas Night,' by her son, Maurice Bernhardt.

"On the same trip, Madame declined an offer of any sum to appear at an entertainment arranged by Mrs. Harold McCormick (the first Mrs. McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller), at the Congress Hotel, in Chicago. This refusal was in preference to breaking Madame's schedule in the Northwest, as Madame would have liked to accept the offer. As she was leaving Chicago to meet her schedule, she wired her son, Maurice, telling him she had purchased a ranch near Colorado Springs as a gift for him. He did not show the expected interest in the ranch, and the purchase did not go through.

Purchased Hungry Dog.

"Madame had 11 dogs at home, and two or more on tour, and it was difficult to keep her from adding to

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

A Bipartisan City Administration.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WE are approaching one of the most important periods in the uplift and development of St. Louis. Our people have voted millions of dollars in bonds with no thought of partisanship in its expenditure. As there was no politics in voting this large sum of money, in order to be just and fair in the expenditure of the proceeds of this bond issue, let us in the election of members for the council next month, make it nonpartisan, having only one view—the betterment of St. Louis.

The Republican party has the entire city government from Mayor to the white swans sweeping the streets. Would it not be just, fair and safer to elect Mr. Currie, President of the council and a number of Democrats of the various wards of the council? I call the women in their good judgment to answer, is it not best, is it not safer for the public good, in the expenditure of this large sum of money, not to entrust it to one party alone, that has been in control for the last 15 years? It has been conceded by the profoundest statesmen of our system of government that the safety of our Republic largely depended on a strong minority. With our $21,000,000 per annum, outside of the proceeds of the bonds nearly $14,000,000 are consumed by office holders.

Absolutism nestles in the corridors of the City Hall. It is the same kind of absolutism that has brought old Europe quivering in fear and want. The same condition prevailed for about 20 years in Chicago. Thomsonism of the Republican party has been thrown overboard and the people's nonpartisan government has been established. Kielism has prevailed in St. Louis for 10 years—it is about time to elect somebody that does not wear his collar, and let us have a nonpartisan view of the books of the city in the expenditure of this vast sum of money. I do not charge Mr. Kiel with corruption and the thousand of office-holders under him. I would be unjust, however, in my 50 years of observation, to say that all who hold office under him are white angels of purity. This is no question of national or State politics, but a question only for the betterment of St. Louis in the expenditure of a large amount of money. I am one who does not believe that party politics makes a man capable or honest.

Why Russia Doesn't Disarm.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN an editorial in the Post-Dispatch the question is asked, why Deba does not suggest to Russia to destroy every infernal instrument and lovingly stretch out its flower-laden arms to the rest of Europe? Russia has great cause to be thankful for her armament. Having repulsed the armies of three nations—one of them sent by that ultra-pacifist Woodrow Wilson, to show his sincerity in the matter of "self-determination for all nations"—Russia may be pardoned if she is somewhat skeptical of the result of such a pacific demonstration as the editor suggests.

Nor is Russia blind to the exhibition that is being presented to the world, of an unarmed and helpless nation that is being invaded and despoiled by the most polite nation on earth. If Russia were disarmed, there would be a rush of the predatory Powers into her territory that in point of speed would put our "Cherokee strip" and other free-hand "rushes" to shame.

And the robbery would be performed in the name of humanity, morality, culture, etc., much after the manner of a highwayman looting the pockets of a drunken victim and delivering a lecture upon the evils of intemperance during the process. T. N.

When Government Is Intolerable.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

PUBLIC sentiment, as represented in real Americans who believe in the Constitution of the United States and who believe that the immortal First Amendment is more than a mere scrap of paper, will applaud your editorial of the 12th headed, "An Unanswerable Appeal," in which amnesty for political prisoners in this country is urged. The editorial is one of the most straightforward, clean-cut, logical discussions I have read on the subject. It is especially of value, coming as it does from one of the most influential newspapers in the country.

Those who care to have the information can learn that the First Amendment denies to the Congress any power whatever to choke free speech and press, and it provides no exception even for war time. Can our Government not withstand free speech and open discussion of questions which are uppermost in the minds of the people? Free speech, free press, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are inherent and inalienable rights under our form of government. We are advised by no less authority than the Declaration of Independence that "whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it and to institute new government."

MARTIN A. DILLMON.

PERSECUTION FOR OPINION.

The attempt to invoke official persecution for opinion in the United States is in full swing. Possibly encouraged by the trial of communists in progress at St. Joseph, Mich., organizations and individuals have inaugurated a campaign to induce the Department of Justice to proceed against prominent persons under statutes which prohibit "criminal correspondence with foreign Governments," "inciting rebellion and insurrection" and "seditious conspiracy to overthrow by force the Government of the United States."

The most odious aspect of the movement is a call made upon the Attorney-General to snoop into the affairs of a considerable list of citizens, many of them distinguished, who have run against tory displeasure because of their liberalism. Among the citizens proscribed for investigation "to determine whether offenses against the existence of the Government or other offenses against Federal statutes have been committed" are Frank P. Walsh, Capt. Paxton Hibben, Max Eastman and Albert Rhys Williams.

Mr. Walsh, chief counsel for William Z. Foster in the Michigan trial, is a Missourian, born and educated in St. Louis, and is famed for his civic service as well as his achievements as counsel for labor leaders and radicals. He enjoyed the confidence of President Wilson to the extent that in 1913 he was appointed by the latter to the chairmanship of the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations.

Capt. Hibben is well known in St. Louis. Though still a young man his record of notable activity occupies nearly half a column in "Who's Who." This record includes diplomatic posts in various parts of the world, a distinguished service as war correspondent for high-class newspapers and magazines, a military service which led to his promotion to a captaincy and honorable discharge, and the secretaryship of the Russian Commission of Near East Relief. The heinous connection which places him under the suspicion of militant patriotism at Washington is his executive secretaryship of the Committee for Relief of Russian Children.

Max Eastman, the well-known editor of the Liberator, is a brilliant scholar, philosopher and writer whose idealism has led him into attitudes more dangerous to himself than to his country. Williams is a writer and student of social affairs.

The communication addressed to the Attorney-General, which seeks an investigation of the acts of these men, is signed by R. M. Whitney, L. A. Coolidge and Archibald Hopkins. The first of these may be a fine gentleman, but "Who's Who" neglects to mention his achievements or his name. L. A. Coolidge is director of 10 large corporations, including the United Shoe Machinery Co., made famous by antitrust prosecution in the United States Supreme Court. Archibald Hopkins is a lawyer, 81 years old.

These names and records are cited as indicating the tendency of men of one opinion to persecute, by law if possible, men of another opinion. The antisyndicalist law of Michigan, as well as those of other states, is itself not above the suspicion of having been actuated by this motive. Governments must protect themselves against overthrow by violence, but a certain distinction in the quality of the doctrine of those who seek what they believe to be a better social order and those who seek merely pelf and power, such as the Latin-American revolutionists, should, in common sense, be recognized. Persecution for opinion is a far more serious menace to the integrity of the American republic than the activities of a forlorn handful of communists driven to the sand dunes to hold a convention.

WARNER'S LAUNDRY PRICES.

Senator Frank Warner is a very brave man, or else a very blind man. He has voluntarily accepted the onus of high laundry rates in St. Louis, from which there is no appeal because the antimonopoly law of the State does not apply to laundries. It would apply to laundries today had not Senator Warner intervened to save the laundries from liability to prosecution whenever they combine to gouge the people.

The bill that would have made laundry service come under the law as do so-called commodities proper was introduced in the House by Representatives Roos and Rollins of St. Louis, passed the House, went to the Senate, was referred to a committee and was reported out at a late hour. Due to the opposition of Senator Warner it was killed. We do not know the motives which actuated Senator Warner. He has declined to explain them. It is a secret which he thought the people were not entitled to know. He must either have thought that the people wanted to be taxed for the enrichment of the laundries or that they were such boobs they would not know when they had been stung by a man they elected and paid for occupying office.

Of course, Senator Warner may be mistaken. At least we hope the people who live in his district will remember that he is their Senator. His district is the Twenty-ninth and includes Wards 10, 11, 12, 13, most of 14, 24 and about half of 9. It comprises the southern portion of the city, bounded by Oakland, King's highway and Magnolia and a line extending approximately straight east to the river. Only the laundries are cheering Senator Warner.

"FORMAL ARRANGEMENTS."

Secretary Hughes was unable to accept the invitation to the fifth Pan-American conference in Santiago, Chile, but by way of regrets sent a message of good wishes to the convention which reviewed with satisfaction the cordial relations existing among the Governments and peoples of this hemisphere.

One statement in Mr. Hughes' greetings is likely to attract especial attention. It is this: "Present experiences, reinforcing the lessons of history, cause fresh recognition of the futility of mere formal arrangements in the absence of good will" • • • Is this a sort of stealthy, below-the-belt jab at the League of Nations? Whether it is or not, the didactics of Mr. Hughes could be shown to be a rather vulnerable reasoning.

How is good will to come into being unless by contact and co-operation, which, if not generated by formal arrangements, are certainly stimulated by the associations which such arrangements connote? It is easy enough to disparage "formal arrangements," but it is from such arrangements and from the conferences where they were drafted and entered into, that the present good will and friendship among the nations of this hemisphere sprang.

So with the "formal arrangements" embodied in the League covenant. Those agreements bring the nations together through their representatives, establish closer relationships, enlist them in common efforts, unite them under the banner of co-operative undertaking—in a word, create the conditions out of which good will and friendship are born.

The "formal arrangements" which Mr. Hughes dismisses as futile, serve as introductions. They are the first step towards good relations.

THE GANG MENACE.

The gang wars have reached a point of contempt for law and order and become such a menace to the public that every legitimate resource of law and law enforcement forces must be used to stop them and punish the gangsters.

The running down of a boy by a gang machine last Saturday is only one phase of the danger to life caused by motor bandits. The reckless exchange of shots from pistols and shotguns fired from racing automobiles endangers the lives of innocent persons. The shooting of gangsters by gangsters, although ruthless violations of law and order, might be borne as a blessing in disguise, but their wars on the streets are intolerable. These men are not only murderous criminals, but open outlaws—beyond the pale of law. Their refusal to testify and their intimidation of witnesses by warning and shooting make their punishment for crime extremely difficult, but the difficulty of the task should spur the police to concentrated activity in accomplishing their arrest. The courts should vigorously supplement police action.

Vigilance committees are the product of the breakdown of law and order and a reign of lawlessness. We do not believe St. Louis has reached that point, but we are approaching it under the reckless lawlessness of the gangs. Our salvation from a war upon warring gangsters lies in law enforcement.

THE SEIZURE OF THE FLEET.

The Government's seizure of the Goltra fleet of barges and towboats is pronounced by Federal Judge Faris as "the most high-handed and outrageous proceeding imaginable." Against this severe and superlative verdict the facts may be pleaded.

The facts are these: The Government built this fleet at a cost of $4,000,000 and leased it to Mr. Goltra, who contracted to operate it on the upper Mississippi. He never has operated it at all. During the years of this lease there have been times when the fleet could have been used advantageously by the Government barge line on the lower river, and to the great benefit of shippers. It has not been used. The Government has protested against the costly disuse of this property, the business interests of this city have urged the Government to terminate the lease, efforts have been made to get an expression from Mr. Goltra as to his plans. Protest, criticism and inquiry have all been fruitless. Mr. Goltra, impervious to it all, stood pat on his rights as lessee, but apparently was untroubled by any sense of obligation. At length the Government served notice on Mr. Goltra to surrender the property. He refused to do it. Finally, on advice of the Attorney-General that Mr. Goltra had forfeited his lease, the Government took possession of the fleet. Mr. Goltra tried to prevent this action with an injunction, but the seizure was an accomplished fact before the injunction was issued.

When nothing definite, either by way of action or purpose, was forthcoming, the Government did the only thing that was left to do.

Meanwhile, it should be remembered that, if the Government has wronged him Mr. Goltra can seek redress at law. He has not been denied his day in court.

OUTLAWING THE WEED.

Taking its cue from the Volsteadian doctrine that the human esophagus is a proper object of paternal legislation, the Utah Legislature has extended official guardianship to the nasal passages. It has enacted an anticigarette law, and thus the package of "makin's" joins the bottle in outlawry, if not in exile. Four prominent citizens have been arrested for lighting after-luncheon cigars in a public restaurant.

Already, of course, the law's sponsors have been confronted with the superhuman task of enforcing the statute, and pleas for its observance have a familiar ring. We quote from the Mormon paper, The Deseret News, which says: "The anticigarette law which is at present on the statute books should be as sacred to the people of the State as any other law on the statute books." In other words, the law may be oppressive, absurd and without any moral justification, but it is a law, and because it is a law, it is "sacred." It does not need to be right; mere enactment confers sanctity on it. And if any man be unable to reconcile himself to the conclusion that a thing can be at once sacred and idiotic, that is his bad luck.

The process of wrapping other points of anatomy in the mantle of the law doubtless will progress logically, and from taste to fashion is a short step. The esophagus blazed the trail. The stomach having been redeemed from alcohol and nicotine, it stands to reason that it should also be saved from the ravages of pancakes and blueberry pie. More bobbed-hair and short-skirt legislation is in order.

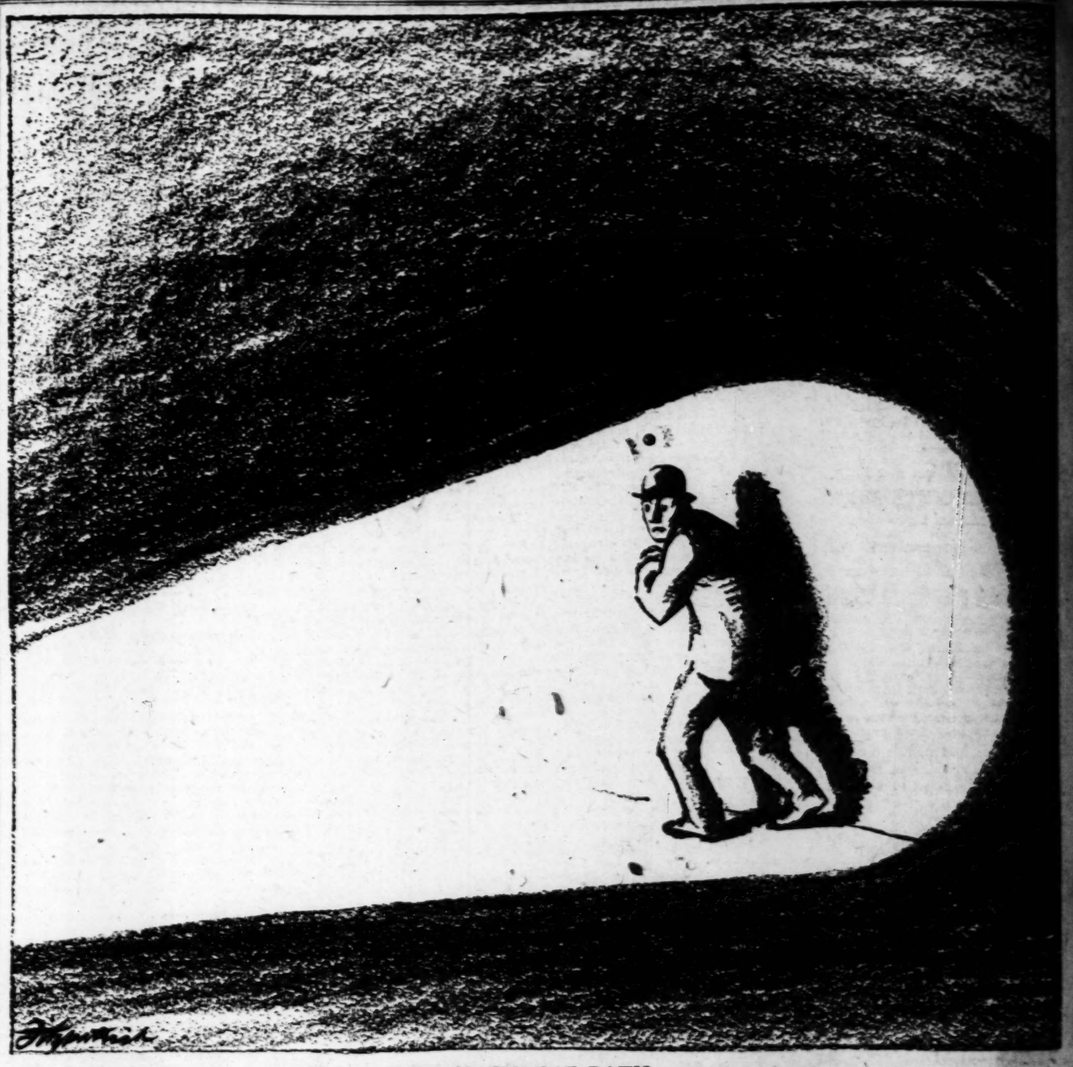

POLITICS AND THE SCHOOLS.

St. Louis has fought hard to free its School Board from politics. It now has the machinery to prevent party alignments and spoils politics, but it depends on the intelligence and vigilance of the voters whether that machinery shall work effectively for the elimination of individual candidates who would serve the purposes of politicians and political machines.

The Nonpartisan School Board Election Committee has made it easy for the voter next Tuesday to vote in the true interests of the public schools. It is not easy for the average voter, without reliable advice, to pick out the best six candidates from a list of 20. The nonpartisan committee professes to have done this for the voter. Perhaps it has. We do not undertake to dispute it, nor yet to agree with it in full.

There may be other good candidates. Miss Rosa Hesse, whose dismissal from a prominent position in the schools nearly two years ago caused a furore, is a candidate for election to the board. Six candidates will be supported by the American Labor Party.

All candidates run as nonpartisans, and ballots will be without party designation. Yet the nonpartisan committee fears that persons who would bring politics to the School Board might be elected. The list furnished by the nonpartisan committee will be of service to those not having other basis for an opinion of the candidates. So far as known the chosen six are estimable gentlemen and one estimable woman.

MR. ANTWINE'S OPINION.

"THE picturesque seizure of the Goltra fleet by the War Department and the spectacle of one department of Government pursuing another down the river takes river transportation out of the realm of propaganda and makes it a respectable business enterprise," Mr. Antwine said.

"This is the way the railroads were built. We think of that great era in which they were projected not in terms of construction crews pushing into the wilds, but in terms of lawyers rushing from one court to another and bailiffs wildly waving injunctions. No railroad was ever built except by virtue of these phenomena, and we respect the railroad business as much because it was born in inscrutable conflict as because we have our money invested in it.

"The river has lacked all this. Until the War Department laid violent hand upon the Goltra fleet and made off with it followed by Federal bailiffs, the river had not displayed any of the phenomena commonly associated in the public mind with transportation. Nothing had ever been seized under cover of darkness and made off with in contempt of a solemn court. The respect for everybody else's property and everybody else's rights has pervaded the river revival to such a degree that the public could not take it seriously, however it tried.

"It must be recalled that the public had been schooled in the din of railroad construction. It had known respected railroad men who had been in jail, and had come to regard success in the railroad business as the reward of piracy. All the great railroad fortunes resulted from what is popularly known as freebooting, and no great railroad system but was conceived in iniquity.

"What a contrast to all this has the river been, opposing to bright deeds of daring only dull statistics! Was it any wonder that people were bored by it, that shippers had to be prodded to support it, that a river bloc had to be organized in Congress to finance it, and that whereas the public mind was thunderously directed to the river's future what it actually dwelt upon was the river's past?

"The explanation of the public's apathy was the impression gained from an entire absence of dishonest deeds that river transportation was to be an honest business. If that were to be so, the public knew it could not succeed. The seizure of the Goltra fleet and the flight down the river changes all this. The river revival casts off the dullness of moral perfection and assumes the lively colors of sinful success.

"Let us all be heartily glad of the change," Mr. Antwine said. "It means that the patient will live."

ASPIRATION.

THE waves race toward the shore
Driven by forces—
Forever seeking—
Spending themselves.

The wind in restless quest
Shrieks toward the hills and dies
Forever rising but to faint again.

The green seed reaches for the sky
In futile longing—
And I?—And I?
What am I but the wave, the wind, the seed?

MARY STERLING.

I. I.—OI! OI!

Did something like a bent pin cause "Ivan Ivanovitch" (John Johnson) to jump up suddenly and trundle his warwhoop in my direction?

I don't expect much truth-telling from a fellow like I. I. He says I expressed my enjoyment of "the atheistic writings of Socrates," etc. I never made use of any such expression. No. I didn't know the schoolmen of the Dark Ages came near canonizing Aristotle. Gee whiz, how ignorant I am! And what an awful fate Aristotle so narrowly missed! Am aware that the schoolmen held Aristotle in high esteem—not, however, on account of his natural philosophy, which was quite evolutionary, but on account of his masterly work on logic. This guided the schoolmen when they debated how many thousand angels could dance on the point of a needle.

I. I. shoots nine questions at me. That's nothing. Any child can ask more questions than Edison himself can answer. Are evolution and creation repugnant to each other? There are partial evolutionists who say they are not; there are theologians who benevolently admit the truth of evolution up to a certain point only. I do not agree with these. Denying absolutely that something can be made or created out of nothing, I say that evolution and creation are irreconcilably at variance with each other. The universe has always existed in some shape or other, and you cannot honestly and squarely think that there was a time when nothing at all existed. There was never any "beginning of things."

Have I convinced I. I.? Not at all. You can't make a man who is color-blind and has a blind spot to boot see everything as in truth it is.

Would suggest that "Ivan Ivanovitch" go down to Arkansas and help Mr. Bryan suppress by law the ungodly habit the pollywog has of naturally changing into a frog!

SPRING'S DAWN.

There is a glow before dawns; so is there a glow before the dawn of spring; and it is part of that which makes winter holy: it is the soft gray dove, the meadow lark, the cardinal (if that gay young fellow is not too red to be a portion of holiness), the quail which live and sing among us before the little green shoots steal up to link the sedate season to his light-hearted young bride; and it is the sun which is making the golden-rod smile expectantly, or which makes the little white parasites glisten and the bush clover grow for some, most of the winter. So much is there in this in-between which perhaps we may overlook; why was it only yesterday (and yesterday wore a tinge yet of winter) that I saw a robin and a red-winged blackbird in altercation over a nesting place; this, according to the laws of birds (how little we do know, may be, of their inner lives), must have been the burden of their encounter, though they were friendly enough to be having merely a conversation over current events; when they saw me they might have whispered this idea: "Here comes a little event which may injure us."

Iridescent-headed purple grackles, little gray-striped (or are they checkered?) chickadees crawl confidently up the trees; the winds are slowly growing warmer; the air is soft, ye who have seen have beheld the small blades of grass graciously coming up through the brown stubble; ye who have not, behold them! See the trees extending out to thee the acceptable budding of spring; her dawn is here, the seed-pods of white wild indigo are tinkling the wedding song of winter and spring.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

MOREHOUSE PARISH.

From the New York Evening Post.

FAILURE of the special grand jury to return indictments for the Mer Rouge murders is not surprising. It has been asserted all along that the jury was composed in large part of members of the Ku Klux Klan or its sympathizers. What is surprising is that even a jury so composed should submit a report which refers only to the kidnaping of the five men and carefully ignores mention of the fact that two of them were subsequently murdered. This formal avoidance of the issue will not diminish the belief that the failure of the jury to find indictments was not due to its failure to find the culprits. Morehouse Parish is Morehouse Parish. To its unenviable distinction as a lynching center it has now added notoriety as a refuge for the lawless activities of the Ku Klux Klan. Gov. Parker, undaunted by the grand jury's virtual defiance of the State, has promptly started fresh proceedings. A new grand jury is to be impaneled and more charges of assault and battery, deportation, and lying in wait with dangerous weapons are to be pressed. To Morehouse Parish this program may look like a persistent effort to discredit the locality. In reality it is the exact opposite. Nothing would cleanse the reputation of the district so quickly as an exhibition of Jersey justice. Morehouse Parish would then stand as the name of a place which had refused to cloak the crimes of anybody, no matter how prominent or powerful. • • • The outbreak of violence instituted by the klan or encouraged by its activities has been severely checked. The threat of a vast organization taking the law into its own hands and making lynching a regularized and nationwide method of giving effect to either a distorted public feeling or private revenge is a threat no longer.

RESULT OF GOOD WORK.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

ANNA RENICH of Milford, N. H., who "invented" porterhouse steak, has passed away at the age of 87. The name was derived from a hotel, the Porter House, in North Cambridge, Mass., where she was chef. Because she did one thing well, like the Parker House specialist who made the rolls, or the first man who prepared chicken a la King, or Aunt Delia Torrey, who made the pies beloved by William H. Taft, her fame has gone to the ends of the earth. Again we have an illustration of Emerson's saying, to be found in its true form in the eighth volume of his journals, page 328: "If a man has good corn, or wood, or boards, or pigs to sell, or can make better chairs or knives, crayons or church organs, than anybody else, you will find a broad, hard beaten road to his house, though it be in the woods." The Gilbert and Sullivan hero polished the handle of the big front door so well that he became first lord of the admiralty. A Samuel Rea starts out as rodman and keeps on climbing till he heads the Pennsylvania system. A Charles M. Schwab begins as a steel mill hand; a Robley Evans scrubs and paints as a "gob"; an Andrew Carnegie sits at the chattering telegraph, and the old story of climbing a steep ascent is told again. As the song says, "You can't keep a good man down, no matter how hard you try." Charlotte, in Goethe's "Wilhelm Meister," is world renowned for the way she cut bread and butter. Anne Boleyn sliced meat and is in the hall of epicurean fame. The moral is, that if one keeps on trying there is always a chance of seeing his name on the lid of a cigar box or the prow of a harbor tug.

AMERICAN CABARET GIRL TO WED EARL

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, March 28.—The youthful Earl of Northesk and Miss Jessica Brown, formerly of the Ziegfeld Follies, yesterday admitted they were engaged, according to the Evening News. The paper says the wedding may take place very soon.

"We have not yet decided the date," declared the Earl, "and I suppose the engagement is still unofficial, but we will certainly be married whatever happens."

Miss Brown declined to discuss details, saying she is sailing for America on the Olympic today to see her parents in Buffalo. She added she wanted them to hear of her engagement from herself first. The young actress came to London to star in a cabaret.

Her fiance, who will not be 22 until next September, is an officer in the Coldstream Guards. He succeeded in 1921 to his title and the $750,000 estate his father left. Northesk is a Scottish earldom. There has been considerable speculation over the possibility of their engagement as they have been seen together often. Almost simultaneously with the report of their engagement came the report that the Earl had been slightly injured in an automobile smashup yesterday. He probably will be confined to the house several days.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Jessica Brown is a native of Buffalo where she studied aesthetic and classical dancing as a child. After dancing in a few up-State cabarets she came to this city in 1916 and entered vaudeville. Her first appearance on Broadway was made in the midnight show of the Knickerbocker Grill. She caught the eye of George M. Cohan and he put her in his "Cohan Revue." After that she had dancing parts in George V. Hobart's "Loyalty," "Gloriania," "A Lonely Romeo," "The Girl from Home," the Winter Garden production "Cinderella on Broadway" and in 1921 and 1922 in the Ziegfeld "Follies" and "Midnight Frolic."

SECOND OF PRINCESS MARY'S BRIDESMAIDS IS BETROTHED

Lady Mary Cambridge Is Reported Engaged to the Marquis of Worcester.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 28.—Lady Mary Cambridge, daughter of the Marquis of Cambridge, is engaged to the Marquis of Worcester, heir to the Duke of Beaufort, according to the Daily Express.

Assuming the accuracy of the unofficial announcement, Lady Mary is the second of Princess Mary's bridesmaids to become engaged since the latter's wedding. As the Queen's niece and intimately connected with royal circles, she is better known to the public than was Lady Elisabeth Bowles-Lyons when her engagement to the Duke of York was announced. She is again to act as bridesmaid next month, when she will be one of the attendants of Lady Elisabeth at her marriage.

The Marquis of Worcester is 23 years of age. He was educated at the military college at Sandhurst and served in the Royal Horse Guards. He is the only son of the ninth Duke of Beaufort, whose title and estates he will, in the ordinary course, inherit.

BULK OF LAMBERT ESTATE LEFT IN TRUST FOR CHILDREN BY WILL

Other Bequests Made in Instrument Filed Today; Died in Hot Springs, Ark., Friday.

The will of Marion L. J. Lambert, wealthy vice president of the Lambert Pharmacal Co., who died of pneumonia at Hot Springs, Ark., last Friday night, was filed for probate today. It leaves the bulk of his estate in trust for his children, Mrs. Warne Leduc Niedringhaus, Marion L. J. Lambert Jr. and Stafford Lambert. No estimate of the value of the estate was obtained today.

Lambert made bequests of $10,000 to Frank Miller of Monocqua, Wis., and $2500 to S. C. Buckingham of St. Louis. The will was made exactly a year before his death.

FREDERICK H. SCUDDER DIES

Vice President of Grocery Company Expires Following Operation.

Frederick H. Scudder, 43 years old, vice president of the Scudder-Gale Grocery Co., died today at 1:30 a. m. at St. Anthony's Hospital. He was operated on last week for gallstones and his death followed a second operation to relieve complications ensuing from the first.

Scudder was unmarried and lived with his mother, Mrs. William A. Scudder, at 4043 Washington boulevard. His father was one of the founders of the grocery company.

ENGAGED TO MARRY

—Murillo Photograph.

MISS ANNIE LAURIE PAGE.

Social Items

Invitations were received in St. Louis this morning for the wedding of Miss Renza Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Davis Brown of Natchez, Miss., and Edward Holmes Taussig, to take place at 8 o'clock the evening of Wednesday, April 11, in the Trinity Church of Natchez. A reception is to follow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, and Mr. Taussig and his bride will make their home at the Houston Country Club, Houston, Tex., after their honeymoon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Taussig of 4377 McPherson avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Taussig will attend the ceremony. Miss Brown visited at the home of her fiance's parents in February and was greatly entertained. The bride-elect was educated at the National Cathedral School in Washington, D. C. Mr. Taussig served overseas as a Captain in the field artillery during the war.

Mrs. George W. Niedringhaus of 10 Westmoreland place will return home next Monday or Tuesday from Hot Springs, Va. Her sister, Mrs. George M. Higinbotham of St. George Mansions, Toronto, Canada, who was expected here for the Easter season, will arrive later in April.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Duke Thompson of 5045 Lindell boulevard have gone to Culver Military Academy at Culver, Ind., to visit their son, Rumsey Green Thompson, a student there. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson's daughter, Miss Mabel Green Thompson, will return home Wednesday from an extended visit in the East. She has been the guest of Miss Janet Mabon in New York and Eleanor Flagg at Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Mrs. John Parkman Woods of 5291 Lindell boulevard will have as her guest for a week Mrs. Edward McMackin of Chicago. The visitor will arrive tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Woods have recently returned from a several weeks' motor tour of Florida.

Mrs. Warren Bailey of 4556 West Pine boulevard has gone to Fayette, Mo., where she was called by the death of her brother-in-law, and Mr. Bailey will join his wife tomorrow. Miss Carolyn Bailey will return home Tuesday from a month's trip to Cambridge and Charleston, S. C., and New York, where she is at present. She made the trip with a former classmate at Vassar College and the latter's mother.

Mrs. Samuel C. Davis of 13 Westmoreland place will return home April 8 from a visit in Hot Springs, Va., with her daughter, Miss Alita Davis, who attends an Eastern finishing school.

Miss Eleanor Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Richards of 5272 Washington boulevard, is visiting her uncle, Mark Dodd, in New York City and is expected home in a week. She has spent the past six weeks in the East and has been much entertained.

Mrs. Louis B. Woodward of 6223 Westminster place has returned home from Brunswick, Mo., where she was called by the death of her father, Mr. Magruder.

MISS IRENE SMITH TO WED ARKANSAS MAN

Engagement to Sidney Y. West Announced Informally—Wedding in June.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made this morning of the engagement of Miss Irene Smith, daughter of H. T. T. Smith of 55 Kingsbury place, and Sidney Y. West, son of Mrs. Benjamin G. West of Little Rock, Ark. Because of the recent death of the prospective bridegroom's father, the announcement was made informally.

The wedding will take place in June, and Mr. West will take his bride to Little Rock to reside.

Miss Smith is a graduate of Mary Institute and attended the Skidmore College at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. She has served a number of times as maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet Ball, and has been active socially since her debut. She is a sister of Mrs. John W. Fraser and Mrs. Arnold V. Morrow.

Cards were received yesterday from Mrs. William J. Porter, written in Constantinople early in March, in which she told of visiting the Muscovite, a Russian cafe, where Russian Princesses dance, and Russian dancers provide the entertainment. She also wrote of a dinner dance on board ship, when Admiral Bristel, commander of the American fleet at Constantinople, and delegate to the peace conference at Lausanne, was an honor guest. Mrs. Porter is touring Europe with a party of St. Louisans.

Mrs. Howard V. Stephens of 4414 West Pine boulevard entertained a group of friends at luncheon yesterday in honor of Mrs. Atwell T. Lincoln, who recently returned from Europe, after an absence of 18 months.

Mrs. D. B. Hussey of 5811 Cabanne avenue will leave St. Louis Thursday for New York to spend Easter in Atlantic City with her daughter, Miss Helen Hussey, who is attending Miss Spence's School in New York.

Mrs. Carl A. Niederlander of 4942 West Pine boulevard has departed for New Orleans, La., to visit her sister, Mrs. Ossian Williams.

Mrs. C. D. Purdon of 6157 Kingsbury boulevard will entertain the Confederate Dames Chapter, U. D. C., at a meeting to be held April 2. Mrs. David E. Woods and Mrs. Phil Frayser are to be assistant hostesses. Mrs. Robert Lund is president of the chapter and Mrs. A. Richardson corresponding secretary.

Mrs. J. M. Hutchison of 4021 Flad avenue will entertain the members of her bridge club at Riverview Club next Tuesday from 2 to 5 o'clock. Mrs. Hutchison will also be hostess at a bridge luncheon at Hotel Chase April 6.

Miss Helen Gratz, daughter of Benjamin Gratz of 5155 Lindell boulevard, will return home from Hot Springs, Va., with Miss Alice Scott and the latter's mother, Mrs. Henry Clarkson Scott, for the Dartmouth College Glee Club concert April 6 at Hotel Chase.

Mrs. George H. Murch will give a bridge luncheon Easter Monday at her home, 7161 Pershing avenue, in honor of Miss Bess Power and Miss Dorothy Dell, both of whom are to be brides of next month. There will be 10 tables for cards. Miss Power, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Vincent Power of 5114 Enright avenue, will be married April 23 to Eugene Simon of Winona, Minn. Her sister, Mrs. Robert J. Koehr of Evanston, Ill., will arrive in St. Louis for the wedding and the pre-wedding parties. Miss Dell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dell of 5121 Enright avenue. She is to become the bride of John Sayre of New York. The exact date for the ceremony has not been set. Miss Dell is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

E. H. BOEHNKEN DIES WHEN PLAYING GOLF

End Comes to Manager of Crane & Co., on Bellerive Course.

Edward H. Boehnken, 67 years old, for the last 23 years St. Louis manager for Crane & Co., fell dead of heart disease yesterday afternoon on the course of the Bellerive Country Club.

He was playing golf with George M. Block, president of the Missouri Portland Cement Co., and had driven from the fourteenth tee. The fairway ascends a rather steep hill. Block's drive was in a different direction and Boehnken, alone, began the ascent of a path constructed to ease the climb. When he reached the top he toppled over. A physician was playing the course and came, in response to summons. Boehnken died about 10 mihutes after falling. He had complained of heart pains Sunday when returning from church.

Boehnken was born in Poland and came to America when 18 years old, finding his first employment in Chicago. He was in the steel and affiliated industries for 40 years. He is survived by his widow and two daughters.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow from the family residence, 5033 Washington boulevard. Burial will be in Philadelphia. Boehnken was a member of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Hospital and a vestryman of St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Fellow members of those boards and of other organizations of which he was member will act as pallbearers.

It is the distinguishing characteristic of a type of superlative motoring made possible by the high standards that have governed Packard for twenty-four years.

All in all there is a degree of comfort enjoyed in the Single-Six hitherto unknown in a medium weight car.

Thanks both to engineering skill and manufacturing resources, these peculiarly Packard qualities are combined with a degree of economy never before attained by cars of the finer class.

Fort Worth Victim Says He Never Saw Her Before—She Declares She Got the Right Man.

By the Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 28.—C. E. Myers, 34 years old, giving his address as Frederick, Ok., was shot three times this morning at 8:15 as he was entering a building on Taylor street where he was employed. A young woman was taken in custody by police. She had been seated for sometime in a closed automobile in front of the building and then was seen to walk up and down the block, revolver in hand. Myers said before he died at 12:30 that he never saw the woman before.

He has been working here for the last few months, coming from Amarillo. He has a family in Frederick.

The woman, when taken to the District Attorney's office gave the name of Mrs. Goldie White. Beyond saying she got the right man, Mrs. White would not talk. She is 33 years of age.

the number. Once in New Orleans, she picked up a dog which looked hungry, and when the owner came along, she gave him $20 for the animal. Airedales were her favorites."

Following the tour of 1905, Sullivan was Mme. Bernhardt's guest at her castle at Belle Isle, France. There Madame kept open house at all times, he relates, and her salutations and farewells were as dramatic and as full of feeling for those whom she saw several times a day as for those who were just arriving or departing.

In 1912, when Sullivan and Miss Beatrice Pleiss were married, Mme. Bernhardt stood beside the bride in a Chicago church as matron of honor. In subsequent years, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan received many messages of greeting and affection from her. One telegram, sent while she was on a later tour, under another management, is framed on the wall of Sullivan's office. "I am almost tempted to leave America immediately because you are not with me," it reads. "I kiss you both."

Manager Sullivan has been directed by the management of the Orpheum Circuit to arrange for a short memorial talk in Mme. Bernhardt's honor on this week's bill, in view of the fact that she was introduced to the vaudeville stage in this country by the Orpheum Circuit. The message adds: "We are perfecting plans for a memorial to be personally borne to Mme. Bernhardt's tomb and erected as an imperishable tribute from the Orpheum Circuit. A contest will be held in each city for the best design for this memorial.

the Republican platform, I don't want to win," he said.

Neun Refers to Opponent.

Questions asked by Currie about issues arising in the campaign were again referred to by Neun as "foolish." Answering a query by Currie if Neun considered it proper for city employes to have a holiday on election day and work at the polls for the Republican ticket, Neun said, "that day is a legal holiday, declared so by the Legislature, and the men are permitted to do as they desire. If they want to serve their party, they have that right."

He said the former method of electing Aldermen by wards had been abandoned for the present one of election by city-wide vote, in the interest of better government. This change was made, he recalled, by vote of the people.

"If the Democrats haven't enough good men, nor votes to get them elected, it is not my fault," Neun said.

Neun and Currie are to speak before the City Club at noon tomorrow, and Currie has challenged Neun to debate the question of minority representation. Neun has accepted.

some states where prohibition was formerly had, crime has increased. This may be, I think, due to the manner of handling the liquor question. In New York, for example, where prohibition is something rather new and, perhaps, not yet a success, crime, however, has diminished actually over, say, 1917. And this is true in other 'wet' centers.

"There is inevitably a crime wave after a war, as history shows. Had it not been for prohibition, this wave would have engulfed the country, bringing about a condition of unparalleled depravity."

Homemade Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The Best Cough Medicine You Ever Used. A Family Supply Easily and Quickly Made. Saves About $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few minutes. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Lifebuoy is Red—the natural color of pure, unbleached palm-fruit oil.

Keep it always ready at every place where there is running water.

Why Does Every Mother Dread Dirt?

Generations before scientists had discovered anything about disease germs, every mother knew that dirt was dangerous.

You mothers are doctors by instinct—health doctors. Your task is to keep the family well. That is why you hate and fear dirt—why you must be interested in Lifebuoy.

Years ago, the world's largest soap manufacturers devoted months of laboratory research to producing a scientific, perfect health soap; a soap which not only would cleanse and soften the skin but which would also protect skin and bodily health from the hidden dangers lurking in dirt.

Think of all the dirt your children may touch at school and during play. Every junk pile fascinates them. Think of the stray dogs and cats they pet—the foul city dust they grind into hands, knees and faces. Children touch everything—yet who touched it before?

Lifebuoy Combats Dirt

What a comfort it must be, when the children come home, to know that the rich, creamy, healthful lather of Lifebuoy is purifying and protecting every pore of their little bodies. Not merely washing off the surface grime—but actually guarding against infection.

Lifebuoy is more than soap—it is a health habit. Homes where Lifebuoy is used regularly are protected against contagion by scientific cleanliness.

Pure and Bland

Lifebuoy is as pure and bland as soap can be made—soothing, beautifying—and an efficient deodorant.

The rich, wholesome oil which is squeezed from the flesh of palm-fruit gives to the lather its firm, creamy quality. Cocoanut oil lends its peculiarly grateful skin-food value. There is not a trace of free-alkali. Lifebuoy cannot harm the tenderest skin. It is admirable for babies and for the complexion.

The odor is pungent and wholesome. That is because it is truly antiseptic—truly a health soap.

The odor disappears in a few seconds but the protection remains.

Lifebuoy is not merely a boudoir requisite—it is a scientific, health protection used by millions—probably the most widely used toilet soap in the world. It guards health.

Buy several cakes today—to have it ready at every place where there is running water.

AMERICAN HISTORY FOR CHILDREN

With Rosecrans' Force Preventing the Confederates From Coming to Its Aid, Vicksburg Was Forced to Surrender.

Map showing the campaign to capture Chattanooga.

By HENDRIK VAN LOON,
Author of "The Story of Mankind."

(Copyright, 1923, by the Christy Walsh Syndicate.)

GEN. PEMBERTON, who was in command at Vicksburg, decided to try and get away to join Gen. Johnston, who had started off toward the north, but found his way blocked by Grant's army. He fought two small engagements with the Union forces, and then went back home. Grant, following, drew up his lines about Vicksburg, and began the famous siege. This was in May. Slowly the weeks dragged by. The citizens of Vicksburg and the soldiers in the forts got hungrier and hungrier. The Confederate army in Chattanooga did not dare come to their rescue because of the watchful eye of Gen. Rosecrans. At last on the third day of July, Gen. Pemberton sent word to Gen. Grant that he would like to have a talk with him, and the next morning, the articles of surrender were signed. The Confederates handed their cannon and their rifles over to the Union army, but the soldiers themselves (nearly 30,000 of them) were allowed to go free on parole, that is after they had promised that they would not do any more fighting against the North. The entire Mississippi River was now under Federal control, and the Southern States were definitely cut off from their Western sources of supply.

And now let us go back again to Gen. Rosecrans, who all this time had been sitting patiently, with his eye on Chattanooga and the Confederate army there under Gen. Bragg. It was in June, when it was quite apparent to every one that Vicksburg would soon fall, that Rosecrans started forth to capture Chattanooga, but it was not until November that the feat was accomplished. I will not tell you all the details of the campaign. It would make our story too long. But there was much hard fighting, and many brilliant maneuvers, and many wise Generals were called in to direct the conflict. In October, Gen. Grant took command of the Union Army, and with his characteristic energy, speeded up the work, and finally managed to drive the Confederates back, and take the city.

After this campaign both armies went into winter quarters, the Union Army in Chattanooga, and the Confederate in Dalton, Ga., half way between Chattanooga and Atlanta. Gen. Bragg was removed from his command, and Gen. Joseph E. Johnston was put in his place, while Gen. Grant was made Commander in Chief of all the Union forces and went up to Virginia to take charge of matters there, handing over his old command in Chattanooga to Gen. Sherman.

The next stopping place on the route of the Union Army was to be Atlanta. This very important city controlled the railroads from north to south, and, if captured, the Confederate Army fighting in Virginia would be cut off from their supplies. Early in the spring, Gen. Sherman started upon his way south, driving the Confederates back before him. By the first of July he had nearly reached his objective. Then Gen. Johnston was removed from his command (the usual fate in store for unsuccessful Generals) and Gen. Hood took command of the Confederate Army. Johnston had avoided a pitched battle with the Northerners. Gen. Hood, being a man of action, fought and lost three battles in 11 days. And still Atlanta remained in Southern hands. Then Sherman began to move his army in position for a siege. But before the Union lines had closed around the city, Gen. Hood, realizing that there was no hope of assistance, and that a siege would only prolong the agony, evacuated the town and the next day, Sept 2, the Union Army entered Atlanta.

COURT TO DETERMINE MRS. VOGLER'S STATUS

Claim as Lawful Widow to Allowance Is Taken Under Advisement.

Whether Mrs. Emilie Vogler is the lawful widow of Henry A. Vogler and as such entitled to an allowance for temporary support from his estate pending administration will be determined by Probate Judge Holtcamp in a motion taken under advisement today.

Vogler, who was former vice president of the C. F. Blanke Tea & Coffee Co., died last New Year's day, leaving an estate estimated at $35,000. Mrs. Vogler petitioned for a widow's allowance for one year, but objection was made by Miss Rose Vogler, 1941 Lynch street, a daughter of Vogler. The daughter is coexecutor with the claimant under the will of her father, and it is contended by her that the petitioner was not testator's wife.

Bequeathed Family Home.

However, Vogler, in his will, referred to the petitioner as his wife and bequeathed to her the family home at 3410 Chippewa street, in addition to an equal interest with his five children in the remainder of the estate. A physician and several neighbors testified that they had heard Vogler speak of the claimant as his wife, and they so regarded her.

John V. Lee, attorney for the children, did not introduce any testimony but made a motion that the woman's claims be denied on the ground that her evidence did not establish a legal common law marriage. The Court instructed the attorneys to file briefs in the matter.

Sought $12,000 a Fund.

Mrs. Vogler states she and Vogler became husband and wife seven years ago, after the death of his first wife. Last month she filed suit in the Circuit Court for a fund of $12,000 in the Lafayette-South Side Bank, alleging that by a contract between her and Vogler the survivor was to have title to the deposit without regard to claims of other heirs of either. She asserted the money was no part of his estate which he left to her and his children by a former marriage. An order was made that the account be paid into court and held until the case is decided.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MARION, Ill., March 28.—The second Herrin massacre trial was resumed today and the State expects to be able to complete its evidence today. Juror George Mohler returned to court after having been away since Saturday on account of illness in his family.

President Frank Farrington of the Illinois Mine Workers was in court today. Board Members Joe Maccono of Toluca and Mike Pietrzak of Oglesby also sat with Hugh Willis, one of the defendants.

Robert Medill, director of the State Department of Mines and Minerals, also was in court.

J. C. Hook of Louisville, Ky., a former resident of Marion, was the first witness called. His appearance resulted in the reopening of a legal fight begun last week when the defense succeeded in excluding the testimony of Lillian Mitchell, a stenographer employed in the insurance office managed by Hook.

Hook testified today that he studied law at Indiana University and at the University of Chicago. He said he had not been admitted to the bar of Illinois, although he had practiced in Missouri. He testified that in his capacity as manager of an insurance company he had handled a death claim for the Fontanetta family.

The defense objected to allowing the witness to tell of an alleged revelation made by Philip Fontenetta, one of the defendants, even in the absence of the jury, declaring that the disclosure should not be made at all if it were privileged and was made by a client to a lawyer. The objection of the defense was sustained.

Questioned by the defense, Hook said Fontanetta, who had been in the habit of coming to his office, entered the day of the riots and said:

"I'm awfully nervous. I haven't slept any. I was up all last night. Were you out there?"

Hook added that Fontanetta had not asked his advice at that time, but had come back two or three weeks later and sought his counsel when he heard reports of a grand jury investigation.

Decrease in Berlin Coal Tax.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, March 28.—A decrease in the coal tax, making it 30 per cent instead of 40, is expected on April 4, thereby cheapening the price of coal by 7½ per cent.

What I Have Learned in 47 Years Practice

I HAVE been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875. I am now 83 years old, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this particular ailment are unchanged.

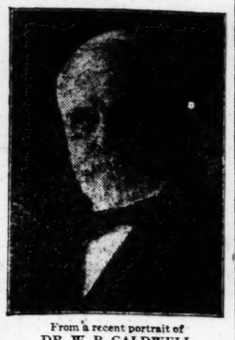

But the people take greater interest today in their health, in diet, exercise and the drinking of water. Constipation, however, will occur from time to time no matter how one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It is made of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. Children will not willingly take bitter things. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are now sold every year, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world. I say family laxative because all in the family can use it with safety. It is mild enough for the infant in arms, effective in the most chronic constipation of an adult. The formula is on every package.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salt waters and powders that draw needed constituents from the blood; coal tar disguised in candy form that causes skin eruptions. In my practice of 47 years I have never seen any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping, and without shock to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It lowers your strength 28 per cent, hardens the arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope but go to a druggist and get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a generous-size bottle. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will be well. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, piles, indigestion, loss of appetite or sleep, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

I REPEAT MY FREE OFFER

$10,000 worth of trial bottles of Syrup Pepsin free

Last year I agreed to spend $10,000 cash for free samples of my Syrup Pepsin, and send them free and postage paid to all who asked. A tremendous mail was the result. But there must be many who did not write. I would like to get their address this time. So I now renew my offer, in remembrance of my approaching 85th birthday, and will again devote $10,000 to free samples. I am anxious to see one in every American home. Write for yours today. Simply give me your address. Send it to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Mine is truly a free gift; it costs the public nothing.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of Blackheads—that is to dissolve them.

To do this, get two ounces of calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The calonite powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

Thursday—Silent

That art is responsible for the progress of civilization, not civilization for art, was stated in an address from radio station K S D last night by Edmund H. Wuerpel, director of the St. Louis School of Fine Arts. Without having art, he stated, we would have had no alphabet, and the alphabet was invented by the Phoenicians. The only records were kept by means of picture writing and no two nations understood each other's pictures. It was when the Phoenicians invented trading that they found it necessary to have some means of keeping accounts which could be understood by the different nations and therefore they evolved the alphabet.

In the same manner science has developed. We know how our remotest ancestors looked through having art assist science in rebuilding the skulls and other skeletal remains of prehistoric times. Through relics, or tokens, as Wuerpel termed them, such as those found in the tomb of Tutankhamen and in Indian mounds, etc., we now can reconstruct for our information the life of the past.

Music Program.

The music program last night was a re-engagement of the talented Tieman family orchestra, and two soloists who gave so much pleasure to their hearers in their previous performance. These were Mrs. Olive Platt Bishoff, soprano, and Mrs. John A. Logan, pianist. The program was a clever combination of popular music and the so-called classical type with jazz of the best kind. The Tieman orchestra plays the present-day dance music in a wonderfully pleasing fashion without the blare and din which some jazz orchestras think is necessary to produce the effect desired. Mrs. Bishoff and Mrs. Logan gave a number of solos and were especially happy in their selections and presented their entire program with very pleasing effect and received many compliments both by telephone and telegraph.

Tonight the program will be given by the faculty of the Progressive School of Music in St. Louis, assisted by Myrtle Alcorn, soprano, and Karl Schabacher, pianist. The latter, who starts next week to study abroad, will present the first section of the program, which will consist of three numbers.

PARCEL POST C. O. D. RULE

Postoffice Holds Actual Orders Are Necessary in Future.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Business firms are prohibited, under a postoffice ruling announced yesterday, to send articles by parcel post C. O. D. to prospective purchasers, unless orders for the goods actually have been received.

"The abuse of the C. O. D. service by shippers," a statement from the department said, "in sending articles collect on delivery which have not been ordered or without the consent of the addressee may be construed as attempt to defraud in violation of the law."

Cardinals Victors in Practice Game With Speakers' Indians, 5-4

Jeff Peffer, Veteran Right-Hander, Starts for Rickeymen Against George Uhle—Cards First to Score.

By Herman Wecke,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 28.—The Cardinals today defeated the Cleveland Indians in their spring training practice game. The score was 5 to 4.

This is the first game Pfeffer has started since the training season opened. However, the big fellow has participated in several contests and gave the impression that he was set for a good year.

The Cardinals went out and got a run for him in the opening inning when Eddie Dyer doubled and scored on Milton Stock's single.

FIRST INNING.

CLEVELAND—Jamieson rolled to Bottomley. Wamby fouled to Stock. Speaker out, Stock to Bottomley. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.

CARDINALS—Bottomley walked. Uhle tossed out Myers. On Lavan's tap, a run down followed in which both Bottomley and Lavan pulled up at second base, and Wamby tagged them both. Lavan was called out, Sewell and Lutzke getting assists. Clemons fanned. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Guisto fanned. Brower lined a single to left. Hornsby muffed Sewell's pop fly in right field, but saved himself by throwing to Lavan in time to force Brower. Lutzke popped to Lavan. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING.

CARDINALS—Pfeffer doubled to score board in right. Blades flied to Brower. Lutzke grabbed Dyer's smash and ran Pfeffer down, unassisted. Lutzke threw out Stock. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—O'Neill singled to right. Uhle's bunt forced O'Neill. Pfeffer to Lavan. Jamieson lined a single to center. Wamby pop-fouled to Stock. Speaker grounded to Bottomley. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Hornsby was hit by a pitched ball. Hornsby stole second, eluding Wamby by a neat fallaway slide. Bottomly filed to Speaker. Myers lined a single to left, Hornsby scoring and Myers taking second on the throw home. Lavan singled to center and Myers scored. Clemons doubled down left foul line, giving the hit and run sign on the first pitch. Lavan stopping at third. Pfeffer lined to Sewell. Blades fanned. TWO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Blades ran into the left corner for Guisto's fly. Bottomley made a sensational catch of Brower's foul near automobile row with his back to the plate. Sewell rolled to Hornsby. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Dyer fouled to Guisto. Sewell threw out Stock. Hornsby flied to Speaker. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Dyer moved over to center in place of Myers for Cardinals and Smith went to right field. Pfeffer threw out Lutzke. O'Neill flied to Dyer. Uhle flied to Blades. NO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Speaker made a great running catch of Bottomley's fly. Smith lined a double to right. Lavan flied to Jamieson. Ainsmith batted for Clemons and popped to Lutzke. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND — Sell went in to pitch and Ainsmith to catch for Cardinals. Bottomley leaped high for a one-handed stop of Jamieson's smash and beat him to first. Wamby lined a single to left. Lavan threw out Speaker. Wamby ran to third when Ainsmith threw to centerfield trying to catch him napping. Guisto bounced a single over second and Wamby scored. Guisto took second on a passed ball. Brower walked. Sewell flied to Smith. ONE RUN.

SEVENTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Sell fanned. Blades flied to Jamieson. Uhle threw out Dyer. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Smith moved over to center, Flack went to right field for the Cardinals and Dyer to the bench. Lutzke walked. O'Neill also walked. Uhle fanned. Jamieson walked, filling the bases. Wamby lined a single to left, scoring Lutzke and O'Neill and tieing the score. Sell was yanked and Wigington went to the hill. Speaker caught the Cardinal's napping and beat out a bunt, filling the bases. Lavan ran into left field to catch Guisto's sacrifice fly. Jamieson racing home as Lavan fell down, but held the ball. Brower fouled to stock. THREE RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Stock lined a double to left. Hornsby lined a single to left and Stock tied the score. Hornsby took second on a short passed ball. Bottomley walked. Smith's bunt forced Hornsby at third, Uhle to Lutzke. Toporcer batted for Lavan and fanned and Bottomley was doubled trying for third, O'Neill to Lutzke. ONE RUN.

CLEVELAND—Freigau went to short for the Cardinals. Sewell walked. Lutzke's third strike was offered to Smith. Guisto flied to Smith. Uhle fanned. NO RUNS.

NINTH INNING.

CARDINALS—Lutzke threw out Ainsmith. Wamby threw out Wigington. Blades singled down left foul line. Flack walked. Stock lined a single to center, Blades scoring and Flack reaching third. Stock went to second on the throw home. Hornsby rolled to Wamby. ONE RUN.

CLEVELAND—Jamieson walked. Speaker was doubled trying for third, O'Neill to Lutzke. ONE RUN. CLEVELAND—Freigau threw out Wamby. Speaker flied to Smith. Guisto flied to Smith. NO RUNS.

The First $10,000 Woman Star

MISS MAGGIE RILEY.

This picture, snapped last week at Bronx Field, New York, shows Miss Riley at bat in a practice game. She played first base on the All Nationals.

Miss Riley is said to be the best woman ballplayer in the United States and is called the "female Babe Ruth." On clouting the ball she is almost as deadly as the male of the species.

Also she plays the initial sack as well as she hits—so well that she has just signed a contract with a Chicago semi-pro promoter calling for a salary of $1750 for 10 games, with an option of continuing for three months at a rate of $3330 monthly.

WRAY'S COLUMN

An Ox-Poling Contest.

HAND it to Mildoon for barring that Lodge-Firpo thing. As a pugilistic match it strongly resembled the preliminary arrangements for a double beef killing. These men are two big, blundering animals, mighty of frame and thews, with enormous reach and wagon-tongue arms—veritable bludgeons.

They have little or no science, if their bouts have been reported correctly. They land powerful wallops with crushing force. The match was elementally a brutal one, with Science weeping disconsolately in the offing at the awful sacrilege of alluding to this contemplated mayhem as "boxing."

We saw one spectacle of the kind, only the slaughter was one-sided. That was when Goliath, Willard, undertook to destroy David, Jack Dempsey. It was impossible to view the wreck of Willard's imposing edifice, 10 minutes after the bout had started, without shuddering.

Imagine what a scene would have been presented if TWO such specimens were permitted to meat-ax each other into sanguinary pulp.

"It's an Ill Wind," Etc.

GEORGE SISLER'S delay in joining the barnstorming Browns, due to sinus trouble, may be one of those well-known "blessings in disguise."

It will at least prevent him from too early straining the shoulder he injured last fall. While the member apparently is now O.K. there is no doubt that the longer rest it has the sounder it will be during the coming campaign.

All reports that can be obtained indicate Sisler will be himself again in time to put the Browns in the pennant hunt. The danger will come when this high-strung young man, through overeagerness, tries to make up for lost time by extra exertion.

Jiminy Criqui!

MULDOON, the solid man of the New York Boxing Commission, is fighting hard to make his disbarments stand up. That one barring Champion Johnny Kilbane from the big money in Gotham is being bent almost to the breaking point by outside pressure.

Fabulous dough will be the prize offered for Kilbane's bout with the French champion, Criqui. But Muldoon is a hard-headed old veteran: it is not for nothing they call him the "solid" man.

He may persist.

In that case Criqui will have made his voyage of 2500 miles or more in vain!

Gather Roses While Ye May.

IT'S harvest time for Strangler Ed Lewis, wrestling champion. In fact, the harvest has not ceased since he more than a year ago defeated Old Man Zbyszko for the title. Lewis is working feverishly to arrive at Easy street. He participates in as many as three and four matches a week, piling up coin.

But there's an awakening ahead. On the horizon looms a young wrestler named Pesek of Omaha, a bird they must all reckon with ere long.

At present Lewis is safe from Pesek. Lewis is managed by "Billy Sandow"; Pesek is handled by Maurice Bauman, who is Sandow's brother. That stymies Pesek, as the match, if arranged today, would be considered a brotherly affair.

In a few months Pesek's contract with Bauman-Sandow will run out and then there will be no way out. Lewis will probably be forced either into a match or into retirement.

Good wrestlers consider that Pesek is the next best man this country has known since Frank Gotch's day. Joe Stecher is through, some say. Earl Caddock is now a preacher. The Old Man Zbyszko's 50 or more years prove him to be through. Plestina never was more than a second rater. Hanson has been sick and may be out of it for good; the younger Zbyszko, London, Cardini and good ones among the remainder seemingly lack the real title class.

So it appears that Pesek will be the boy to next earn the right to a clean-up in the kale fields of Maitland.

Paterson Team Has 11 Foreign Borns on Roster

Only 3 Americans on Club Which Meets Scullins for Title Sunday.

The national soccer final between the Scullins of St. Louis and the Paterson (N. J.) club, at Harrison, N. J., next Sunday, will be a match between an American-born team, trained in characteristic St. Louis soccer, as opposed to a largely foreign-born team, trained in Scotch football.

Of the 15 men on the roster of the Paterson club, seven are natives of Scotland, four are Englishmen, one a Belgian and three are American-borns.

On the roster of the Scullins, all are St. Louis-born except Tommy Mitchell who first saw the light of day in Scotland at a little town near Dundee, some 37 years ago. Mitchell still retains some of the characteristics of a Scotch footballer, but his style so closely resembles that of his teammates that he might be taken for a St. Louis product. He was 15 years old when he came to America and his only experience on Scotch fields was with school teams.

Scott's stars were with Scotch teams last season. One of this pair, James Scott, who came direct from the Third Lanark, one of the strongest clubs in the British Isles, is not eligible for the final. He is under suspension for fighting in the Paterson-New York game, three weeks ago.

Scott Is Suspended.

Scott was Paterson's regular right halfback and his absence will probably work some hardship on the team. Last Sunday against New York, Frank Adams, one of the three Americans, was at right half.

Peter Renzulli, goal keeper, and "Rabbitt" Heminsley, center forward or inside right, are the other Yankees on the roster.

The Scullins won their national title last spring by defeating the Todd Shipyard team, 3 to 2, in the final. There are seven men on the Paterson team who played with the Todds last season. Hence, the two teams will not be strangers to each other and, probably, there will be no love lost 'twixt them. The Todds took their defeat in the final in bad grace.

Paterson is owned by Adolph Buslik, New York fur merchant who last summer went to great pains and expense to recruit what he considered the best talent in the East to form the present Eastern finalist.

Scullins Work Out.

Yesterday afternoon many of the Scullin players worked out at Fairground Park. Jimmy Nolan, left halfback, tried out his weak knee. Although he suffered no further injury, it is evident that he will be unable to participate in the final. The joint is showing great improvement, but the injury was of such serious nature that he will need the better part of a year's rest before going into a game.

Danny Murphy, who will take Nolan's place at left halfback, participated in yesterday's training stunts and is sound and ready for the match. He is not nearly so brilliant a player as Nolan, but he is an unrelenting defender, strong, and in every way equal to the hard task.

Bechtold, who suffered an injury to his right knee several weeks ago, was kicking with abandon with either foot and there is no doubt that he will be at his very best.

Tommy Mitchell spent the greater part of the time crossing the ball from an outside left position to Len Zarchel's head, in the mouth of the goal.

Brady Confident.

Manager Tate Brady expressed himself as well satisfied with the condition of the men who are available for the game and confident of victory over the Easterners.

The St. Louis Soccer League announced last night that it booked the Olympia Club of Chicago to play against the Vesper Buicks in an exhibition game here Sunday. The Ben Millers and Barrett-Hoovers will play the first game of the double-header. Harry Ratican, center forward of the Ben Millers, will accompany the Scullins on their trip East to lend assistance as a coach and trainer. The local team will depart from St. Louis tomorrow at noon.

Tennis in South America.

Tennis is showing growth in Paraguay, South America, according to reports from that country. Recently a tennis team was sent to Buenos Aires to play in a tournament there. It was made up principally of members of the United States and British diplomatic corps.

$50,000 Paid for 5-Year Contract To Manage Ring Champion Wilson

Marty Killilea Surrenders All Interest in Middleweight Star, Who Is at Present Barred From New York—New Manager Will Try to Win Reinstatement for His Protege.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Champions come high on the pugilistic mart. Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion of the world save in Gotham, has just been bargained for, bought and delivered to Frank Marlow, wealthy horseman, for the sum of $50,000, Wilson's former manager, Marty Killilea, surrendering a five-year contract for that sum.

In all the history of the ring there never has been such a sum handed out for right and title to a champion's ring services.

Marlow, a new factor in boxing, has been a lifelong friend of Wilson's. Admiring him as a man and a champion, Marlow believed a change in management would bring Wilson to the fore again. Marlow went to Boston and put the matter up to Killilea. Killilea didn't want to stand in the boy's path, he said, and the deal was closed.

Marlow then announced that Wilson was through with New England.

"We're going back to New York, your own town, Johnny," Marlow told Wilson. "I'll promise Muldoon or any man connected with the State Athletic Commission that you will defend your title any time against any man who will make the weight."

Muldoon Bars Farmer Lodge.

The skids have been slipped under the generous number nines worn by Farmer Lodge, and he will not box Firpo, the Demon Angel of the Argentine, at the Yankee ball park on May 12 for the Milk Fund.

William Muldoon voted the "jaw breaker" out of it yesterday on the ground that Lodge, in his opinion, was not equal to a match with the giant from South America.

Muldoon yesterday suggested that Jack McAuliffe and Tiny Herman, two of the best heavyweights in the West, be brought here for a trial and the winner pitted against Firpo. This may be done if the men are willing to box for the opportunity to meet Firpo. The managers of the Milk Fund Show are willing to accept either McAuliffe or Herman now if the boxing board will sanction the bout without the formality of going through a trial. Yesterday Fred Fulton, Bill Tate, McAuliffe, Herman and Marty Burke were mentioned as possible opponents of Firpo.

"Wilde in Good Shape"—Welsh.

Freddie Welsh, former lightweight champion of the world, arrived from Europe on the Majestic. Welsh did not come back with glowing reports of English boxing. He was inclined to think that the British fighter was slumped a bit. When seen at his hotel last night he said of the trip: "I met Jimmy Wilde while in Wales and let me tell you he is going to give a good account of himself when he comes here to defend his title against Pancho Villa. Ted Lewis, my old friend and Wilde's manager, will not make the trip. He is sending Hughes, the man who brought Wilde here before. I told Wilde that he was meeting a fast, a splendid little fighter in Villa, and he replied, 'I'll be in fine condition. They think the little Welshman is all in. I'll hand them a big surprise when I meet Villa.' Wilde, added Welsh, "is NOT fat and is at work on the road."

Belittles Britton Champion.

"How about yourself and matches abroad?" was asked.

"Well, I'll tell you," said Welsh with a grin. "I saw the lightweight champion of England box. His name is Seaman Hall. He boxed a fellow named Morgan in Cardiff. I know I can beat that champion. They asked me to come back in June and meet him for the British title. I think I'll do that. I didn't see Joe Beckett, but I met Frank Moran. He looked happy and prosperous. Mike McTigue is a riot, over there."

Champions Must Meet Formal Challengers First, Commission Says

NEW YORK, March 28.

THE spotlight was turned on four-flushing, kale-gathering ring champions by the New York Commission here, yesterday. Chairman Muldoon announced that henceforth champions must meet all formal challengers, who deposited the required $2500 and complied with the commission regulations in every way.

Champions will not be allowed to box at all until the challenger has been met. Titleholders must defend their crowns every six months in decision bouts, Muldoon declared. Failure to comply will mean suspension and loss of title.

Dempsey has been challenged by Harry Wills, Joe Lynch by Carl Tremaine, Benny Leonard by Sailor Freedman and Gene Tunney by Harry Greb.

Kabakoff-Reddy Fight a Battle Of 'Comebacks'

Title Hopes of Rivals Have Faded, Though Both Still Are in Their Physical Prime.

When Harry Kabakoff, now 24 years old, first electrified ringsiders at the old Future City Athletic Club by his marvelous speed and lightning-like hitting, a favorable horoscope was cast for him.

Tonight finds the shine Kabakoff, after eight years of ring experience, battling for a toe-hold on the pugilistic map from which he has all but slipped in the past two or three years. Knocked out twice when ambition carried him into the first flight of boxers in his class, Kabby's ambition and popularity waned.

Judged by past performance, his title bubble has burst. Tonight he meets Battling Reddy, once a tough New York featherweight, who beat Kabakoff on his last trip East. Reports from New York indicate that Reddy likewise has all but dropped out of the running.

However, boxers can't all be champions, any more than the army can consist of all officers. There are subalterns and non-coms, even privates, in the army of fighters. Just where Kabby and Reddy classify in the pugilistic structure will be determined at the First Regiment Armory tonight, where they battle 10 rounds at 130 pounds, no decision. It will be the first professional show put on by the Business Men's Athletic Club since the City Commission took charge of the local situation.

Kabakoff Physically O.K.

Kabakoff is still young and fast, can hit and is a dangerous foe when in condition, for almost any second rater. His chief fault is short of greatness, or did when last he battled here. If the iron jaw and resolution of a Kid Bandy could be grafted on to Kabakoff, an ideal fighting machine would result.

Not that Kabakoff is not game. The manner in which he came back more and more punishment in his bouts with Chaney and Valger, proved his willingness; but he loses his poise under fire, at times, and this betrays him into leaving himself wide open.

Kabakoff is thoroughly conversant with the rules as interpreted locally and Referee Harry Sharpe should have no trouble enforcing his antihugging rules against the principals in the main event.

Not so much is known here of Reddy, but he bore a good reputation and undoubtedly beat Kabakoff when they fought some time ago. He has been in St. Louis two days and outwardly seems in fine condition.

Semiwindup Promising.

The semiwindup ought to prove a nifty bout, with the clever, straight-punching Mike Kramer opposing Frankie Osner, who obtained his pugilistic start in Alton. Both Kramer and Osner are boys of exceptional ability and considerable ring cleverness. They will box eight rounds at 118 pounds.

Springer, a private at Jefferson Barracks, pleased local ringsiders immensely by his likely exhibition in recent amateur shows here.

The first bout is to start at 8:30. Nonmembers will be forced under the rules, to become "initiated" not later than 10 o'clock. Holders of memberships may purchase tickets at the box office, at any hour.

And the stock of Ellerbe has gone up. He broke in yesterday after Simon had started poorly and the "Governor" got the Browns' first major league hit of the day and scored the first run for St. Louis. Ellerbe also accepted every chance in the field cleanly.

Simon has slumped in the batting until he is a rank outsider. The consensus now is that it will be a battle between Ellerbe and Homer Ezzell for the hot corner preference.

The Browns won the game, beating Wichita Falls, 8 to 2, but the Fohlmen did not impress, even in victory. However, the team did pull itself together and looked much better than in the final game at Dallas. All eyes, however, were on center field and third base. Those are the two positions which are considered possible weak spots when the Brownies discuss their prospects.

Jacobson's fielding skill is not in question. He is a better fielder than any rookie in camp; but he always is a weak hitter in the spring and his arm all season long is not feared by opposing baserunners. Jake seldom tries to throw out a man at the plate on a fly or a single.

Jake's Hitting Improves.

But even at that, Jake's job is safe if he shows that he will do some hitting before the middle of August. Perhaps the incentive of a regular job will spur him on. Certainly he has done well in the last two games. Sunday he singled and doubled and yesterday he contributed three singles, two of them clean, the other safety off the pitcher's glove.

Simon, who looked like a prize in the early stage of the spring training trip, suddenly has fallen into evil ways. He backs up on grounders, fumbles them and has extreme difficulty in finding the first baseman with his throws. In fielding practice Ellerbe and Ezzell did much better work, but Fohl believes in giving a man a good chance and started Simon at third. But Ezzell and Ellerbe probably will work from now on. Ezzell has started to throw better. His sore arm is recovering and he shows signs of having the ability attributed to him by admirers.

After the third inning, Ellerbe went to third. The "Governor" led off in the fifth inning and crashed a double to left center. The center-fielder got his hand on the ball, but was lucky to do that and it had to be scored a double. Baby Doll Jacobson and Ellerbe Lead Rookie Rivals Merry Chase

Improved Hitting and Playing of Brownie Veterans Make It Appear Unlikely That Either Will Give Way to Newcomer—Simon Appears to Have "Blown Up."

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., March 28.—"Baby Doll" Jacobson and "Goyernor" Ellerbe are making the road to a big league job tough for the recruits. Every time it looks like some youngster is going to beat Jake out of his position in center field, the bulky Scandinavian goes out and hammers the baseball with such reckless abandon and fields with such effective awkwardness that the youngsters start wondering where they will be about June 15.

And the stock of Ellerbe has gone up. He broke in yesterday after Simon had started poorly and the 'Goyernor' got the Browns' first major league hit of the day and scored the first run for St. Louis. Ellerbe also accepted every chance in the field cleanly. Simon has slumped in the batting until he is a rank outsider. The consensus now is that it will be a battle between Ellerbe and Homer Ezzell for the hot corner preference.

Certainly he has done well in the last two games. Sunday he singled and doubled and yesterday he contributed three singles, two of them clean, the other safety off the pitcher's glove.

Simon, who looked like a prize in the early stage of the spring training trip, suddenly has fallen into evil ways. He backs up on grounders, fumbles them and has extreme difficulty in finding the first baseman with his throws. In fielding practice Ellerbe and Ezzell did much better work, but Fohl believes in giving a man a good chance and started Simon at third. But Ezzell and Ellerbe probably will work from now on. After the third inning, Ellerbe went to third. The "Governor" led off in the fifth inning and crashed a double to left center. The center-fielder got his hand on the ball, but was lucky to do that and it had to be scored a double. Ellerbe then took advantage of pitcher Uptmore's long windup and had third base stolen when Ray Kolp tried to help him by laying down a bunt. The foul sent Ellerbe back to second, but he scored on Berger's single over second.

Farmer Boy Checks Browns.

Uptmore, a raw country boy with a fine assortment of curves and no experience, held the Browns to two infield hits in four innings, which was not a good showing for a major league pennant contender. One of the hits was Jacobson's bounder that glanced off the pitcher's glove and the other was a perfect swinging bunt by Johnny Tobin. Kenny Williams was helpless against Uptmore. Kenny missed a couple of strikes and walked the first time up, struck out the second and bunted safe the third time he faced the southpaw.

Williams' bunt started the sixth inning and two more singles and some errors enabled the Browns to score three runs. If the fielding had been perfect Uptmore would have held the Browns to one run. Williams had better luck against Odom, also a southpaw, and smashed out a real single in the seventh inning. In the ninth, against a right-hander named Ruth Kenny got his longest drive, a tremendous liner to center. Silva, the centerfielder, was playing deep for Kenny and made a brilliant running, one-hand catch to rob Williams of an extra base blow.

Kolp and Danforth did the pitching for the Brownies and did excellent work. Kolp was touched for six hits and one run in five innings and Danforth gave three hits and a run in three.

Kenny Williams needs work in the outfield. His eagerness for batting practice has caused him to neglect his defensive duty, and he is not judging flies quickly. He misjudged one in the second inning and it went for two bases. There was a man on and one out at the time and Ray Kolp showed his skill by striking out the next two batters.

Danforth Is Behaving.

Danforth apparently intends to behave himself. He did not thumb the ball as he did last year and has modified his move to first on peremptory orders from the management. He worked that asset, as he called it, in Shreveport but Referee Jimmy Austin refused to call the base runner out. Thereupon, Danforth took some of the deception out of his move. The Browns think Danforth can win without breaking the rules of baseball and are encouraging him to go straight.

It was cold and windy yesterday and not good for playing. Several of the players are nursing colds but none is seriously ill. However, the sudden changes are dangerous.

UNKNOWNS WILL ROLL TODAY AT MILWAUKEE; JIMMY SMITH HAS 607

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 28.—Dopesters were puzzled as to what to expect from the 56 "dark horses" scheduled to take the alleys this afternoon and tonight in the American Bowling Congress tournament. Members of these lesser known teams will roll 28 to a squad.

Included in the "unknowns" who will take the alleys are Kenosha, Milwaukee, Hartford, Escanaba, South Bend, Rochester, Madison, Jamestown and Mansfield. Kenosha was believed to have the edge.

The Icy Hot Bottles of Cincinnati bowled the only real score last night, piling up a total of 2868. Jimmy Smith of Milwaukee, one of America's premier bowlers, did unusually well in the five-man event, with a series of 607, exceeding his last year's five-man score of 65 pins.

AMERICAN GOLFERS TO PLAY FOR $5000 TROPHY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Members of the American amateur golf team which will go abroad for the Walker Cup matches with Great Britain this season have been invited to compete for the Golf Illustrated trophy in the annual tournament at London, April 25, it was announced yesterday by the United States Golf Association.

Most of the players are expected to enter the event.

The Golf Illustrated trophy, a gold vase valued at $5000, is one of the most coveted individual prizes in Great Britain, outside of the amateur cup. Abe Mitchell twice won the trophy before turning professional.

Two other American amateurs have entered the British amateur title event, besides the membess of the Walker Cup team, according to the U. S. G. A. They are Robert Hunter of Weeburn, Noroton, Conn., and Reginald M. Lewis of Greenwich, Conn.

Benton's Contract to Be Sent to Heydler; "Case Settled"—Landis

CINCINNATI, March 28.

THE controversy over the eligibility of Pitcher "Rube" Benton has been definitely settled, and his contract, signed with the Cincinnati National League club 10 days ago, will be forwarded to President John Heydler's office at once for promulgation, according to a special dispatch received here tonight from Tampa, Fla.

Commissioner K. M. Landis declared:

"That case is absolutely settled. I have decided that Benton is eligible to play anywhere and so he is."

Wasem and Fisher To Wrestle Again

In March of 1917 Jack Fisher of Decatur, Ill., defeated Al Wasem, then lightweight wrestling champion, in straight falls for the title. From the time they left the ring until yesterday afternoon they had never again seen each other.

Yesterday Fisher, who came to St. Louis seeking a bout, after a conversation with Wasem and his representative closed arrangements for return bout for the title, the event to take place at the South Broadway Athletic Club Friday, April 13. The unlucky date was chosen deliberately by Fisher.

"I won $8000 in bets once on that date and it's no hoodoo for me," Fisher explained.

The match will be under the usual conditions, with Fisher getting a $350 guarantee, and a side bet accommodation.

Wasem, since his return to St. Louis from Clifton, Ariz., had not wrestled much until a year ago, when he began a comeback. To help condition himself as well as to make money he accepted a post as instructor of the Washington University wrestling squad. His work has kept him in splendid condition. Wasem has wrestled half a dozen contests this year, about the best being with young Carl Armbruster, whom he twice defeated after good contests.

BROWNS REPORTED AS SEEKING BURNS OF RED SOX TO COVER FIRST

BOSTON, March 28.—Capt. George Burns of the Red Sox, recently declared to be the only man in the squad who was sure of a regular berth, may go to the St. Louis Browns in exchange for an outfielder and a pitcher, according to word from the Hot Springs, Ark., training camp. Worry over the evondition of George Sisler is believed to have caused the Browns to seek the reliable Red Sox first sacker.

The Browns are known to be in the market for a first baseman and it has been rumored reepatedly that George Burns of the Red Sox is the man Business Manager Quinn turned his attention to after the attempt to get "Stuffy" McInnis fell through.

Quinn said today that the Browns were still after "first base insurance," but declined to discuss in detail any reported negotiations with other clubs.

Different Ball And Court Hurt Handball Stars

By Walter Kammann,
St. Louis Handball Champion.

Mike Cunningham and I didn't get so very far in the national handball championships at St. Paul, last week, but the experience we gained will be of great value to us in the future. We certainly owe thanks to the St. Louis friends who gave us the opportunity of competing.

We found the game played at the championships quite different from that played in St. Louis. The very court had differences that caused us trouble. The court was 25 feet long, 22½ feet wide and 35 feet high. The walls were of concrete with a hardwood floor. This floor made the ball "hop" much faster than floors to which we have been accustomed. The play of the ball off the walls was entirely different from that off the wooden walls, of which St. Louis courts are constructed.

In the technique of play we were as good as any of the candidates there; but their puzzling serves, which we had not encountered on St. Louis courts, had us baffled and caused us repeatedly to "set the ball up" for them.

They use the "Scottish toss," which hits all four walls and drops dead in the corner. They also use a terrific low serve across the court landing 10 feet over the short line and take "english" off the floor. It was impossible to return this serve on the fly.

Condition Won for Murray.

Joe Murray, the present champion, who was one of the youngest players in the tournament, told me he had trained for three months, running 10 miles each day. Murray was formerly a boxer and understands physical fitness. I believe it was his superior condition that enabled him to win the championship, as he was within one point of defeat, in the next to last game, when his opponent tired and Murray came on and won the honors.

Murray's style is different from that of most players. He hits the ball with his closed fist, instead of with a cupped hand as most players do. I have tried hitting the ball with closed fist, but have found it extremely difficult to control the play.

Another point—they used an entirely different ball from what we have been accustomed to. I am going to try to have this ball introduced in tournaments here. It is the "Spalding 101," and seems about three-fourths solid. We have become accustomed to a tennis ball, in our tourneys here.

The championship tournament was conducted in a way that caused all to congratulate the St. Paul Athletic Club on its good work.

AMATEUR BILLIARD PLAY REACHES FINAL ROUND

NEW YORK, March 28.—Robert M. Lord of the Illinois Athletic Club, Chicago, defeated Charles Hanf of Port Washington, N. Y., last night, in the first of the final round robin games of the National Amateur Three-Cushion Billiard tournament, 50 to 31, in 86 innings. Lord had five high runs of 3 and Hanf two of 3.

CENTRALIA, Ill., March 28.

JACQUES FOURNIER, former first baseman for the St. Louis Nationals, who refused to report to the Brooklyn Nationals after being traded to that club, yesterday signed a contract to manage the semiprofessional team here during 1923.

Fournier said recently that he had definitely retired from baseball and at that time finally notified the Brooklyn club that he would never report. However, he later told friends that he might play "a few outside games" during the summer.

Signing such a contract does not outlaw Fournier. He must participate in a game with an outlaw team before he forfeits his standing in organized baseball.

HOOVER READY TO ROW COSTELLO IN ANY WATER

DULUTH, Minn., March 28.—Walter Hoover, world's champion sculler, stands ready to race Paul Costello, national champion, on any course that the Philadelphia Gold Challenge Cup Committee may set, but he prefers to have the titular event staged here as suggested, said Phil H. Moore, chairman of the Duluth Boat Club Rowing Committee, today.

EUROPEAN FENCERS IN NEAR RIOT FOLLOWING TOURNAMENT AT PARIS

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 28.—The first international fencing tournament since the war ended early today in a disteurance over a decision in the principal match, between Candido Sassone, the Italian professional foils champion, and M. Benton, the French title holder.

Sassone, with the score 10 to 8 points against him, objected to a decision of the French president of the Judges and declined to continue the bout. Cat calls, hisses and cheers were intermingled, and French, Italian, Belgian and Dutch fencers thronged the mat.

The French competitors won eight out of the 12 bouts.

HAGEN AND KIRKWOOD SHOOT 69 AT PINEHURST

By the Associated Press.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28.—Walter Hagen, British open champion, played the last nine holes of the championship course here in a sensational 32 today, in a match in which Hagen and his amateur partner, A. S. Brown Jr. of Salem, Mass., were defeated, 3 to 2, by Joe Kirkwood, the Australian, and Grantland Rice, the writer. Hagen had a score of 37, 32—69 for the 18 holes and Kirkwood had a round of 34, 35—69.

And you do just a little more work than the elevating machinery of a cement plant does in the course of manufacturing a barrel of portland cement.

In a typical plant, the materials for a 376-pound barrel of cement—which weigh more than twice that to start with—have to be elevated fifteen times to heights ranging from 20 to 90 feet in going through the more than eighty operations between raw materials and finished product.

Practically all of this lifting and carrying is nowadays done by mechanical conveyors. Many of these are very ingenious.

They may be endless chains of moving buckets that go trailing all about the plant, picking up and dropping different loads two or three times in the course of their journey. They may be wide belts. Or they may be huge "corkscrews" fitting snugly inside steel tubes and pulling the materials along as they turn.

In a medium sized plant—one with a million barrels capacity a year—an investment of more than a quarter of a million dollars is necessary for machinery that does nothing but carry and lift.

RUPTURE EXPERTS COMING To St. Louis

The Rice Rupture Method Experts, A. R. Perkins and Miss S. P. Meegan, personal representatives of William S. Rice, Adams, N. Y., will be at Room 218, Calumet Bldg., 114 North 7th St., St. Louis, Mo., Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 28, 29, 30 and 31. Every ruptured man, woman and child should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Rice Method for Rupture is known the world over. You can now see this Method demonstrated and have a Rice Appliance fitted to you. Absolutely no charge unless you are satisfied to keep the Outfit after having the Appliance adjusted and you see how perfectly and comfortably it holds. No harsh, deep-pressing springs; nothing to gouge the flesh and make you sore. Can be worn night and day with positive comfort. Soft, rubber-like composition pad, any degree of pressure required.

Don't wear a truss all your life when thousands have reported cures through using the Rice Method. Why suffer the burden of rupture if there is a chance to be free from truss-wearing forever? Anyway, it will cost you nothing to come in and learn all about the Rice Method and the wonderful opportunity for help and cure it offers in your case. Remember these Experts will be there only four days, then your opportunity will be gone. Just ask at hotel desk for Rice Experts and they will do the rest. Hours 9 to 12 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., or 7 to 9 evenings. Women and young children will receive personal attention of Lady Expert in separate apartments.

STEADIER TONE IS SHOWN BY LIST ON NEW YORK MARKET

Covering by Short Interest After Federal Reserve Board Statement Factor in Trend — Exchange Irregular.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Reassured by the statement issued by the Federal Reserve Board last night, the markets today displayed a much steadier tone. Stocks opened strong and remained so during an active first hour. Extreme dullness then set in with prices well maintained and this condition lasted until noon. Another burst of activity and strength was then followed by renewed dullness. It was quite apparent that the short interest which had grown materially during the last week, was covering. At the close gains of a point or so were common. In the bond department gilt-edged issues steadied, but irregularity among the more speculative descriptions continued.

"Call money was easier, opening at 5½ per cent and being reduced to 5½ at noon and to 5 at the start of the last hour.

Exchange Is Irregular.

"A fair-sized business was done in the foreign exchanges, but the range of fluctuation continued to show a tendency to narrow and the net results were irregular. French francs enjoyed another early but transient rise, first gaining 6½ points at 6.62 cents and then reacting to 6.57½ cents. Italian lire and Belgian francs continued to keep step with French currency and German marks were slightly easier to 0.0048 of a cent. Sterling, meanwhile, failed to rally and sagged back ⅛ of a cent to $4.68⅝. As during the last several days, the cables brought little news bearing on the situation.

Steel Industry Situation.

"Midweek reviews of the steel industry indicated that the recent remarkable rate of production is being fully maintained. Pig iron output, in fact, is still on the increase and although the Steel Corporation is working at 92 per cent of capacity and many plants are seeking new high records for all time, deliveries in many cases are falling behind. Thus the Iron Age states that all of the $40 rails sold for delivery before June 30, will not have been manufactured by that time, and that much finished material booked for second quarter delivery will be carried over into the third quarter.

Wall Street News and Comment

—SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The stock market today responded to the good feeling aroused by the news from the Federal Reserve conference at Washington and was strong up to the last half-hour of business. Then prices came down sharply and at the close changes were variable.

Some of the industrial stocks in which pools are active held fairly well during the final reaction, but in the rest of the list declines of a point from the early high prices were frequent. A break in Virginia Chemical bonds and stocks was a feature of the afternoon and had something to do with the unsettled condition at the end of the day.

New York Central was actively sold when the directors declared only the regular dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. The disappointment felt on this score, coming on top of the comparatively poor showing in many of the February traffic statements, made itself felt in this class of stocks being left pretty much alone.

Pool activities were reported in the equipment shares, in some of the motors and in a variety of specialties of the type of Mack Trucks, Associated Dry Goods, Owens Bottle, Reynolds Spring, Brown Shoe and Famous Players.

The street was pleased today with the prominence of U. S. Steel in the advance both Tuesday and today. Its leadership from a speculative standpoint was calculated to inspire greater confidence in the general market movement. Pools were reported active in Marland Oil and Phillips Petroleum. Among the equipments Baldwin Locomotive, Lima and Pullman were all conspicuous.

The Bond Market.

The more cheerful feeling apparent in stocks found no counterpart in today's bond market.

High-grade investment securities continued very heavy with, in some cases, new loans being recorded. U. S. Government bonds were an exception. Here there was a slight rally from yesterday's extreme weakness, but liquidation in first-grade corporation securities went on unabated and investors, seeing the trend, stood aside waiting better prices.

Second grade bonds moved irregularly.

In the foreign list about the only feature was an advance in Chinese 5s and a reaction in Czecho-Slovakia 8s.

UPWARD MOVEMENT TO PRICES ON THE CURB

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The vigorous upward movement on the Curb Exchange which got under way at the outset of business today resulted in sharp advances throughout the entire list. Reports that raising of the rediscount rate at this time is unlikely, added an incentive for outside participation and buying from this source was on a much larger scale.

Pools and professional operators bid up their specialties 2, 3 and 4 points with the largest advances in oil shares. Southern States led the independent group, getting up over three points on active trading.

Standard of Indiana, Kentucky, Prairie Pipe Line and Imperial Oil of Canada opened half a point higher and in most instances more than doubled these gains as the day went on.

Not only were the oils carried into new high ground but industrials under the lead of recent favorites were active at advancing prices. It took little effort in view of the comparatively small floating supply for those working for higher prices in Schulte Retail Stores to bid that stock up almost five points before selling was encountered.

"Getting Ahead" with Miller 7% Bonds

HOW to make investments count as a means of accumulating money is a problem which people everywhere, confronted with the increasing cost of living, are trying to solve. A good rate of interest is necessary if there is to be a surplus above necessary expenses, and at the same time the investor cannot afford to run the risk of loss.

Miller First Mortgage Bonds make thrift both possible and attractive. Many of these bonds are secured by income-earning structures in Southern cities, where the prevailing rate of interest is 7%, and these Southern bonds are protected by the same effective safeguards which surround our issues in the North and Middle West. If you are interested in the possibility of "getting ahead" financially through sound investing, mail the coupon today for our booklet, "Creating Good Investments," which will be sent without cost or obligation.

Grain futures were a shade easier on the Merchants' Exchange today after an early quiet market. Liverpool closed ⅛d to ½d higher.

September wheat closed higher and September corn unchanged, but the nearby deliveries of both grains were lower.

In the local cash grain market red winter wheat was unchanged to 1c lower. Demand was slow. Mills were light buyers. Hard wheat was steady to 1c higher. Cash corn was steady to 1c higher and slow sale. Cash oats were steady to ¼c higher. Demand was fair.

The early range of prices was not wide and the near deliveries of wheat sold under last night. Liverpool opened ⅝d to ⅝d higher and later came ⅝d to ½d up. September wheat sold higher. Corn was a little better early.

May wheat opened at $1.19¼. July wheat $1.13⅝. September wheat $1.12¼. May corn 76¼c, July corn 77¼c and September corn 77⅝c.

The three Northwestern markets combined today had 715 cars of wheat, compared with 397 a week ago and 925 last year, Minneapolis today receiving 241 cars, Duluth 56 and Winnipeg 418.

Local wheat receipts, which were 84,000 bushels, compared with 78,000 a week ago and 34,800 last year, included 49 cars local and 21 through. Corn receipts, which were 72,800 bushels, compared with 62,400 a week ago and 54,600 last year, included 27 cars local and 29 through. Oats receipts, which were 80,000 bushels, compared with 106,000 a week ago and 64,000 last year, included 30 cars local and 10 through. Hay receipts were 251 tons local and 132 through.

Primary receipts of wheat were heavier than a week ago and heavier than a year ago, being 719,000 bushels. Corn receipts were lighter than a week ago and lighter than a year ago, being 619,000 bushels. Oats receipts were lighter than a week ago and heavier than a year ago, being 693,000 bushels.

TRADE IN WHEAT IS QUIET ON THE CHICAGO BOARD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, March 28.—The wheat market was quiet and price changes today were of little consequence. The bulls were a little disappointed over the failure of yesterday's bulge to bring in outside trade, and after a little bulge this morning they were disposed to go out of their wheat. There was commission house buying on the dips, but about midday the heavy tone in corn encouraged some local pressure which caused the low point of the session to be made. Milling demand for wheat was quiet. Seaboard reported that the Greek order for 1,300,000 bu of wheat was expected to be filled this afternoon. There was no indication of much export business having been put through today. Winnipeg advised that a movement is on foot to have the Dominion Government fix a minimum price on wheat, based on the actual cost of production. Sales of 50,000 bu for contract wheat were made to go to store.

Local cash sales were 40,000 bushels wheat, 18,000 bushels corn, 53,000 bushels oats and 1,500,000 bushels barley.

Wheat closed ⅝c lower to ⅛c higher.

There was good buying of May at $1.19 throughout the late session.

Corn was higher early, but prices weakened in the later trading. There was support by the bull leaders, but it lacked "pep." Locals sold because of the easier tone in the cash market, the basis being ⅛c lower, in face of the light receipts. The shipping demand for corn was light, the East failing to follow the advance of yesterday. Export trade was slow. Foreign markets were lower.

Corn closed ⅛c to ⅝c lower.

Oats were steady early on local buying, but the market eased off later with corn. There were damage reports from the Southwest. Seeding of oats started in Central Illinois, despite the cold weather.

Oats closed ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher.

Provisions were lower. Big hog receipts caused local selling and there was hedging by smaller packers. Eastern interests bought on the dip.

STEADY UNDERTONE SHOWN BY COTTON AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 28.—There were further rallies in the cotton market during today's early trading. Liverpool made a relatively easy showing, but the weather map was unfavorable, while sentiment was favorably impressed by Washington advices, indicating that no immediate advance in rediscount rates was expected, and commission houses had a good many overnight buying orders. The opening was firm, at an advance of 15 to 32 points, in consequence with July selling up to 28.50c and October to 25.42c, or just about a cent above the low level reached on the break of Monday. The advance was checked by realizing at these prices and there was some scattered Southern selling, but the offerings were absorbed on reactions of 8 to 10 points, with the market showing a generally steady undertone.

The advance extended to 28.60c for July and 25.54c for October before the end of the first hour as a result of continued covering and reports that those who had sold out long cotton before the break were beginning to re-enter the market in the summer or early new crop deliveries. Trading became quiet at the advance, however, and later forenoon fluctuations were irregular, although the undertone was generally steady and prices at midday were 19 to 40 points net higher.

The market was unsettled early in the afternoon under renewed liquidation of old crop months with May easing off to 29.15c and July 29.33c or about 27 to 32 points from the high figures of the morning. New crop months were relatively steady on the unfavorable weather in the South and the general list ruled about one to 38 points net higher around 2 o'clock.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Cotton, spot, quiet; middling, 29.20c.

GRAYSON COUNTY, TEXAS, is located about 40 miles due north of Dallas—in the heart of the Famous Texas Black Belt, and also in the fertile valley of the Red River. U. S. Government statistics for 1920 rank Grayson County among the leading agricultural counties of the entire country, valuing her farm property alone at $64,617,801, and her crops at $17,948,715. Sherman, the County Seat, with a population (1920 census) of 15,031, and Denison, with a population of 17,065, are two of the most important commercial, industrial and educational centers in the county. Each is entered by five railroads, one interurban electric line, and several highways.

THESE BONDS ARE DIRECT OBLIGATIONS of the entire county, and are payable from direct ad valorem taxes irrevocably levied against all the taxable property therein. These bonds were issued for the purpose of funding, at a lower rate of interest, all the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the county.

From a letter of Mr. E. Paul duPont, President of DuPont Motors, Inc., we summarize in part as follows:

History and Management

DuPont Motors, Incorporated, was organized in June, 1919, by E. Paul duPont, who with other members of the duPont family, has paid in a total of $1,000,000 capital.

This is the first public offering of stock, and a majority of the authorized 250,000 shares of no par value is now held by the same interests.

THIS STOCK WAS SUBSCRIBED AND PAID FOR TO THE AMOUNT MENTIONED, IN CASH, AT A PRICE OF EIGHT DOLLARS ($8.00) PER SHARE.

The company's business consists of manufacturing high-grade, distinctive motor cars.

Among the directors of the company are Francis I. duPont and Ernest duPont, who are men of wide experience in business and engineering matters.

Plant Facilities

The plant facilities at Moore, Pennsylvania, are of the most permanent construction and are entirely adequate to take care of a production of 2,000 cars or more a year. In addition to this plant there is a larger plant in Wilmington, Del., at which the company will eventually concentrate all of its activities.

Product

The Model "A," a four-cylinder car of high quality and distinctive characteristics, has been manufactured for several years, distribution covering the following places:

New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Wilmington, Del.

New Model "C"

Model "A," has been modified to a six-cylinder car, retaining the desirable performance, appearance and construction generally of the first model, to which have been added certain refinements which the company's several years' experience has suggested, and which, together with the six-cylinder motor, makes the Model "C" a thoroughly up-to-date car and even better than the Model "A." As the general appearance is strikingly in line with beauty, distinctiveness and good taste, and the mechanical features and performance thoroughly tried and proven, there is no doubt that the new model will find a ready sale. Model "C" is now in limited production, which will be increased as rapidly as possible.

In the production and sale of the new model, the best engineering, production and sales organization will be assured.

Purpose of Financing

The proceeds from the sale of this issue of stock are to be used to produce and market the new Model "C" car and for other purposes.

Assets

The balance sheet prepared by Messrs. Harrington & Ryan, Accountants, of Wilmington, Del., shows the net worth of the company to be $1,801,359.01, after giving effect to this financing, equivalent to $8.00 per share on the outstanding stock, and the quick assets more than three and one-half times the current liabilities. The appraisal of plant and buildings has been furnished by the American Appraisal Company.

Earnings

The estimated net profit on the present productive capacity of the Moore plant is $500,000 per year, after depreciation, but before deduction of Federal taxes, equal to $2.20 per share on the outstanding stock. The plant facilities are amply able to take care of increased output.

All legal matters in connection with this issue are under the direction and subject to the approval of William S. Hilles, Esq., attorney at law, of Wilmington, Del., for the company; and of James R. Deering, Esq., of Deering & Deering, attorneys at law, of New York City, on our behalf.

GOOD RUN OF HOGS AND PRICES RANGE OFF

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., March 28.—Receipts today, estimated: Cattle and calves, 4000; hogs, 17,000; sheep, 800; horses and mules, 200.

CATTLE—A weak undertone characterized the market in many departments here today, with probably the greatest loss shown by bulls, values for these dropping 15c to 25c. Stockers and feeders, as a rule, did not share in the weakness. Veal calves ruled barely steady with Tuesday's dull close, or $2.50 lower than the close last week. Receipts of cattle and calves were moderate for the day, with quality an average.

Quotations: Beef steers, bulk, $7.25 to $8.75; butcher yearlings, bulk, $6.50 to $8.60; butcher cows, bulk, $5 to $6.25; cutter cows, bulk, $3.50 to $4.50; canner cows, bulk, $2.75 to $3.25; beef and bologna bulls, bulk, $4.75 to $5.25; stocker and feeder steers, bulk, $6 to $7.50.

SHEEP—The market opened steady with yesterday, with a supply of 800 sheep and lambs estimated for the trade today. Wool lambs sold up to $14.75, some 73-lb. averages going to the city butchers at the price. There were also some native fed wool lambs that sold at $14@14.25. Clipped lambs brought from $9.50 to $11.75. A load of heavy clipped lambs averaging 102 lbs. brought $9.50, while some local fed clipped stuff sold up to $11.75. Sheep showed no material change, with choice handweight ewes at $7 to $8. Clipped wethers up to $7.75 and wool wethers up to $9.50. Choppers and bucks from $4 to $6, and canners largely from $2 to $3.

HOGS—Another right good run of hogs was noted at the principal Western markets, and St. Louis had its share. Local estimate was for 17,000, including 2500 directs, offset by the carry-over in first and second hands. Quality was somewhat above the average, with an abundance of choice medium to heavy swine at the disposal of buyers. Lower reports from other markets made purchasers bearish and the market opened 5@10c lower than Tuesday's best time. City butchers and Eastern order buyers were the chief contenders at the opening, the big packers holding back. On the early rounds choice light butchers and desirable shipping hogs 160@210 pounds cleared largely at $8.35@8.45. Medium and heavy hogs were slower sale and on the strong finished kinds, 300 pounds and up, buyers were shy bidding. By the middle of the forenoon it was largely a 10@20c lower market, as contrasted with Tuesday's high point, medium hogs selling around $8.20@8.25. Pig market again irregular and demand spotted. On the stronger weight pigs lucky sales were close to steady, but general pig trade was unevenly lower, and on the light kinds only it was difficult to obtain bids. Light pigs moved at $5.50@6.25, medium $6.50@7, good weight $7@8.

Rough packer sows opened 5@10c lower, with sales around $7.25@7.35. Market slowed down considerably after the opening. Stags sold in a range of $5.50@6.25.

HORSES AND MULES—Many characterized the horse market here during the first half of the week as the best of the year. A comparatively light offering of approximately 500 head on commission, coupled with a broad demand from the various interests, produced an active trade at slightly higher prices. Mules figured right at 1000 head in first hands and the market was about steady, with probably a weaker tendency on some of the smaller offerings.

Butter, Eggs, Poultry

St. Louis commission houses paid the following prices to farmers and country shippers for round lots of the various articles (small orders are usually quoted higher):

EGGS—Fresh country candled, 22½c; cases returned, 1c less.

ITCHY PIMPLES DISFIGURED FACE

Large, Red and Festered. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble began with pimples on my face. I picked them and they scattered worse than ever. The pimples were large, red and festered, and itched. I was always scratching them and they left red blotches all over my face which was very much disfigured.

"The trouble lasted about three years. I tried several remedies but none of them had any effect. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Dorothy Stratton, 400 Stansifer Ave., Jeffersonville, Ind.

Use Cuticura for all toilet purposes.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

R. W. G.—Write to the actor in person for the poem you refer to.

F. O. R.—Extensive and useful reading would be the best method of self-education.

TOM.—Most all the parts of the automobiles are patented, so no doubt the brace in the picture submitted is patented. You can obtain information regarding patent rights, however, by writing the Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

MUTT.—To blanch almonds: Cover the almonds with boiling water and let stand two minutes; drain, put into cold water, and rub off the skins. Acidulated water is water to which vinegar or lemon juice is added. One tablespoon of the acid is allowed to one quart of water.

LIBERTY BONDS.—The Post-Dispatch publishes records of sales of Liberty Bonds daily in all editions, following the close of the New York Stock Exchange. Watch the City and Final editions, market page, under the section marked "New York Bonds."

KILOWATT.—The Mississippi River Power Co. has an estimated investment of $25,607,358 and according to their last report show earnings of 8.14 per cent on their investment. They are charging 1¼c per kilowatt hour for power. The St. Louis householders pay for electric light according to consumption. The scale per kilowatt hour ranges from 8c to 8c, the maximum being 8c per kilowatt hour.

C. G.—The following is a formula for removing varnish and paint: Dissolve 20 parts of caustic soda (98 per cent) in 100 parts of water, mix the solution with 20 parts of mineral oil, and stir in a kettle provided with a mechanical stirrer, until the emulsion is complete. Now add, with stirring, 20 parts of sawdust and pass the whole through a paint mill to obtain a uniform intermixture. Apply the paste moist.

TANGERINE.—We cannot say how successful the cornmeal process will be for the wool sweater, but to use it, simply cover the sweater with cornmeal which has been slightly salted, scrub with this as you would use suds, rubbing between your hands, and hardest upon soiled spots. Cover it up in clean meal and leave it there for two days, throwing a cloth over the tub or vessel to keep out dust. Shake them and brush with a perfectly clean whiskbroom or brush.

M. L. R.—The city of St. Louis is not in any county, but is a separate municipality. The separation of St. Louis from St. Louis County in 1876 followed a four-years' fight against a political ring which from the number of its members, came to be known as the "Sweet Sixteen." The Taxpayers' League conducted the campaign which led to the separation. The Scheme of Separation which was adopted along with the City Charter in 1876, was in 39 sections and established the independence of St. Louis in the election of sheriff, coroner and other officers formerly elected by the city and county jointly; independence in assessment and collection of taxes, in its police affairs, subject to State laws; independence in its courts and schools. The city and county were never a unit for census purposes, and would not be so now if the separation had never occurred. However, annexation of the county territory would be more easily effected now if the city and county were not entirely separated.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

E. P. A.—It is unlawful for you to kill the neighbor's chickens even though they trespass on your property.

GEORGE H.—You can sue your former partner for the money he agreed to pay you. Consult a lawyer.

R. J. C.—Write to your Senator or Congressman regarding the obtaining of your pension as a Spanish-American War veteran.

ANXIOUS.—There is no law against doing the kind of work you referred to, but an electrician's license may be necessary. Inquire of the License Collector at the city hall.

M. G. R.—Send the parties written notice at the address which they gave you that, unless they call for the articles which they left with you, at once, you will dispose of them. Then you will be perfectly safe in disposing of them if they do not call.

THANK YOU.—You should not pay unless the notes are returned to you, or unless he will furnish you with a bond protecting you in case they are later presented by an innocent purchaser for value. Otherwise the notes might be negotiated and you might have to pay them twice.

J. S.—You pay income tax for the entire year as a single man, for the reason that your status for income tax purposes is determined Dec. 31, 1922. You can get a Federal income tax return at the Custom House, Ninth and Olive streets (second floor) and a State return at the Assessor's office at the city hall.

PATRON OF 30 YEARS.—If your husband left his property to you by a will, and mentioned his daughter in the will, then she has no claim against the flat. But if this is not the case she is entitled to one-half of everything her father left, including the equity in the home which was created by your husband's rent payments.

EASY MONEY.—1. The Probate Court records probably would show how the money was spent. If they do not, "A" can demand that "B" show him an account of all the expenditures. 2. "A" can sue for the appointment of a receiver if the corporation in which he has his money is being mismanaged. Consult a lawyer regarding this. 3. Inquire of the United States Veterans' Bureau, 6801 Delmar.

WORRIED.—You can have the matter of correcting your name on the records so as to obtain your bonus straightened out by writing to the Adjutant-General of the Army, Washington, D. C., and stating all the facts, and asking him to correct your name on the records and to show your correct name on your discharge. If you have any trouble, write to your Senator or Congressman and ask him to help you.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

INQUIRER.—Repeat your question, enclosing stamped addressed envelope for reply.

A. J. T.—No one could give an intelligent opinion without an examination of this case. Consult a physician.

H. S.—You do not say whether you refer to a child or an adult. Repeat your question and give more detailed information.

RALPH.—The defect can be corrected by operation. The operation is not serious. It is not essential unless it creates some trouble needing correction.

DAILY READER.—We believe the spots will disappear in time. The following may be applied: Hydrarg. ammoniat 1 dram, bismuth subnitrat 1 dram, ungt. aq. rosae 1 ounce, apply at night.

K. S. D.—It is not likely that the present eruption is caused from the old trouble, but it is best a physician see it. You do not go into much detail in explaining your past treatment, but we are in doubt if you continued it long enough.

A SUBSCRIBER.—The cause of your trouble we would be unable to judge without an examination. We suggest correcting any deviation from health and taking a teaspoonful of aletris compound every four hours. If this fails to correct the trouble, hypodermic of corpus lutea may be of help.

A. G. H.—The nose can be corrected by the injection of paraffine to fill out the space above the hump. Some of the so-called beauty doctors perform this work cleverly. There is some danger of infection if strict asepsis is not observed. 2. Now, would be a good time to have the baby vaccinated. 3. Keep the hair clipped very close and continue the vaseline treatment. Frequent clipping will stimulate the growth.

STARS IN THREE CLASSES IN THE DOG SHOW.

(1) Bill Sykes, imported Old English sheep dog, winner of many blues in England, Canada and the United States, and classed as one of the best dogs in the show. (2) The smallest—Yankee Kitty, a Yorkshire terrier just brought over by J. P. Martin. She has been getting fat in this climate, and now weighs almost 2¼ pounds. (3) Pomeranians, chock full of curiosity, stare back at those who came to stare at them.

THE GIRL IN THE CORNER APARTMENT

By MAY CHRISTIE

Copyright, 1922, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

LXVIII.—ANOTHER CONQUEST.

THE CHARACTERS.

CYNTHIA BRANT, country girl, living in a New York apartment she has inherited from an old lady she once befriended.

RUBY ALLISON, her gay and frivolous friend.

ALEC KERR, Ruby's fiance.

QUENTIN GRAY, an artist friend of Ruby's.

AUNT ELLEN, who keeps house for Cynthia.

MURRAY STEWART, for whom Cynthia is working as a stenographer.

VIOLET JERROLD, friend of Murray's.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

CYNTHIA enjoyed every moment of the journey. The shifting scenery, meals in the dining car, and the night in a roomy lower berth were all diverting.

"Nobody would imagine," said Mrs. Wakeland after lunch, looking at her companion's bright eyes and fresh color, "that you had been dancing all night, my dear."

They reached Chicago at last and took a taxi to their destination.

They entered the hotel, and were taken by elevator to their suite—two rooms and a sitting room, with a white-tiled bathroom in between.

A letter and two telegrams awaited Mrs. Wakeland there.

She read them, looked relieved, and asked the waiter to send up tea.

"Or, no! It might be more amusing for you to go downstairs, dear?" She smiled at Cynthia. "You'd like to see the 'monde qui s' amuse,' wouldn't you? Anyway, I would." She canceled her order, washed her face and hands to remove the grime of the journey, slipped into a dark frock of rich material, adjusted her hat, and was ready.

"Will—will I do?" faltered Cynthia rather humbly, and casting anxious glances at her simple coat and skirt of navy blue.

"Of course you will. My dear, you're quite suitably dressed for tea. Even if you weren't, you're still a young girl—and everybody loves youth. It's we older folks who have to rely on clothes so much."

Strains of a band met them as they walked down the shallow, thickly carpeted stairs.

An afternoon tea dance was going on in the hotel. Dainty little tables, covered by a white lace cloth and with a vase of pink or yellow tulips in the center, were set round the edge of a polished floor, where—at the moment—a pair of exhibition dancers were performing, to the interest of the audience.

The headwaiter piloted Mrs. Wakeland and her young friend to a coign of vantage, and—whenever the music ceased—she was greeted by various people that she knew, for Chicago was a favorable haunt of hers, and she was liked and popular.

Several invitations for that evening she refused.

"Miss Brant and I are going to dine with my business adviser, dear old Mr. Davigny. Business and pleasure combined, you know." She smiled her thanks. "No, I don't suppose we shall go to a theater. It will be bed at 10 o'clock, if I have my way!"

"Oh, come! That's too absurd in this town," remonstrated a good-looking young man who had been watching Cynthia with a respectfully admiring gaze. "My mother has taken an apartment here, and she'll be furious if she knows I've run into you like this today and haven't dragged you home."

He had a soft, fascinating drawl and sleepy black eyes, and a tall, lithe figure that suggested prowess in the gymnasium or on the tennis court.

Mrs. Wakeland introduced him.

"This is Mr. Rex Coverdale, from Virginia," she said. "His cotton and tobacco fields have brought him so much money that he likes to have an apartment in a very big city and spend right and left. Isn't that so, Rex?" She smiled up at him, for indeed there was something irresistible about this sleepy Southerner with the soft drawling voice. "You can't deny you're a fashionable bachelor and a trifler"——

"Heaven forbid! You malign me!" He had bowed to Cynthia, and then drawn up his gilt-legged chair to their small table to pursue the conversation further. "My mother will be so disappointed, really. Do say you will both come round to dine tonight. My car is at the door."

"It's quite impossible," said Mrs. Wakeland. "I have this business appointment with Mr. Davigny and I cannot break it, not for all the fascinating young men from the South!"

"Davigny, did you say? A three-cornered party? But that will surely be dull for Miss Brent!" He raised his eyebrows pleadingly. "I know Davigny. I'll just telephone him and say I'm coming, too."

When the young man had gone to the telephone, Mrs. Wakeland smiled at Cynthia's slightly flushed young face.

"You've made another conquest, dearie. Rex Coverdale's a charming fellow, but so rich that he's been spoiled—feted everywhere, in fact. It's a great compliment that he wants to be your escort. Violet Jerrold met him last winter, and went crazy over him. For a while I thought they would make a match of it, but something happened, and he sheered off rather suddenly. I wonder"——

Margaret Wakeland sat up suddenly.

"I wonder what Murray Stewart's doing this evening," she replied, irrelevantly.

Tomorrow—A Beauty Treatment.

WORDS of WISE MEN

Hope is the yeast in the bread of life.

Persons of a forgiving temper seldom have much to be forgiven.

Every great man has enemies of whom he is proud.

Acquire not only learning, but the habit of learning.

He who hastens too much often remains behind.

To keep on trying is the foundation of virtue.

To be proud of learning is the greatest ignorance.

Do not despise commonplaces; most of them are true.

A wise man will make more opportunities than he finds.

Heat not a furnace for your foe so hot that it may singe yourself.

Don't bluff unless you've something to bluff with—then you needn't.

There is nothing so difficult that it may not be won by industry.

The world does not require so much to be informed as to be reminded.

He who buys what he can't want, may long want what he can't buy.

Learn what people glory in, and you may learn much of both the theory and practice of their morals.

The man who is really indispensable is not the one who is inflated with his own importance, but the one who aims to get his task rightly done so that there can be neither fault nor cause for fault.

As daylight can be seen through very small holes, so little things illustrate a person's character. Indeed, character consists in little acts, well and honorably performed—daily life is the quarry from which we build it up, and rough-hew the habits which form character.

How to Cure a Wife's Jealousy

There Are Two Methods. One Is to Administer a Jolt by Admitting That She's Right. The Other Is to Obviously Make Love to Her.

By Winifred Harper Cooley

"A JEALOUS wife is worse than a thorn in the flesh; she is an abomination in the sight of the Lord. I'd rather have the flu, or live in a nest of rattlesnakes!" exclaimed Casey.

"Poor thing; I suppose no husbands give us any CAUSE for jealousy?" queried his spouse sarcastically.

"Those that have cause never know it!" stoutly maintained her lord. "What I mean is the woman who watches suspiciously every move her man makes. She sets traps for him, and lets her imagination loose like a bloodhound. Her mind is so diseased or depraved that she cannot conceive of his talking innocently to an old friend he meets accidentally on the street. She acts as an entire detective agency in herself, and neglects her work, planning schemes to expose and overthrow him."

"Oh, jealous wives can be cured," remarked Sidney Johnson, tranquilly.

"It can't be done! Nothing short of a charge of TNT would move them. I strongly advocate ground glass in their coffee," countered his brother.

"Nevertheless, it has been done—effectively," argued the other. "There are just two methods, safe, harmless and pleasant—as the patent medicine advertisements say. They are diametrically opposed to each other, and you choose whichever fits in best with your temperament. Of course, I do not insist on either one, and I have not copyrighted them. But I do guarantee both, or your money refunded. You see before you a placid and healthy and happy man—as happy as any man can be, who is married! Well, I once was a victim of a jealous spouse, and believe me, every day, in every way, life got hotter and hotter for me! I excused and explained, cajoled and stormed, all to no avail. One would have thought me a motion picture hero with a lurid past, or an Adonic that poses for the physical culture advertisements. It ought to have been flattering, but it was just plain hades. Rationality had no appeal. I could not conjure up a union of sensible, trusting, mutually sympathetic married folks.

"You cannot imagine how self-conscious one becomes who is perpetually watched and suspected! He has to watch his step every minute.

"Oddly enough, a chum of mine was having the same experience. We used to compare notes, and bemoan our fate, and wonder if there were any nice, normal wives existent who took life calmly and assumed that a man was true.

"Finally, after having pondered long, each of us men deduced a theory, and tried it, and it worked. As I said, the systems were diametrically opposed and seemed to be based on contrary feminine psychology, but the test of the pudding is in the eating, and as both of these succeeded, I'm not prejudiced, but leave it to you to take your choice. I will not even tell you which one I used, for that is betraying matrimonial secrets.

"One way to cure jealousy is to give a wife an awful jolt. Don't humor her any more by explaining and excusing and beseeching her to believe in your fidelity. Just say, as she pauses for breath in one of her tantrums, 'Yes, you are right! I have been untrue to you! For years I was a model husband and you rewarded me by scenes and suspicion and expostulations. You suspected the finest, purest women we knew and heaped insults upon them. I gave up lifelong friends and dared not speak courteously to a woman. Your mind was evil and you besmirched everybody. I stood for this until—but no matter; dates are of no consequence. I decided not to cajole you any longer. There are other women in the world. I assure you!

"'There are sweet and thoughtful and pure-minded and unselfish girls, who demand nothing and give all—girls who have faith and trust a man. I have found one—or more—of these and I am going to live my own life.

"'I am through with you! You may divorce me, or not, just as you choose. There is no longer anything more for me to fear, or explain. Of course, I DID love you once, and if we could have lived in mutual trust, this never would have happened. Even now—— but no; it is too late!'

"Of course, the wife raved and had hysterics, but the man was cool and calm. Soon she began to hint at repentance and reformation and to try all the wiles of feminine charm to get him back until at last he reluctantly allowed himself to be won. But never again did she dare risk losing him!"

The auditors were enthralled and argued the possibilities of the plan.

"The other extreme may appeal more to your male chivalry," continued the successful husband. "It is merely to make love to a woman! Some wives are jealous, not through conceit, but the lack of it! They believe their charms are waning and age is making inroads. They fear youth and fresh faces.

"The ordinary preoccupation of American business men causes them to seem indifferent, and so in this case the husband decided on a second wooing campaign. Gradually he started bringing gifts and suggesting dinners and theaters and flattering her and loving her till the icy doubts disappeared and she was so radiant that she forgot she had sustained any."

* * * * * *

"Those two husbands ought to have a Carnegie medal, if you ask me!" remarked the only woman present.

MEAT ROLLS

FOR the filling you need one cup of chopped meat, one-fourth cup of bread crumbs, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, stock to moisten, and sage and parsley to flavor.

The pastry requires one cup of flour, one-eighth teaspoon of salt, five tablespoons of fat, one-fourth cup of water, one-half teaspoon baking powder. Roll very thin, after mixing, put on floured board and cut in strips. Roll the meat and wrap each roll with the pastry. Bake in a hot oven until well browned. Serve with tomato sauce. This is a good way to use leftover meat.

Baked Bean Salad

1 tablespoon chopped cucumber pickle.
1 teaspoon minced onion.
1 chopped pimento.
1 cup chopped celery.
Mayonnaise to moisten.

Drain beans in a colander and mix carefully with all the other ingredients. Serve on lettuce and garnish with pieces of pickle, celery tops and pimento.

BEEFSTEAK PASTRY

HAVE two pounds of round steak ground, then make a crust the same as for pie, only do not roll quite as thin as for a pie. Pile your ground meat on one side of your crust, to which add sufficient salt, pepper and bits of butter to season. Then turn the other side of your crust over, the side where the meat has been piled, and pinch edges of crust together as for a turnover. Bake slowly until well done so the meat will be thoroughly cooked. The meat gravy and butter cook into the crust, making it delicious. Slice cold for the lunch box or hot as you would meat loaf at the table.

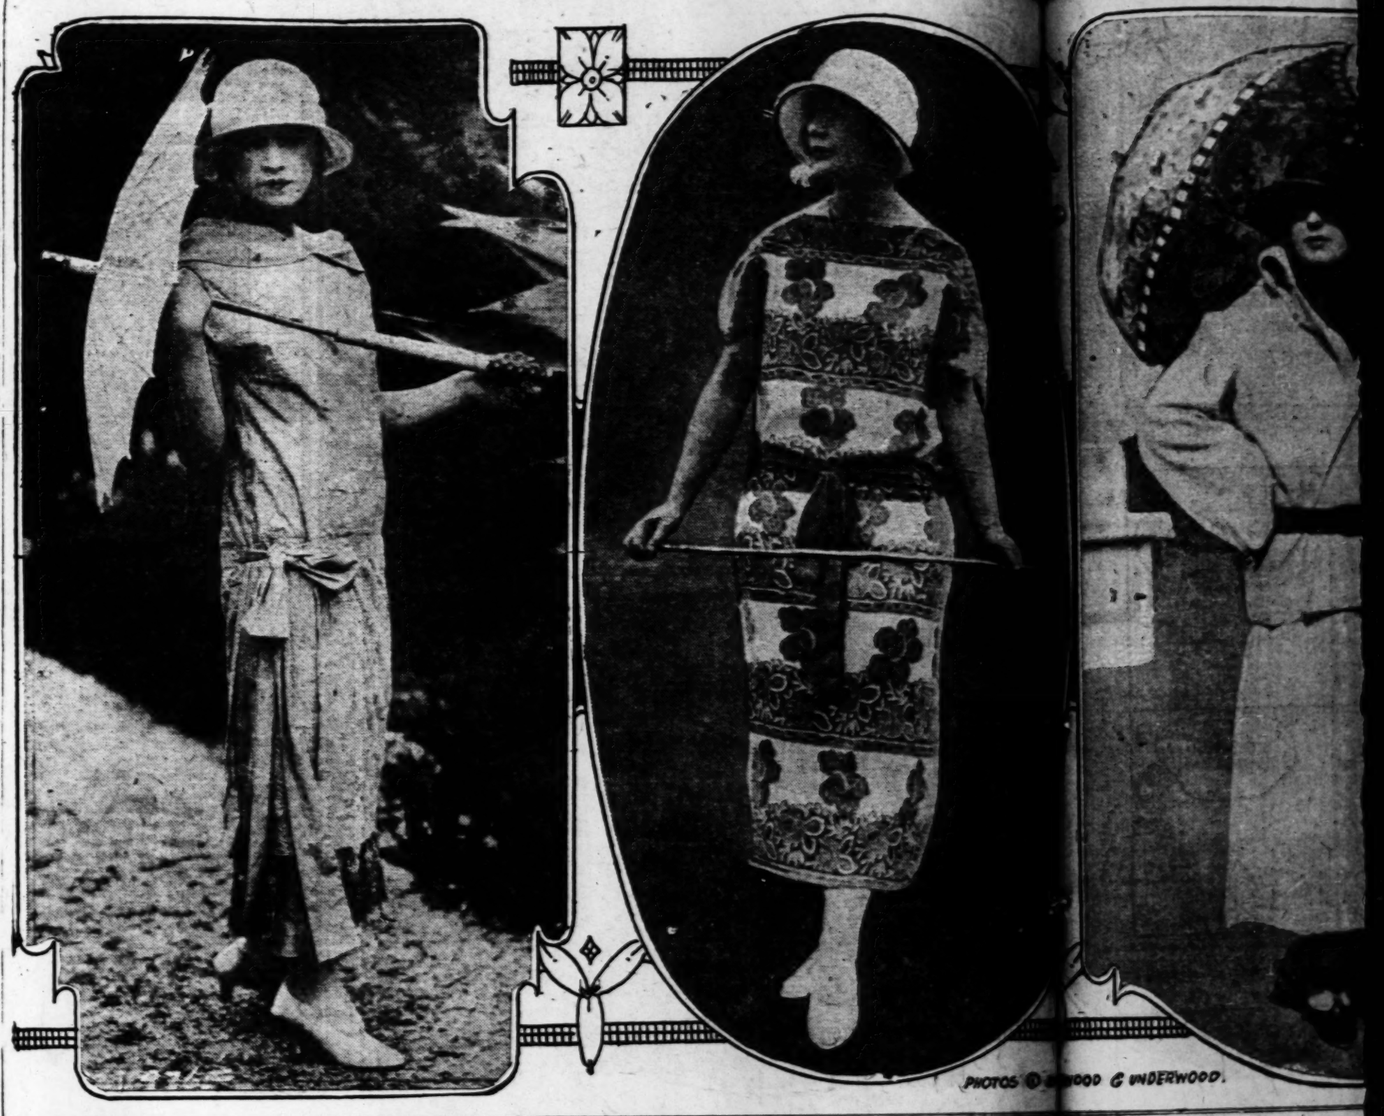

POTATO SCONES

ONE and one-half cups of mashed potatoes, 2 cups flour, a little salt, 2 tablespoons of melted butter, 2 teaspoons of baking powder and 1 cup of milk. Put melted butter into mashed potatoes, then add milk and lastly baking powder in flour. Mix into stiff dough, roll out and cut biscuit ½ inch thick. Bake in quick oven 20 minutes.

FASHION NEWS NOTES

NEW YORK—Bacchante is with us again in one of the spring evening gowns. It is of tango satin, draped in Grecian folds. From the left side of the waist, falling to the tip of the toes, is a thick garland of grapes and leaves in shades of purple.

PARIS—"Myrtle" is a new shade of green seen today. It is especially effective in the combinations of felt and straw which characterized some of the wide spring hats.

NEW YORK—The Tutankhamen headdress may be worn today either as a hat or as an evening addition to the coiffure. It consists of a coronet made up of ribbon or chiffon and jewels. Two long scarfs hang over the ears to the waist, and enormous ear rings are attached to the head band.

PARIS—Three bracelets on the right wrist are affected by chic women nowadays. The bracelets are usually of jade, onyx, crystal or [illegible] rather than of gold or silver. [illegible] must be of different colors.

How Jumper the Hare Escaped

By Thornton W. Burgess

Who sure of nothing is, is wise;
'Tis easier to lose the prize.

—Reddy Fox.

REDDY FOX grinned as he started after Jumper the Hare. Many times during the winter Reddy Fox had hunted Jumper, but then it was difficult to keep his eyes on Jumper, for Jumper was so exactly like his white surroundings that it was an easy matter for him to disappear. Now, however, his white coat against the brown leaves that covered the ground could be seen a long distance. And no matter how he might twist and turn and dodge he couldn't get out of sight.

It was going to be a case of which could hold out the longest. At least that is the way Reddy thought of it, and Reddy was quite sure that he could keep running longer than Jumper could. "If I don't give him a chance to rest," thought Reddy, "I'll tire him out. I can run farther than he can."

So Reddy didn't run his fastest. He didn't intend to tire himself out. He ran just fast enough to keep Jumper frightened. Jumper dodged around trees, ran this way and that way as is his way. But Reddy never once lost sight of him, thanks to that white coat. Jumper began to grow tired. He would run as fast as he could so as to gain a little, then sit down to rest a minute. Reddy soon discovered this, and always ran a little faster the moment Jumper sat down.

So Jumper grew more and more tired, and more and more worried. So far as he could see Reddy Fox didn't seem to be tired at all. Jumper tried to think of some way to fool Reddy, but he was too tired and too frightened to think. "I've got to do something pretty quick. I can't keep running much longer. I'm getting all out of breath, and my legs ache. Oh, dear, what shall I do?"

It was just then that Jumper came in sight of Farmer Brown's little sugar house. The door was standing open. Farmer Brown's Boy was at work inside, though Jumper didn't know this. Perhaps it wouldn't have made any difference if he had known. Anyway, no sooner did Jumper see that open door than he headed straight for it.

Reddy Fox saw that sugar house,

If ever there was a surprised boy it was Farmer Brown's Boy as Jumper the Hare suddenly appeared.

and he saw Jumper heading for that open door. Then Reddy began to run his fastest. My, how he did run! He meant to catch Jumper before he could reach that open door. Jumper, looking back over his shoulder, saw that Reddy was gaining on him. Fear gave him new strength. Straight for that open door he bounded. Reddy was only a few feet behind him when Jumper bounded inside.

If ever there was a surprised boy it was Farmer Brown's Boy as Jumper the Hare suddenly appeared and crouched down in the furthest corner. He guessed right away that Jumper must have had a terrible fright and must have been chased by someone. He sprang to the door and looked out. He was just in time to see crafty Reddy Fox disappear around the corner of the house. Farmer Brown's Boy yelled just by way of letting Reddy Fox know that he had been seen. Then he closed the door and turned to look on his unexpected visitor.

Curls, Love and Divorce

By WINIFRED BLACK

WHEN she was married she wore her hair in curls—nice fluffy ones, all over her head—and she wore pretty little dresses with a swing to them, and all her hats were fetching and saucy.

She's been married for two years now, and her fetching hats are all put away in boxes in the darkest closet in the house, and her smart little frocks are put away, too, and she doesn't wear silk stockings and pretty slippers any more. She wears low-heeled, high-topped shoes—all this she could stand, she says—but what she cannot endure is the hair.

All her pretty curls have gone—slick, slimpsy and plain is her hair—all the curl carefully brushed out, and the hair tucked over her ears like grandma's hair in the picture taken just before the Battle of Gettysburg.

To be sure, grandma's picture was found in grandpa's breast pocket when they picked him up on the battle field, smiling and cold in death.

Grandpa—how strange it seems to think that he was only 23 when he smiled—and died! He seemed to be fond of grandma, even if she did wear her hair parted in the middle and tucked behind her ears—but things were different in those days, says the wife who is suing for divorce.

"When It Comes to Curls."

"My husband is so mean I hate to think of him," declared this particular wife when she went on the stand in this particular case. "He won't take me anywhere with him, and he won't let me go anywhere without him, and he makes me comb my hair this way, just so I'll look like an old woman, and nobody will think I'm pretty, and I'm not going to comb the curls out of my hair for anybody any more.

"I'll wear his old mud-colored dresses, and plain old hats—he picks them out himself—but when it comes to my curls it's either I keep 'em and wear 'em the way I want 'em, or I get a divorce, and that's flat!"

What did the Judge say to all this?

Being a judge of humor and a judge of common sense, and a judge of kindliness, the Judge told the young person that he had yet to see on the statute books of California, where the case was tried, any law setting forth the proper attitude as to the combing of hair.

"Desertion, cruelty, failure to provide, infidelity, imprisonment for crime, hopeless insanity—these are causes for divorce, according to our law," said the Judge. "There isn't a word about curls in the whole library of law."

And so the little wife went home and the husband went home with her—I wonder if she's wearing her hair curled today?

If she isn't, she won't be wearing it at all very long—not in that man's home, be sure of that.

A Feeling of Sympathy.

What a silly man to think he can keep a woman true to him by making her unattractive to other men.

And what a silly woman who allows matters to get to the point where she has to go into court to get her husband to consent to let her comb her hair as she wants to comb it.

And yet, there's a wee feeling of sympathy in your heart for her right now, isn't there?

What She Imagined —and What She Saw

"IS that floor linoleum?"

The question springs naturally to the lips of the woman who sees a floor of Armstrong's Jaspé Linoleum for the first time.

The woman who has never seen such a floor has formed a mental picture that is all wrong. She has imagined a linoleum floor with a pattern such as is used only in kitchens, and instead she sees a beautiful, rippling, two-tone Jaspé in a soft, delicate color that blends perfectly with the room's decoration.

She had imagined rows of tacks running along unsightly seams, and she sees a smooth, unbroken surface extending to and under the molding on the wall boards.

Look for the CIRCLE "A" trademark on the burlap back

Her imagination had conceived a bare expanse of floor and she sees rugs placed as on any wood floor. She sees the soft, mellow glow that comes from a waxed finish, a smooth, nonslippery surface that is obviously easy to clean. She treads on a floor silent, warm, resilient.

You get a sensation of beauty

When you first see a well-planned living-room with a properly laid floor of Armstrong's Linoleum in a modern design, your first impression is one of pleased surprise, with perhaps an idea that such a floor is rather costly.

That is an error. Linoleum is not unduly expensive, and the cost of keeping it in good condition is trifling. Your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant can give you estimates of the cost of Armstrong's Linoleum laid in your home.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum, and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old," containing a score of colorplates of distinctive designs that you can see at good stores: Jaspés, carpet inlaids, tile inlaids, and printed patterns, linoleum rugs, printed and inlaid; also, information on laying linoleum and how to care for your linoleum floors.

The Man on the Sandbox

THE DOG SHOW.

THOUGH dogs delight to bark and bite
And worry cats and tree 'em,
They like to show themselves at night
Down at the Coliseum.

There may be seen the greyhound lean,
The Airedale, spick and span;
The Pekinese devoid of fleas
And eke the black and tan.

In grandeur sits the pesky Spitz,
A species of the Pom;
And we may view the bloodhound, too,
That chased poor Uncle Tom.

There may be found the Russian hound,
And queerly barbered poodle;
Upon the bench he barks in French
And hopes to cop the boodle.

SPACE CURTAILED.

We'd have entered our dachshund Henry Longfellow if there had been a bench long enough to accommodate him.

There ought to be a class for hot dogs. They would be all the mustard.

WHY NOT?

In a jazz orchestra everything depends upon the cow bell. Why not introduce the cow herself and let her chime in with her horns?

Judging by the gymnastics of the performers, we take it that a jazz orchestra should be seen and not heard.

It was the jazz orchestra that made the snare drum famous. Can you beat it?

Before the introduction of jazz the saxophone was just an obscure unit in the band. Now the fiddle is proud to scrape an acquaintance.

What would the Six Brown Brothers be without the saxophone? Just six Brown brothers and nothing more.

MY FAVORITE STORIES
By IRVIN S. COBB.

SPOKEN FROM THE HEART OUT.

PROBABLY most of the readers of this department are familiar with the story of the negro who worked as an extra at one of the Hollywood studios and who, in the filming of a scene purporting to show an African jungle, was called upon to enter a camouflaged cage containing a performing lion. The prospect did not appeal to the candidate. He demurred at it.

"What's the matter with you?" said the assistant director. "That lion's not going to hurt you. That lion was brought up on milk."

"So wuz I bring up on milk," said the unhappy darky, "but I eats meat once in a while now."

Of somewhat more recent vintage is a tale that I heard only the other day. The man who told it to me said it really happened.

At one of the big plants they were making a movie dealing with scriptural times. One scene showed the court of a savage potentate. For the role of the monarch a huge coal-black Afro-American was selected. He made his entrance scantily garbed in barbaric trappings. For added realism it was decreed that over his shoulders should be draped a live leopard. Just before the animal was brought out of her cage her trainer gave her a shot of morphine to keep her docile and quiet. She was a lady leopard.

A small negro, newly arrived in California from Texas, was detailed to accompany the giant on his triumphant entry and to fan him with a huge ostrich plume fan. The costume of this supernumerary consisted of a breechclout and an ankle bracelet. He took himself and his role very seriously, which, of course, was exactly what the director desired. In advance he was warned that no matter what happened he must continue to fan the savage King until ordered to leave off. A slip on his part might ruin the whole film.

Midway of the scene, the leopard suddenly woke up. Presumably the dope was dying out in the spotted beast. She emitted a snarl and began to wiggle off her perch upon the big black man's shoulders. With one hand he grabbed her by the neck and held the spitting, squealing creature at arm's length.

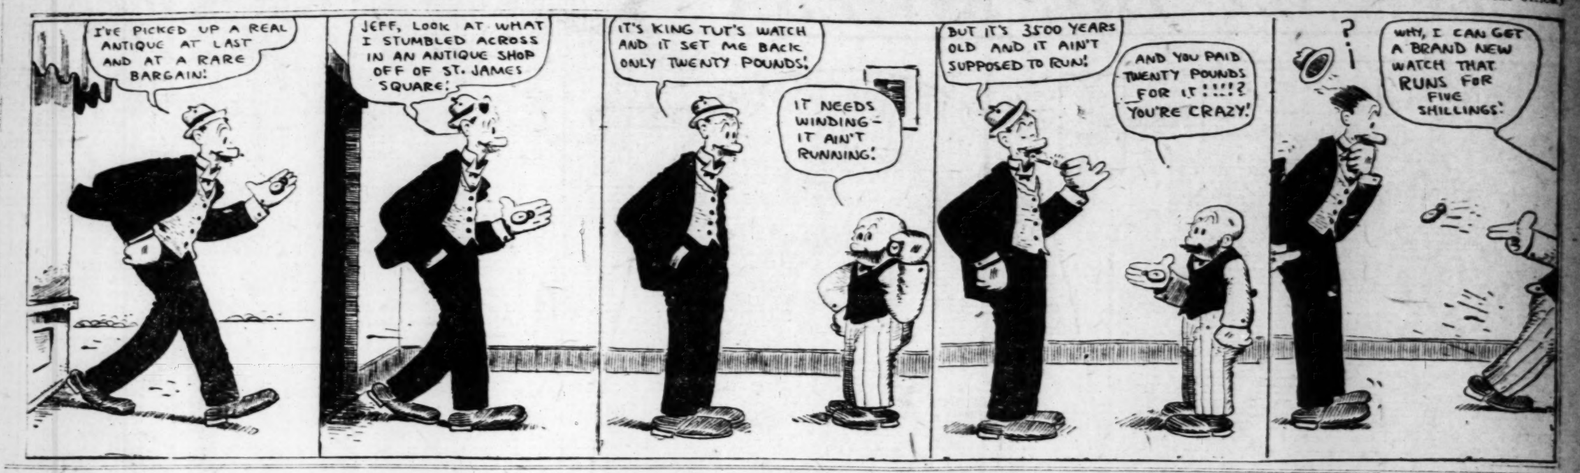

There was an instantaneous scatteration. The director, the camera men and the supporting members of the cast beat it for places of safety. Only the little darky held his ground. Mindful of his instructions, he continued the fanning operation; but the fan trembled and quivered in his grip, and his rolling eyes were focused on the struggling leopard, and out of the corner of his mouth, with all the fervor of which he was capable, he entreated the big negro over and over again in these words:

"Don't cast her aside! Tha's all I asts you—don't cast her aside!"

CITY DETECTIVE ADMITS PART IN ACCEPTING BRIBE FROM SALOON MAN

SAYS HE ACTED AS FRIEND OF KANNAPELL.

Asserts He Intended to Keep Money Few Days and Return It, Reporting It Was Refused but Everything Was All Right.

Why he accepted $270 from a saloon keeper following a raid of Federal prohibition enforcement agents Monday was related in a statement today to Chief of Detectives Hoagland by Detective Herbert F. Lampe, member of the gambling squad.

Lampe admits he is the city detective referred to in a statement yesterday to the Post-Dispatch by Max Kannapell, saloon keeper at 4702 Nebraska avenue, who asserts Lampe and three Federal prohibition enforcement agents demanded protection money of him.

Lampe is 24 years old; has been in the police department about 18 months, and lives at 4733A South Broadway, in the immediate neighborhood of Kannapell's saloon.

Charges of Saloon Keeper.

Kannapell has charged in a public statement that the prohibition enforcement agents simulated a raid of his place to coerce him into giving them money; that he notified George Bauswein, local chief of general prohibition enforcement agents, of the situation, and that Bauswein laid a trap for Lampe, in which it was also planned to catch the Federal agents.

Kannapell said further that Lampe assured him that, after payment of the money, he would not be molested in future and could sell what he liked without fear of interference from enforcement officials.

Chief Hoagland will take the whole matter before the Police Board for a hearing, and President Brockmann said a full investigation would be made. E. E. Hunt of Kansas City, divisional chief of general prohibition agents in Missouri, and Pierce Bolinger, field representative of State Prohibition Director Allen, are here and also promise a full investigation.

Graft Inquiry Under Way.

In the meantime, Bauswein and others are interviewing other saloon keepers to ascertain the extent of graft, if any, as related by Kannapell.

In his statement to Chief Hoagland, Detective Lampe said he went to Kannapell's place Monday afternoon to purchase a bottle of milk for his baby and saw Prohibition Enforcement Agents Gatter and Goehorn, who work under the direction of Gus O. Nations, making a raid under authority of a search warrant. He said they found some moonshine whisky in the place, but did not confiscate it when told by Bernard Kwiatkowski, a former prohibition enforcement agent, who happened in at that moment, that the warrant was not legal for the reason that it was issued for search of 4701 Nebraska avenue, which is not Kannapell's number.

During the progress of the raid, Detective Lampe said, Kannapell asked him to "fix it" with the agents, promising to give him $250 for the agents and $20 for himself. Lampe accepted this proposal, but with mental reservations, he explained, that he would later return the money to Kannapell to hold the latter's friendship. It was Lampe's idea that to refuse to try to help Kannapell would cost him the latter's friendship, but to take the money and later say that the agents refused it would at least convince Kannapell's that he, Lampe, had tried to help him.

Got Money at Bank.

The following day, Tuesday, Lampe went to Kannapell's place and from there he and the
